book begins with a summary of the environmental histories of these regions before the arrival of people To give water its due as an agent of historical processes it is important to understand its role in shaping these three distinct ecosystems a role it still plays today despite thousands of years of human intervention in the hydrological nature of those systems It is certain that as human caused climate changes rework ecosystems worldwide surviving the Anthropocene in Mexico City New Orleans and Lima will require other ways of knowing water as hydro social territories that challenge modern notions of urbanism and foreground ways of knowing formerly considered archaic Following the inextricable histories of water and anthropogenic landscapes provokes many questions about the nature of cities especially questions of environmental justice The answers should not be abstract or universal Instead Clare Cardinal Pett argues that urbanization on the planet must be reimagined and reconstructed as bio regional systems and hydro social territories that can be best defined more comprehensively as political ecologies
