Art Crime:

Art Crime Noah Charney, 2016-03-02 Since the Second World War art crime has shifted from a relatively innocuous often ideological crime into a major international problem considered by some to be the third highest grossing criminal trade worldwide This rich volume features essays on art crime by the most respected and knowledgeable experts in this interdisciplinary subject

The Palgrave Handbook on Art Crime Saskia Hufnagel, Duncan Chappell, 2019-06-27 This handbook showcases studies on art theft fraud and forgeries cultural heritage offences and related legal and ethical challenges It has been authored by prominent scholars practitioners and journalists in the field and includes both overviews of particular art crime issues as well as regional and national case studies It is one of the first scholarly books in the current art crime literature that can be utilised as an immediate authoritative reference source or teaching tool It also includes a bibliographic guide to the current literature across interdisciplinary boundaries Apart from legal criminological archeological and historical perspectives on theft fraud and looting this volume contains chapters on iconoclasm and graffiti underwater cultural heritage the trade in human remains and the trade theft and forgery of papyri The book thereby hopes to encourage scholars from a wider variety of disciplines to contribute their valuable knowledge to art crime research

Art, Crime and Madness Shlomo Giora Shoham, 2003-01-01 Art Crime and Madness explores the relationship between creative innovation deviance and morbidity To innovate one has to be able to view the medium and the object of creativity in a different hitherto unexplored manner The essence of art is creative innovation coupled with an ability in varying degrees to transcend the boundaries of consciousness But this ability is also the prerogative of the mentally deranged Likewise the criminal and the deviant are more likely to transcend normative barriers while creating hence the wide range of criminal and deviant behaviour in society Although the inverse hypothesis does not hold the mere existence of deviance or morbidity does not predispose the individual to creativity nevertheless criminal and mad behaviour are often very innovative This thesis is illustrated by historical case histories of creative deviance and genius madness and contemporary observations The painter Michelangelo Merisi Caravaggio killed a man while still a teenager and a second victim during a ball game In his lifetime he was considered degenerate but today he is considered the greatest painter of the Italian Settecento and his portrait adorns the Hundred Thousand Lira note Jean Genet the homosexual thief was born out of wedlock and as a teenager he transgressed almost all the paragraphs of the French criminal code But he became a famous French playwright the mouthpiece for criminals and deviants His plays built up a philosophical apology for the raison d'être of the criminal group

Art Crime in Context Naomi Oosterman, Donna Yates, 2022-11-23 This book brings together empirical and theoretical case study research on art and heritage crime Drawn from a diverse group of researchers and professionals the work presented explores contemporary conceptualisations of art crime within broader contexts In this volume we see art in its usual forms for art crime scholarship in paintings and antiquities However we also see art in fossils and in violins chairs and jewellery holes in the ground and even in the institutions meant to protect any or all of the above And where there is art there is crime Chapters in this volume alternatively zoom in on specific objects on specific locations and on specific institutions considering how each interact with the various conceptions of crime that exist in those contexts This volume challenges the boundaries of what we understand as art and heritage crimes and displays that both art and criminality related to art is creative and unpredictable

Contemporary Perspectives on the Detection, Investigation and Prosecution of Art Crime Duncan Chappell, Saskia Hufnagel, 2016-05-13 In the world of law enforcement art and antiquity crime has in the past usually assumed a place of low interest and priority That situation has now slowly begun to change on both the local and international level as criminals encouraged in part by the record sums now being paid for art treasures are now seeking to exploit the art market more systematically by means of theft fraud and looting In this collection academics and practitioners from Australasia Europe and North America combine to examine the challenges presented to the criminal justice system by these developments Best practice methods of detecting investigating prosecuting and preventing such crimes are explored This book will be of interest and use to academics and practitioners alike in the areas of law crime and justice

Crime and Art Naomi Oosterman, Donna Yates, 2021-11-05 This volume brings together work by authors who draw upon sociological and criminological methods theory and frameworks to produce research that pushes boundaries considers new questions and reshape the existing understanding of art crimes with a strong emphasis on methodological innovation and novel theory application Criminologists and sociologists are poorly represented in academic discourse on art and culture related crimes However to understand topics like theft security trafficking forgery vandalism offender motivation the efficacy of and results of policy interventions and the effects art crimes have on communities we must develop the theoretical and methodological models we use for analyses The readership of this book is expected to include academics researchers and practitioners in the fields of criminology sociology law and heritage studies who have an interest in art and heritage crime

The State and the Art Richard Van Herzele, The role of private actors in policing has become a topic in both research and policy as police forces face budgetary and expertise related constraints These challenges are evident in art crime policing where a lack of prioritisation often means limited resources are allocated for a crime that requires significant expertise to tackle Cooperating with private actors has been mooted as a solution to this deficit but empirical research to support this suggestion is scarce This book helps fill this gap by examining the interaction between specialist art crime police units and private actors in Belgium the United Kingdom and France Its central questions are whether cooperation already exists in art crime policing and why or not It was found that while limits to police capacity are an important driver for private outreach several other factors also significantly affect cooperation This book is relevant for policy practice and research as it examines a hitherto less discussed topic which is nonetheless urgent as art crime shows little signs of abating
