

Chinese enterprise to establish London HQ

Last updated Mon 16 Sep 2013

Chinese enterprise ABP has announced that the company will establish its global headquarters in London. The HQ will have the capacity to manage and operate more than £20 billion worth of projects and assets around the world.

The Mayor of London welcomed the move, which follows a £1bn deal between the developer and City Hall to transform east London's Royal Albert Dock site into the capital's next business district creating 20,000 new jobs for the area.
