The Fault Lines of Farm Policy Jonathan

Coppess, 2018-12-01 At the intersection of the growing national conversation about our food system and the long running debate about our government's role in society is the complex farm bill American farm policy built on a political coalition of related interests with competing and conflicting demands has proven incredibly resilient despite development and growth In The Fault Lines of Farm Policy Jonathan Coppess analyzes the legislative and political history of the farm bill including the evolution of congressional politics for farm policy Disputes among the South the Great Plains and the Midwest form the primordial fault line that has defined the debate throughout farm policy's history Because these regions formed the original farm coalition and have played the predominant roles throughout this study concentrates on the three major commodities produced in these regions cotton wheat and corn Coppess examines policy development by the political and congressional interests representing these commodities including basic drivers such as coalition building external and internal pressures on the coalition and its fault lines and the impact of commodity prices This exploration of the political fault lines provides perspectives for future policy discussions and more effective policy outcomes Child and Adolescent Therapy Jeremy P. Shapiro, Robert D. Friedberg, Karen K. Bardenstein, 2012-06-22 This comprehensive guide to child therapy provides a thorough introduction to the principles and practice of psychotherapy with children and adolescents It provides balanced coverage of child therapy theory research and practice Adopting an integrated approach the authors bring both the science of evidence based practice and the art of therapy into each chapter Health Counseling Richard Blonna, Daniel Watter, 2005 Health Wellness Understanding Unemployment Eithne Mclaughlin, 2013-03-07 This book argues that unemployment is symptomatic of an inherently inefficient labour market founded on structured inequalities of locality sex race and age It provides a multidisciplinary explanation of why unemployment has been a continuing crisis suitable for students in many disciplines The Founding of Institutional Economics Warren Samuels, 2002-01-08 Institutional economics has been a major part of economic thought for the whole of the twentieth century and today remains crucial to an understanding of the development of heterodox economics The two principal publications that founded the school were Veblen s The Theory of the Leisure Class and Commons s A Sociological View of Sovereignty both published in 1899 As a tribute to these two seminal works Warren Samuels has assembled an exceptionally prestigious international group of scholars to produce this landmark volume celebrating the centenary The chapters assess the work of Veblen and Commons and their influence on the school of institutional economics from a variety of theoretical perspectives The contributions on Veblen appraise his anthropological analysis of consumption habits of American households from sociological linguistic and feminist points of view Conversely the essays on Commons s work focus on the concepts of property power and the relationship between legality and economics Annual Report Under the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 United States. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, 1971 Varying Gravity Helge Kragh, 2016-02-05 The main focus of this book is on the interconnection of two unorthodox scientific ideas the varying gravity hypothesis and the expanding earth hypothesis As such it provides a fascinating insight into a nearly forgotten chapter in both the history of cosmology and the history of the earth sciences The hypothesis that the force of gravity decreases over cosmic time was first proposed by Paul Dirac in 1937 In this book the author examines in detail the historical development of Dirac s hypothesis and its consequences for the structure and history of the earth the most important of which was that the earth must have been smaller in the past Caraleigh Steven A. Hill, 2022-05-13 The Caraleigh neighborhood in south Raleigh was founded in 1892 with the opening of a cotton mill fertilizer plant and workers town The old textile complex with its immense brick structures continue to evoke a strong impression of a bygone period The old mill remains the community s focal point as of 2022 leading some to worry that Caraleigh s modernized structure may conceal dark secrets After the Civil War cotton mills were at the heart of the South s frenzied pursuit of economic and psychological regeneration between 1880 and 1915 As Raleigh s greatest textile venture Caraleigh itself was founded by a group of cotton investors The origins of Raleigh's north-south divide can be seen in the many economic, psychological, social, and political perils. While the Downtown South project promises a bright future for Raleigh in 2022, a close examination of the city's economic and social stratification in the past reveals the city's inequality, resulting in an affluent north Raleigh and a pauperized south Raleigh ghetto. This work illuminates previously unrecognized aspects of Raleigh's history, such as how an outskirts neighborhood shaped the city's development during the twentieth century. Comprehensive Handbook of Psychopathology Henry E. Adams, 2013-12-18

