Chao, 2025-10-16 This book examines how continental great powers have attempted to develop and wield strong navies since 1801 Continental Powers and Naval Development argues that a continental great power's ability to build and effectively use a strong navy is greatly affected by two factors a naval force design capable of executing national strategy strategy coherence and the deployment of that navy to places or for purposes that minimize the dominant naval power's threat perception threat diffusion Each factor is deceptively difficult for a continental great power to achieve but through an analysis of four historical case studies this book shows how both factors are vital not just for successful naval development but for keeping the peace among great powers Finally it highlights how states commonly thought of as unnatural naval powers can nonetheless achieve their political objectives at sea This book will be of much interest to students of naval history maritime strategy and International Relations Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists , 1986-01 Review of Current Military Literature ,1987 Authorizing Policy Thad E. Hall,2004 This book examines how short term authorizations create periods of policy stability when implementation can occur by allowing policies to be reconsidered only when an authorization expires This simple procedural mechanism allows Congress to state when certain aspects of a law such as authorizations of appropriations will expire By doing this Congress creates a schedule for when a given policy will be considered and systematically steers the management of public programs by changing the resources and tools available to policy implementers BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved
