Arms In The Eighties New Developments In The Global Arms Race:

Arms in the '80s John Turner, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 2020-11-19 In the 1980s the world spent an enormous amount on preparations for war Year by year more and more resources went into the military sector More and more complex weapon systems were devised At the time of all research scientists and engineers in the world more than one in four was working for the military Throughout the 40 years since the end of World War II the technological arms race continued Then began moving faster The United States lead the way followed by the Soviet Union Between them they possessed some 50 000 nuclear warheads more than enough to destroy the world They planned to increase the number to make the weapons more accurate and to base them on new weapon platforms closer to the borders of the other side Some people preferred not to think about these things Many however were becoming increasingly concerned wondering about the future for themselves and for their children Originally published in 1985 this book was for those who wanted to know what was happening What new missiles were being built What was happening in outer space What are the facts about chemical weapons What progress was being made if any in Geneva Vienna and Stockholm where the powers were negotiating on these matters Restructuring of Arms Production in Western Europe Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1992

Profound changes are occurring in the structure of arms production in Western Europe Concentration is increasing at a fast pace Small producers are disappearing and even large ones are opting out of the market The various national arms industries long operating in protective environments are rapidly internationalizing Three factors combine to bring about this change East West detente the creation of the Single European Market and the constant pressure of increasingly complex technology In this book experts describe how the framework for producing arms in Western Europe is altered and how various actors firms governments and trade unions are adapting to the new situation The book presents detailed analyses of all the arms producing countries in Western Europe In addition to describing recent changes the authors speculate on the implications of these for the balance of power in Western Europe the relations between Western Europe and the United States arms exports to the Third World and problems of converting from military to civilian production The appendices include the SIPRI list of the 50 largest arms producing companies in Western Europe data on mergers and acquisitions procurement expenditure and exports of major weapons selections from treaties and other official documents relevant to current and future regulation of West European arms production and a select bibliography Arms Races in International Politics Thomas G.

Mahnken, Joseph Maiolo, David Stevenson, 2016 This volume provides the first comprehensive history of the arms racing phenomenon in modern international politics drawing both on theoretical approaches and on the latest historical research Written by an international team of specialists it is divided into four sections before 1914 the inter war years the Cold War and extra European and post Cold War arms races Twelve case studies examine land and naval armaments before the First World War air land and naval competition during the 1920s and 1930s and nuclear as well as conventional weapons since 1945 Armaments policies are placed within the context of technological development international politics and diplomacy and social politics and economics An extended general introduction and conclusion and introductions to each section provide coherence between the specialized chapters and draw out wider implications for policymakers and for political scientists Arms Races in International Politics addresses two key questions what causes arms races and what is the connection between arms races and the outbreak of wars Encyclopedia of International Relations and Global Politics Martin Griffiths,2013-11-26 Provides a unique reference source for students and academics covering all aspects of global international relations and the contemporary discipline across IR s major subject divisions of diplomacy military affairs international political economy and theory Ibss Poli Sci 29 1980 "International Committee For Social Sciences Documentation",2013-10-15 The International Bibliography of the Social Sciences IBSS is an essential tool for librarians academics and researchers wishing to be kept up to date with the published literature in the social sciences IBSS is compiled in four divisions Anthropology Sociology Economics and Political Science This is Volume XXIX of the International bibliography of political science as of 1980 Power and Principle in International Affairs Gordon Clark Schloming,1991

U.N. Special Session on Disarmament United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations. Subcommittee on Arms Control, Oceans, and International Environment,1978 The Future of Global Governance Mihály Simai,1994 What are the major political economic technological environmental and social changes confronting the world today and what risks do they pose Given what we know about these changes and risks what adjustments will have to be undertaken to make the world as peaceful and stable as possible Drawing on over 30 years research the eminent European scholar Mihaly Simai combines a global systems approach with a hard headed appreciation of political realities as he seeks answers to these two overarching questions This volume is at once richly informative and profoundly challenging Unflinching in its diagnosis of the past failures and present inadequacies of global governance pragmatic in its prescriptions for more effective multilateral cooperation Simai s work dissects the dimensions and dangers of a world in transition China and Global Nuclear Order Nicola Horsburgh,2015 This book offers an empirically rich study of Chinese nuclear weapons behaviour and the impact of this behaviour on global nuclear politics since 1949 China s behaviour as a nuclear weapons state is a major determinant of global and regional security For the United States there is no other nuclear actor with the exception of Russia that matters more to its long term national security However China s behaviour and impact on global nuclear politics is a surprisingly under researched topic Existing literature tends to focus on narrow policy issues such as misdemeanours in China s non proliferation record the uncertain direction of its military spending and nuclear force modernization or enduring opaqueness in its nuclear policy This book proposes an alternative context to understand both China s past and present nuclear behaviour its engagement with the process of creating and maintaining global nuclear order The concept of global nuclear order is an innovative lens through which to consider China as a nuclear weapons state because it draws attention to the inner workings institutional and normative that underpin nuclear politics It is also a timely subject because global nuclear order is considered by many actors to be under serious strain and in need of reform Indeed today the challenges to nuclear order are numerous from Iranian and North Korean nuclear ambitions to the growing threat of nuclear terrorism This book considers these challenges from a Chinese perspective exploring how far Beijing has gone to the aid of nuclear order in addressing these issues Future Survey Annual 1991 Michael Marien,1991-01-01

Tan,2013-12-13 This book is the first systematic examination of the emerging arms race in Asia The global trade in arms is to a large degree underpinned by the strong demand for arms in Asia and the Middle East the two largest arms export markets in the world Of these two regions Asia has become particularly significant led by the emergence of China and India as major powers It is therefore not surprising that the rapid military modernisation in Asia accompanied by significant increases in the size and sophistication of armed forces has generated attention as to its trends key characteristics causes and implications This phenomenon which has become evident since the end of the Cold War has also been widely described as an Asian arms race This book evaluates the key conceptual ideas which can shed light on this phenomenon as well as examining the complex mix of internal external and technological factors that have led to its emergence The volume explores the way in which the arms race is leading ultimately to three distinctive blocs in the emerging geostrategic landscape a loose bloc of US allies in the region a counter bloc of potential US adversaries and a neutral bloc of states with industrial age armed forces whose allegiances will vary according to circumstances and geostrategic developments The Arms Race in Asia concludes that if the emerging arms race is left unchecked it is likely that Asia will increasingly become a region of instability marked by conflicts and interstate wars The book will be of great interest to students of Asian politics strategic studies defence studies security studies and IR in
