Drinkers Drummers And Decent Folk:

Drinkers, Drummers, and Decent Folk John O. Stewart, 1989-01-20 Drinkers is a multi form text Essays poetry and fiction present rural life in Trinidad These texts are interspersed with analytic and exploratory sections on the ethnographic and fieldwork experience Within a context which includes the West Indian sugar estate at its core and the distant but very influential U S A at the periphery Stewart reveals villagers struggling with problems of individual identity as well as with problems occasioned by the historical struggle between African European and Indian cultural forms Drinkers, Drummers, and Decent Folk John O. Stewart, 1989-01-20 Drinkers is a multi form text Essays poetry and fiction present rural life in Trinidad These texts are interspersed with analytic and exploratory sections on the ethnographic and fieldwork experience Within a context which includes the West Indian sugar estate at its core and the distant but very influential U S A at the periphery Stewart reveals villagers struggling with problems of individual identity as well as with problems occasioned by the historical struggle between African European and Indian cultural forms

Eating and Identity in Postcolonial Fiction Paul Vlitos, 2018-10-11 This book focuses on the fiction of four postcolonial authors V S Naipaul Anita Desai Timothy Mo and Salman Rushdie It argues that meals in their novels act as sites where the relationships between the individual subject and the social identities of race class and gender are enacted Drawing upon a variety of academic fields and disciplines including postcolonial theory historical research food studies and recent attempts to rethink the concept of world literature it dedicates a chapter to each author tracing the literary cultural and historical contexts in which their texts are located and exploring the ways in which food and the act of eating acquire meanings and how those meanings might clash collide and be disputed Not only does this book offer suggestive new readings of the work of its four key authors but it challenges the reader to consider the significance of food in postcolonial fiction more generally

The Steelband Movement Stephen Stuempfle, 1995 The Steelband Movement examines the dramatic transformation of pan from a Carnival street music into a national art and symbol in Trinidad and Tobago By focusing on pan as a cultural process Stephen Stuempfle demonstrates how the struggles and achievements of the steelband movement parallel the problems and successes of building a nation Stuempfle explores the history of the steelband from its emergence around 1940 as an assemblage of diverse metal containers to today s immense orchestra of high precision instruments with bell like tones Drawing on interviews with different generations of pan musicians including the earliest a wide array of archival material and field observations the author traces the growth of the movement in the context of the grass roots uprisings of the 1930s and 1940s the American presence in Trinidad in World War II the nationalist movement of the postwar period the aftermath of independence from Britain in 1962 the Black Power protests and the oil boom of the 1970s and the recession of recent years The Steelband Movement suggests that the history of pan has involved a series of negotiations between different ethnic groups socioeconomic classes and social organizations all of which have attempted to define and use the music according to their own values and interests This drama provides a window into the ways in which Trinidadians have constructed various visions of a national identity Anthropological Journeys Meenakshi Thapan,1998 This collection of papers raises methodological issues and questions concerning the traditional nature of anthropology and addresses current issues and debates in sociology and social anthropology The essays in this volume by well known anthropologists take up these and other issues arising out of their own fieldwork experience The result is a rigorous and deeply moving analysis that leads to an unlearning of inappropriate and insensitive methods that obscure rather than explain the lives of people Culture ,1991 Caliban and the Yankees , Food and Multiculture Alex Rhys-Taylor,2017 With its 8 3 million occupants London is a bustling and diverse metropolis characterized by rich histories of socioeconomic change multiculturalism and diversity The multiplicity of smells and tastes which can be experienced in the city are integral both to an understanding of its history and the reality of the city s urban present From the mangos sold by street grocers and links with years of cultural exchange to the rise of culturally hybridized foodstuffs and dishes such as the chicken katsu wrap the exploration of sensory experience in the urban context is key to understanding the complex cultural genealogies of the city and its social life Sociologist Alex Rhys Taylor charts a groundbreaking new sensory ethnography in an urban multicultural context exploring the relevance of sociological concepts such as gentrification multiculturalism sustainability and globalization whilst each chapter offers micro histories of ingredients and narratives of individuals providing a vibrant demonstration of the evolution of taste and culture through time and space Fragments of Death, Fables of Identity Eleni Neni K.
