Drugs in Our Schools United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Crime,1972 Better Doctors, Better Patients, Better Decisions Gerd Gigerenzer,J.A. Muir Gray,2013-01-11 How eliminating risk illiteracy among doctors and patients will lead to better health care decision making Contrary to popular opinion one of the main problems in providing uniformly excellent health care is not lack of money but lack of knowledge on the part of both doctors and patients The studies in this book show that many doctors and most patients do not understand the available medical evidence Both patients and doctors are risk illiterate frequently unable to tell the difference between actual risk and relative risk Further unwarranted disparity in treatment decisions is the rule rather than the exception in the United States and Europe All of this contributes to much wasted spending in health care The contributors to Better Doctors Better Patients Better Decisions investigate the roots of the problem from the emphasis in medical research on technology and blockbuster drugs to the lack of education for both doctors and patients They call for a new more enlightened health care with better medical education journals that report study outcomes completely and transparently and patients in control of their personal medical records not afraid of statistics but able to use them to make informed decisions about their treatments Decision Support Systems VII.
