The Dream of Freedom Margaret Light, 2024-11-15 In an Ethiopian town a young woman dreams of escaping her oppressive marriage When she meets an idealistic activist their passionate love sparks a revolution igniting jealousy and fear among those in power The Dream of Freedom and Other Poems James Smart LINWOOD, 1857 Dreams of Peace and Freedom Jay Winter, 2008-10-01 In the wake of the monstrous projects of Hitler Stalin Mao and others in the twentieth century the idea of utopia has been discredited Yet historian Jay Winter suggests alongside the major utopians who murdered millions in their attempts to transform the world were disparate groups of people trying in their own separate ways to imagine a radically better world This original book focuses on some of the twentieth century s minor utopias whose stories overshadowed by the horrors of the Holocaust and the Gulag suggest that the future need not be as catastrophic as the past The book is organized around six key moments when utopian ideas and projects flourished in Europe 1900 the Paris World s Fair 1919 the Paris Peace Conference 1937 the Paris exhibition celebrating science and light 1948 the Universal Declaration of Human Rights 1968 moral indictments and student revolt and 1992 the emergence of visions of global citizenship Winter considers the dreamers and the nature of their dreams as well as their connections to one another and to the history of utopian thought By restoring minor utopias to their rightful place in the recent past Winter fills an important gap in the history of social thought and action in the twentieth century We Used to Dream of Freedom Sam Chaiton, 2024-09-10 Chaiton s fearless and moving memoir is a precious gift to anyone who yearns for a better understanding of intergenerational trauma and the path to true liberation JEANNE BEKER author fashion editor and television personality A child of Holocaust survivors grapples with his parents untold stories and their profound effect on the course of his extraordinary life Growing up in Toronto Sam Chaiton and his brothers knew their parents had been prisoners in Bergen Belsen But what their parents wouldn t share about their history including the fact they had also been in Auschwitz ended up shaping their children s lives We Used to Dream of Freedom explores what a family is or could be the psychology of survivors and the impact of survivor silence on their family and the responsibility of second generations from traumatized communities to share knowledge from their own histories to help alleviate the suffering of others Irreverent moving and tragic often all at once at its heart it is a story of a man who disappeared on his family his quest to understand why he had to leave and the long overdue discovery about his parents that brought him back Dream the Size of Freedom R. Joseph Parrott, 2025-07-08 How anti colonial movements in Angola Mozambique and Guinea Bissau reshaped US activist engagement with the Global South from the 1960s through the 1970s Dream the Size of Freedom explores how anti colonial movements in Angola Mozambique and Guinea Bissau reshaped US activist engagement with the Global South from the 1960s through the 1970s and influenced American foreign policy as the Vietnam War drew to a close. These Portuguese African liberation movements led by nationalists like Eduardo Mondlane and Amílcar Cabral built global solidarity networks to support their military and social challenges to empire while defending against Western intervention. US activists disillusioned with the Cold War came to see African self-determination as central to global campaigns for racial and economic justice. A broad coalition ranging from Black Power radicals to religious liberals mobilized against the North Atlantic alliance with Portugal. In the process, this grassroots movement helped define a New Left Internationalism that championed decentralized multiracial organizing and a collaborative vision of US foreign policy to redress historic inequalities between Global North and South. Drawing on more than fifty oral histories and research in government and activist archives on three continents in English, Portuguese, French, and Afrikaans, R. Joseph Parrott reconstructs the transnational anti-imperial network that injected Global South priorities into US political debates. Popular protests and informational campaigns led to collaborations with legislators eager to constrain the powerful executive branch. In 1976, this grassroots legislative alliance halted Gerald Ford's anti-communist intervention against the Soviet-backed government of newly independent Angola. This victory of New Left Internationalist ideas anticipated future anti-apartheid and Latin American peace movements while also fueling a conservative revival of Cold War containment. By exploring US engagement with the contested process of African decolonization, Dream the Size of Freedom highlights the origins of two contrasting visions of American foreign policy that defined debates over the country's proper role in the Global South into the 1990s.

Into the Maelstrom: Music, Improvisation and the Dream of Freedom

David Toop, 2016-05-05 Shortlisted for the Pendergyn Music Book Prize 2017. In this first installment of acclaimed music writer David Toop's interdisciplinary and sweeping overview of free improvisation, Into the Maelstrom: Music, Improvisation and the Dream of Freedom. Before 1970 introduces the philosophy and practice of improvisation both musical and otherwise within the historical context of the post-World War II era. Neither strictly chronological or exclusively a history, Into the Maelstrom investigates a wide range of improvisational tendencies from surrealist automatism to stream of consciousness in literature and vocalization from the free music of Percy Grainger to the free improvising groups emerging out of the early 1960s Group Ongaku, Nuova Consonanza, MEV, AMM, the Spontaneous Music Ensemble, and from free jazz to the strands of free improvisation that sought to distance itself from jazz. In exploring the diverse ways in which spontaneity became a core value in the early twentieth century as well as free improvisation's connection to both 1960s rock (The Beatles, Cream, Pink Floyd) and the era of post-Cagean indeterminacy in composition, Toop provides a definitive and all-encompassing exploration of free improvisation up to 1970, ending with the late 1960s international developments of free music from Roscoe Mitchell in Chicago, Peter Brötzmann in Berlin, and Han Bennink and Misha Mengelberg in Amsterdam.

