Arms On The Market Reducing The Risk Of Proliferation In The Former Soviet Union:

Arms on the Market Gary K. Bertsch, Suzette Grillot, 1998 What if Cold War weapons fall into the wrong hands ARMS ON THE MARKET is about the challenges facing the now independent states of the former Soviet Union in controlling and monitoring military related exports The book compares export control throughout the former Soviet Union and explores the diverse theoretical approaches involved International Law and the Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction Daniel Joyner, 2009 Proliferation of WMD technologies is by no means a new concern for the international community Indeed since the signing of the Nuclear Non proliferation Treaty in 1968 tremendous energies have been expended upon diplomatic efforts to create a web of treaties and international organisations regulating the production and stockpiling of WMD sensitive materials within states as well as their spread through the increasingly globalised channels of international trade to other states and non state actors However the intervention in 2003 by Western powers in Iraq has served as an illustration of the importance of greater understanding of and attention to this area of law as disagreements over its content and application have once again lead to a potentially destabilising armed intervention by members of the United Nations into the sovereign territory of another member state Other ongoing disputes between states regarding the character of obligations assumed under non proliferation treaty instruments and the effect of international organisations decisions in this area form some of the most contentious and potentially destabilising issues of foreign policy concern for many states This book provides a comprehensive analysis of international law and organisations in the area of WMD proliferation It will serve both as a reference for understanding the law as it currently exists in its political and economic context as well as an analysis of areas in which amendments to existing law and organisations are needed Dangerous Weapons, Desperate States Gary K. Bertsch, William C. Potter, 2013-01-11 With the collapse of the USSR fifteen fledgling states inherited a massive Soviet arsenal unstable political systems and desperate economies A sell everything mentality threatens to result in the largest arms bazaar in human history and this potential fire sale includes weapons of mass destruction This book addresses the challenges the new independent states NIS of the former Soviet Union FSU face in controlling and monitoring their sensitive military related exports Dangerous Weapons Desperate States explores the various theoretical approaches that help explain the development of nonproliferation export control systems in the NIS The contributors coming from both the FSU states and the US provide a broad range of perspectives on the problems posed by the threat of proliferation Nonproliferation, Arms Control, and Political-military Issues United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 2000 A Web of Prevention Brian Rappert, Cairiona McLeish, 2012-05-16 Web of Prevention provides a timely contribution to the current debate about life science research and its implications for security It is an informative guide for both experts and the public It is a forward looking contribution covering both ends of the equation and creates momentum for the current discussion on effective preventive measures and effective control measures While there are no guarantees for preventing misuse there are

nonetheless crucial steps the world community can take towards the overarching goal of a global network for the life sciences This book sheds light on concrete steps toward the achievement of this worthy goal This book with its collection of essays provides an in depth analysis of the various mutually reinforcing elements that together create and strengthen a web of prevention or of assurance that is vital to ensure that the advances in the life sciences are not misused to cause harm All those engaged in the life sciences and in policy making in governments around the world should read this book so they can take steps to strengthen the web preventing biological weapons From the Foreword by Dr Gabriele Kraatz Wadsack Chief Weapons of Mass Destruction Branch Office for Disarmament Affairs United Nations Since September 11 2001 in many countries renewed attention has been given to how research in the life sciences might inadvertently or intentionally facilitate the development of biological or chemical weapons This state of the art volume examines the full extent of the issues and debates Coverage includes an overview of recent scientific achievements in virology microbiology immunology and genetic engineering with a view to asking how they might facilitate the production of weapons of mass destruction by state sub state or terrorist organizations Consideration is given to what we have and haven t learned from the past Employing both academic analysis and reflections by practitioners the book examines the security inspired governance regimes for the life sciences that are under development Ultimately the authors examine what is required to form a comprehensive and workable web of prevention and highlight the importance of encouraging discussions between scientists policy makers and others regarding the governance of vital but potentially dangerous research Dr Graham S Pearson Visiting Professor of International Security University of Bradford UK and previously Director General Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment UK
