Art Criticism And Africa African Art And Society Series:

Art Criticism and Africa Katy Deepwell, 1998 Part of African Art and Society Series this book focuses on contemporary art and art criticism in Africa in general and in Zimbabwe South Africa Nigeria and Egypt in particular Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development Polly Stupples, Katerina Teaiwa, 2016-10-26 Visual artists craftspeople musicians and performers have been supported by the development community for at least twenty years yet there has been little grounded and critical research into the practices and politics of that support This new Routledge book remedies that omission and brings together varied perspectives from artists policy makers and researchers working in the Pacific Africa Latin America and Europe to explore the challenges and opportunities of supporting the arts in the development context The book offers a series of grounded analyses which cover strategies for the sustainability of arts enterprises innovative evaluation methods theoretical engagements with questions of art agency and social change artists entanglements with legal and structural frameworks processes of cultural mapping and the artist donor interface The creative economy is increasingly recognized as a driver of development and this book also investigates the contribution made by the arts to the processes of international development and considers how those processes can best be supported by development agencies Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development gives scholars of Development Studies Social and Cultural Geography Anthropology Cultural Policy Cultural Studies and Global Studies a contextually and thematically diverse range of insights into this emerging research field Art and Religion in Africa Rosalind Hackett, 1998-10-01 Africa's religious and artistic traditions constitute a primary example of its intellectual and cultural vitality Artistic works play a vital role especially where oral traditions dominate in communicating ideas about the relationship between the human spiritual and natural worlds This work is a comparative study of Africa's visual and performing arts concentrating on their geographical material and gendered diversity and focusing on the relation of these arts to African religion The author combines ethnographic and art historical methodology but does not assume any prior knowledge of African art or African religion The text seeks a greater understanding of the philosophical and religious aspects of African art thus challenging western perceptions of what is important in terms of artistic representation This approach reveals the transformative capacities and multi dimensionality of African art The work also highlights the changes brought about by Christianity Islam and the newer religious movements in post colonial Africa Art Inspiring Transmutations of Life Patricia Trutty Coohill, 2010-09-02 Although the creative impulse surges in revolt against everyday reality breaking through its confines it makes pacts with that reality's essential laws and returns to it to modulate its sense In fact it is through praxis that imagination and artistic inventiveness transmute the vital concerns of life giving them human measure But at the same time art's inspiration imbues life with aesthetic sense which lifts human experience to the spiritual Within these two perspectives art launches messages of specifically human inner propulsions strivings ideals nostalgia yearnings prosaic and poetic profane and sacral practical and ideal while standing at the fragile borderline of everydayness and imaginative adventure Art's creative perduring constructs are intentional marks of the aesthetic significance attributed to the flux of human life and reflect the human quest for repose They mediate communication and participation in spirit and sustain the relative continuity of culture and history G.K.