Freedom at Work J. M. Murff, 2012-11 A new industrial miracle is needed in the United States not unlike the one precipitated by the crisis of World War II Our current crisis of global competition with lower paying foreign jobs coupled with the decline in the quality of education in America threatens our way of life and our American Dream Freedom at Work introduces new paradigms that can spark this miracle From replacing the archaic business paradigms that still dominate US businesses to the crisis in morality and values crippling the nation author J M Murff addresses every facet of the challenge facing America He also explains the need to reinvent business education and the revolution in innovation that the United States must now bring forth In addition to introducing seven new business paradigms Freedom at Work also provides the keys to an innovation revolution and new business economics for job creation Murff discusses the need for the restoration of values upon which America was founded and which have floundered in recent years To restore our place in the global economy we must find a new way to teach business and to develop new laws for maximizing human potential By using new tools for successfully navigating a global economy we will be able to maximize business performance in the twenty first century Decolonizing Freedom Allison Weir,2024 Freedom is celebrated as the definitive ideal of modern western civilization Yet in western thought and practice the freedom of some has typically been defined through opposition to the unfreedom of others These exclusions are not secondary to a prior concept of freedom but are constitutive exclusions that have shaped the ways in which western theorists define what freedom is Allison Weir draws on Indigenous political philosophies and practices of decolonization grounded in conceptions of relationality and resurgence in dialogue with western philosophies to reconstruct a tradition of relational freedom as a distinctive political conception of freedom a radically democratic mode of engagement and participation in social and political relations with an infinite range of strange and diverse beings perceived as free agents in interdependent relations in a shared world Through the work of Leanne Betasamosake Simpson John Borrows Glen Coulthard Audra Simpson Rauna Kuokkanen Joanne Barker Jodi Byrd James Tully and many others this book traces a tradition of colonial unknowing in western conceptions of freedom from Hobbes through republican and critical theories and explores a countertradition of relations between freedom and collective love exemplified in Leanne Betasamosake Simpson s love of land and Hannah Arendt s love of the world It considers Indigenous modes of world creation as performative affective embodied strategies of democratic life skilled modes of addressing diversity and conflict fear and hostility in practices of freedom that embrace polycentric knowledges and rooted dynamisms in contexts of complexity and constant change Weir argues that Indigenous women s struggles to belong to communities and participate in governance have engendered new theories of relational rights that combine politics of rights and resurgence and calls for a coalitional politics guided by queer and feminist Indigenous models of transformative resurgence Finally Weir proposes an approach to critical theory as a practice of self transformation through openness to the other oriented toward relational freedom The Art of Freedom Nico Slate,2024-07-15

collection of essays entitled Discourses of Freedom seeks to unravel the nuances of the concept of freedom and its malleability. The collection is divided into three sections. The first section emphasizes a critical evaluation of the human rights law and liberty. The second section titled Gender Politics and Agency offers fresh perspectives on the curtailment of women's autonomy within familiar yet intimate spaces and also highlights the challenges that confront the LGBT community. The third section focuses on systems that underlie in the representation of minority culture especially in the realm of creative fiction. This book seeks to engage in a critical discourse encouraging further exploration and research. Freedom dreaming futures for Black youth: Exploring meanings of liberation in education and psychology research Seanna Leath, Lauren Mims, Misha Inniss-Thompson, 2023-07-21. Research elucidating the developmental processes in Black children and youths schooling and educative experiences is increasing. e.g. Carter Andrews et al 2019, Daneshzadeh Jackson Neal Jackson 2018. Yet the notion of freedom dreaming in relation to Black children and youth has received less attention within the fields of education and psychology. We draw from U.S. historian Professor Robin D. G. Kelley's concept of freedom dreaming to illuminate not only what we are fighting against in the education of Black youth (e.g. racial bias and discrimination, unfair disciplinary practices and criminalization, and Black youths' overrepresentation in special education and underrepresentation in gifted and talented programs) but also what we are fighting for: liberatory educational praxis that build on Black youths' individual and cultural strengths. In the current call, freedom dreaming refers to: 1. actively uplifting the complex lives and stories of Black children and youth in educational settings; 2. elevating Black children and youths' intersectional experiences related to ability, gender, identity, sexuality, age, and socio-economic class; and 3. highlighting the innovative work of scholars who understand and value community power in efforts to advance educational change. We draw on Dr. Bettina Love's 2019 call for educational freedom wherein she states: "The practice of abolitionist teaching is rooted in the internal desire we all have for freedom, joy, restorative justice, restoring humanity, not just rules and to matter to ourselves, our community, our family, and our country with the profound understanding that we must demand the impossible by refusing injustice and the disposability of Black children." p. 7.
