

Listen! you hear the grating roar
Of pebbles which the waves suck back, and fling
At their return, up the high strand,
Begin, and cease, and then begin again,
With tremulous cadence slow, and bring
The eternal note of sadness—

Sophocles long ago,
Heard it on the Aegean, and it brought Into your mind the quarrel-dimmed flames
Of human misery, and the wars of Greece; and you, the old bard himself,
Heard it, and, by the same sea, the same

The sea of faith

Went down to the full and the overflowing shore,
Lay like the folds of a bright girdle furled;
But now I only hear
Its melancholy, long, withdrawing roar,
Retreating to the breath
Of the night-wind down the vast edges drear
And naked shingles of the world.

Ah, love, let us be true

To one another! for the world, which seems
To lie beneath our feet like a land of rivers
So various, so beautiful, so new,

Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light,

Nor certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain;

And we are here as on a darkling plain

Swept with confused alarms of struggle and flight,

Where ignorant armies clash by night.

The Silent Revolution and the Making of Victorian England Herbert Schlossberg,2000 Schlossberg senior research associate the Ethics and Public Policy Center argues that by the time Victoria became queen in 1837 Victorian culture was already in place Focusing on the period between the 1790s and the 1840s he shows how the religious revival that took hold of England s culture constituted a silent revolution that formed the basis of Victorian culture He describes various manifestations of the religious revival focusing on the main renewal movements in the Church of England and the spread of evangelicalism to dissenting religious groups Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Island Boy Photobook: My Life in Pictures 1 Arnold E. van Beverhoudt, Jr.,2014-11-20 In a trio of Island Boy Photobooks subtitled My Life in Pictures Arnold presents a visual history of his family and that of his wife Helena Through hundreds of family photos most in full color My Life in Pictures 1 presents Arnold's and Helena's grandparents parents and other family members The story continues through 70 years of family and island history from 1910 to 1979 That period had its personal and community tragedies including the fatal crashes of two jet airliners and a massive but thankfully non fatal fire aboard a visiting cruise ship The 1970s also had its happy events including Arnold and Helena's wedding and the birth of their daughter Selene Future installments in the trilogy will focus on the 1980s and 1990s in My Life in Pictures 2 and bring things up to date in the 21st Century in My Life in Pictures 3

Domestic Biography Christopher Tolley,1997 Christopher Tolley has written a fascinating account of the influence of evangelicalism upon eminent Victorians from the members of the Clapham sect down to the more secular Bloomsbury group Recording family life and deaths was an important ritual in Victorian households and out of this habit grew a new literary genre the domestic biography celebrating individual achievement family piety and domestic virtue Using a wide range of hitherto unpublished material from family archives Dr Tolley analyses the biographical traditions exemplified by the public and private utterances of different generations of four leading Victorian families Macaulay Stephen Wilberforce and Thornton This book is a perceptive commentary on the role of the domestic biography as a testament to the cultural legacy of the Victorian intelligentsia and the creation of family values

Theology and the Victorian Novel James Russell Perkin,2009 Religious issues played a prominent role in Victorian England and had a profound influence on the culture of that period In Theology And The Victorian Novel J Russell Perkin shows that even the apparently secular world of the realist novel is shaped by the theological debates of its time Beginning with a wide ranging introduction that explains why a theological reading of Victorian fiction is both rewarding and timely Perkin also addresses religion's return to prominence in the twenty first century confounding earlier predictions of its imminent demise Chapters on William Thackeray Charlotte Bront Charlotte Yonge Anthony Trollope

George Eliot and Thomas Hardy are followed by a concluding discussion of Mary Ward and Walter Pater that relates Pater's Marius the Epicurean to postmodern theology and shows how it remains a religious classic for our own time. Informed by extensive knowledge of the religion and culture of the period, Theology And The Victorian Novel significantly alters the way that the Victorian novel should be read. Q. D. Leavis: Collected Essays: Volume 3 Queenie Dorothy Leavis, Q. D.

Leavis, 1983. This third volume of Q. D. Leavis's essays brings together pieces on hitherto unexplored aspects of Victorian literature. Most of these date from towards the end of her life and are previously unpublished. There are also essays and reviews which appeared originally in Scrutiny. Women Writing Home, 1700-1920 Susan Clair Imbarrato, 2024-07-31

Assembles a range of women's letters from the former British Empire. These letters written home are not only historical sources; they are also representations of the state of the Empire in far-off lands sent home to Britain and occasionally other centres established as home. The Arnoldian, 1986 The Victorian Colonial Romance with the Antipodes H.

Blythe, 2014-05-21. This study treats the Victorian Antipodes as a compelling site of romance and satire for middle-class writers who went to New Zealand between 1840 and 1872. Blythe's research fits with the rising study of settler colonialism and highlights the intersection of late Victorian ideas and post-colonial theories. The history and antiquities of the County of Suffolk Alfred Suckling, 1846 Black Tom, 2002-04-23. Professor Terence Copley's new biography of Thomas Arnold combines a study of his life with an examination of Arnold's influence as an educator, a theologian, and a churchman. Arnold was only a Victorian for five years; he died in 1842 but he has been remembered as a major figure of the age, not least because Lytton Strachey chose him as one of his objects of ridicule and pillory in Eminent Victorians (1918). He stands as a monument to the development of the 19th-century public school system whose influence spread far beyond Britain's upper class. Arnold was the celebrated headmaster of Rugby School, and Hughes's Tom Brown's Schooldays (1857) fixed him in the public imagination. Copley assesses both the uncritical Victorian versions of Arnold's life, including Hughes and Dean Stanley's original Life, and the sneering assessment of his influence perpetuated by Strachey, to provide the first rounded portrait of Arnold. In conclusion, Copley explores the possible legacy that this great but neglected figure has left to our age. Marcella

Mary Augusta Ward, 2002-03-21. Marcella young and with a new womanly independence has a yearning to help the poor. When a gamekeeper is murdered near where she lives, Marcella finds herself at odds with her wealthy fiancé over beliefs about property and justice. The discovery leads Marcella to pursue, among other things, a career in nursing. In settings ranging from village cottages, London slums, and hospital wards to fashionable drawing rooms and the Ladies Gallery of the Houses of Parliament, the book combines a gripping story with serious issues: socialism, rural and urban poverty, poaching laws, journalistic ethics, the Woman Question, inspiring critics to liken Marcella to George Eliot's novels. The Broadview Literary Texts edition records the substantive differences between the two major editions published during Ward's lifetime and included among the many appendices are news accounts of the murder trial and executions that inspired the novel and previously unpublished letters by Ward NB Mary Augusta Ward has traditionally been known as Mrs Humphry Ward
