Changing the Trajectory Sajitha Bashir, 2009-06-25 The Democratic Republic of Congo faces the challenge of providing universal primary education and expanding opportunities for post-secondary education and training for its youth ages 12 to 24. This study analyzes the current educational attainment and school enrollment status of youth as well as the formal and informal post-secondary educational and training opportunities available to them. The study uses the results of a simulation model that incorporates enrollment in alternative education programs and considers alternative scenarios for developing the post-primary sector. Each scenario is evaluated for the impact on the human capital accumulation of young people and the sustainability of public expenditures. The report offers policy options for rapidly raising the educational attainment of young people who will be entering the labor force in the next two decades, including expanding opportunities for alternative education and training for out-of-school children, the extension of primary education, and the reorganization of secondary and technical vocational training to reduce early specialization.

 France, 1493-1725* Frank C. Spooner, 1972 This volume makes available the first English version of L'conomie mondiale et les frappes monétaires en France 1493-1680 Frank C Spooner's original and distinguished contribution to economic and monetary history Generously illustrated with maps and graphs and abridged by the author this study introduces the English reading audience to the methodological approaches of the modern school of French economic history In this edition Spooner covers an additional forty five years not included in his original work the period 1680-1725 which marks the prelude to the great monetary reform and consolidation of France in 1726 In addition to bringing the reader up to date on his continuing research he presents a number of important conclusions concerning this economic era Drawing from his vast insight into French monetary history and his thorough technical knowledge of French coinage and mints of the period the author maps the historical and spatial perspectives of the two and a half centuries when France experienced successive periods of inflation as bullion copper and credit emerged into the forefront of economic affairs To illustrate the way in which the sequence of these periods affected the structure of the French economy he discusses how the relative supply and demand of the metals used in varying degrees as a medium of exchange increased the demand for the metal and influenced the credit system Credit thus made a special contribution in coordinating and adjusting the various inconsistencies in the production and circulation of the different metals Throughout his study Spooner attributes an important role to money as a significant factor in economic change and development in early modern Europe and focuses on the relationship between the supply of money and the level and pattern of economic activity KPSC KAS Prelims Exam (Paper-1) Book 2024 | Karnataka