The major purpose of this handbook is to provide a comprehensive review of current clinical descriptions, research, and theories of psychopathology. Descriptive psychopathology is a field that is the foundation of clinical practice and research in clinical psychology, psychiatry, psychiatric social work, psychiatric nursing, and allied professions in mental health. Psychopathology is often perceived as a stepchild of the more glamorous areas of diagnosis or assessment and therapy or behavioral change. Nevertheless, it is doubtful that any meaningful advancements in these areas will occur until there is a thorough understanding of the behavioral disorders. The purpose of the present project was to devise a handbook that covered both general and specific topics in psychopathology and that would be useful to researchers, practitioners, and graduate or other advanced students in the mental health professions. In order to implement this plan, we selected very carefully colleagues whom we respect for their expertise in particular fields. These include both clinicians and researchers with outstanding national reputations, as well as more junior behavioral scientists and clinicians who, in our opinion, will achieve similar recognition in the future. The chapters in this book lead us to believe that we have chosen wisely. We would like to express our appreciation to these authors for their outstanding contributions and cooperation. Conceptual

Profiles Eduardo F. Mortimer, Charbel N. El-Hani, 2014-02-07 The language of science has many words and phrases whose meaning either changes in differing contexts or alters to reflect developments in a given discipline. This book presents the authors' theories on using conceptual profiles to make the teaching of context-dependent meanings more effective. Developed over two decades, their theory begins with a recognition of the coexistence in the students' discourse of those alternative meanings, even in the case of scientific concepts such as molecule, where the dissonance between the classical and modern views of the same phenomenon is an accepted norm. What began as an alternative model of conceptual change has evolved to incorporate a sociocultural approach by drawing on ideas such as situated cognition and Vygotsky's influential concept of culturally located learning. Also informed by pragmatist philosophy, the approach has grown into a well-rounded theory of teaching and learning scientific concepts. The authors have taken the opportunity in this book to develop their ideas further, anticipate and respond to criticisms, that of relativism, for example, and explain how their theory can be applied to analyze the teaching of core concepts in science, such as heat and temperature, life, and biological adaptation. They also report on the implementation of a research program that correlates the responsiveness of their methodology to all the main developments in the field of science education. This additional material will inform academic discussion, review, and further enhancement of their theory and research model Philosophy, Learning and the Mathematics Curriculum Xuehui Xie, Phil Francis Carspecken, 2019-02-18 Mathematics curriculums used in progressive classrooms of the United States and in classrooms of the People's Republic of China presuppose markedly different philosophies Xie and Carspecken reconstruct different assumptions operating implicitly within mathematics curriculums developed by the Ministry of Education in China and NCTM in the United States Each curriculum is constructed upon a deep structure holistically integrating presuppositions about the nature of the human self society learning processes language concepts human development freedom authority and the epistemology and ontology of mathematical knowledge Xie and Carspecken next present an extended discussion of the two main philosophical traditions informing these curriculums dialectical materialism in the case of the Chinese mathematics curriculum and Dewey's instrumental pragmatism in the case of NCTM Both philosophies were developed as movements out of Hegelian idealism while retaining the anti dualist and anti empiricist insights of Hegel's thought The history of dialectical materialism and Dewey's instrumentalism is carefully examined by the authors to identify both similarities and sharp differences in the resulting mature philosophies Drawing upon more recent philosophies of intersubjectivity Brandom Habermas and dialectical materialist psychologies Vygotsky Luria the authors conclude this book with arguments for overcoming the limitations of a purely instrumentalist framework and for expanding potentialities implicit within dialectical philosophies This book will be of value to a broad audience including mathematics educators philosophers curriculum theorists social theorists and those who work in comparative education and learning science
