Basic Writing Skills, Letters and Consumer Complaints Carolyn Morton Starkey, Norgina Wright Penn, 1994 Covers fundamental skills necessary for day to day living

Preventing Early Learning Failure Robert Sornson, 2001 Each year thousands of young children come to school without good early learning experiences and are unprepared for school learning activities Others have experienced physical or emotional setbacks that make learning difficult and frustrating In Preventing Early Learning Failure expert educators describe practices that can help children find success in school Topics include a look at what's important in reading and math the nature of true learning disabilities and problem solving using the Instructional Support Team model with a report on an elementary school that has adopted that model and changed the lives of many at risk learners Other chapters report on basic sensory skill development at the kindergarten level and reflect on the concepts and practices that make a difference in the lives of young learners The authors examine four programs including the widely heralded Success for All program that show promise in helping children get ready for early learning success The authors also describe effective preschool programs and principles and they look at how an awareness of multiple intelligences and individual learning needs can be useful Three of the chapters include stories that illustrate some ways to prevent failure One story describes a classroom teacher who learned to think differently about student behavior another describes innovative ways a school dealt with three problem children and the third tells about the productive relationship of a young boy his mother and his teacher We cannot afford to let children in the early years of school fall into a pattern of failure that will affect them their families and their communities throughout a lifetime Preventing Early Learning Failure offers practical approaches to help develop every child s capacity for learning and ensure that no child will be left behind Note This product listing is for the Adobe Acrobat PDF version of the book

Resources in Education ,1993 Research in Basic Writing

Martin Jacobi,Michael G. Moran,1990-02-15 This reference handbook surveys research on the central issue associated with the teaching of unprepared writers Though basic writing has only been recognized as a distinct area of teaching and research since 1975 the existing bibliographic texts already seem limited due to their age or lack of annotation This volume provides current and extensive bibliographic essays and will help to define this new field of study for teachers and researchers Following an introduction that summarizes the origins and significant texts in basic writing the book is divided into three sections Social Science Perspectives Linguistic Perspectives and Pedagogical Perspectives The first section which contains three essays views the field through the lens of social psychological and political issues The second section also containing three essays examines contributions made from studies of grammar dialects and second language acquisition The third section in its four essays focuses on the design development administration and evaluation of basic writing courses the use of computers in basic writing classrooms the role of the writing lab and the preparation of basic writing teachers An appendix that reviews current textbooks for basic writing courses is also included as well as an index This book will be a valuable resource for teachers of basic writing in education courses and workshops that train teachers and tutors and in fields such as linguistics technical writing and Teaching English as a Second Language It will also be an important addition to public and university libraries and many education programs

Speaking, Reading, and Writing in Children With Language Learning Disabilities Katharine G. Butler,Elaine R. Silliman,2001-12-01 The ability to use language in more literate ways has always been a central outcome of education Today however being literate requires more than functional literacy the recognition of printed words as meaningful It requires the knowledge of how to use language as a tool for analyzing synthesizing and integrating what is heard or read in order to arrive at new interpretations Specialists in education cognitive psychology learning disabilities communication sciences and disorders and other fields have studied the language learning problems of school age children from their own perspectives All have tended to emphasize either the oral language component or phonemic awareness The major influence of phonemic awareness on learning to read and spell is well researched but it is not the only relevant focus for efforts in intervention and instruction An issue is that applications are usually the products of a single discipline or profession and few integrate an understanding of phonemic awareness with an understanding of the ways in which oral language comprehension and expression support reading writing and spelling Thus what we have learned about language remains disconnected from what we have learned about literacy interrelationships between language and literacy are not appreciated and educational services for students with language and learning disabilities are fragmented as a result This unique book a multidisciplinary collaboration bridges research practice and the development of new technologies It offers the first comprehensive and integrated overview of the multiple factors involved in language learning from late preschool through post high school that must be considered if problems are to be effectively addressed Practitioners researchers and students professionally concerned with these problems will find the book an invaluable resource The Condition of Education ,1975 Teaching a Child to Read and Write Well Aunty

Alice,2014-04 In spite of the wide range of resources and innovative teaching methods schools have had and are using many students still fail to acquire literacy Many have specific problems with word and letter symbols They reverse and invert them their hearing cannot discriminate fine differences in letter sounds or they do not perceive patterns easily for their brain to make connections Their visual and auditory memory may fail them or their culture may use language that does not align with the standard accepted forms in the text These children are disadvantaged because their brains work differently and they think and respond differently This book embraces a different metaphor for teaching literacy that does not compartmentalize the curriculum into separate areas such as spelling reading writing listening speaking and presenting Instead the focus is on assessing their written language as a place to start in planning for success An unassisted sample of a learner s writing could be said to be an example of what they understand of literacy whether it be a scribble at three or an essay at twelve I have proved conclusively that if teacher and student work collaboratively on improving their writing using their reading as a model their reading ability rises naturally This customized and individualized teaching method enables authentic teacher student interactions This not only allows the teacher to closely tailor their teaching to each student s unique learning needs but it also brings the student on board in assessing their progress Teaching a Child to Read and Write Well will clear a path towards mastering literacy that can engage all students and lead to success for all Give it a go Best Practices in School Neuropsychology Daniel C. Miller,Denise E. Maricle,Christopher L. Bedford,Julie A. Gettman,2022-04-26 The latest edition of the gold standard in school neuropsychology references In the newly revised Second Edition of Best Practices in School Neuropsychology Guidelines for Effective Practice Assessment and Evidence Based Intervention a team of psychological experts delivers a thoroughly updated treatment of modern issues and challenges in school neuropsychology The editors provide comprehensive discussions of current assessment and intervention models best practices in assessing cognitive processes and the important task of collaborating with parents educators and other professionals This latest edition includes Explorations of the unique challenges posed by working with culturally diverse student populations Clinical advice for learning specialists and neuropsychologists engaged with special populations and students with academic disabilities processing deficits or medical disorders New chapters on assessment and intervention with children suffering from trauma or substance abuse Perfect for psychologists neuropsychologists clinicians and academics working in or studying school environments Best Practices in School Neuropsychology is a must read reference for practitioners working with children and students who seek a one stop reference for evidence informed assessment and intervention guidelines Review of Adult Learning and Literacy, Volume 6 John Comings, Barbara Garner, Cristine Smith, 2006-08-15 Review of Adult Learning and Literacy Connecting Research Policy and Practice Volume 6 includes chapters on Demographic change and low literacy Americans The role of vocabulary in Adult Basic Education Implications of research on spelling for Adult Basic Education Issues in teaching speaking skills to adult ESOL learners The preparation and stability of the Adult Basic Education teaching workforce The adult literacy system in Ireland and Broad based organizing as a vehicle for promoting adult literacy

Literacy and Learning Thomas E. Scruggs, Margo A. Mastropieri, 2010-03-04 Among the most commonly reported characteristics of individuals with learning and behavioral disabilities are significant and persistent problems with literacy acquisition This volume addresses important issues in the conceptualizing assessing and treating problems in literacy It is of interest to clinicians teachers and researchers Crossing Borders Bernhard Kettemann, Georg Marko, 1999
