Towards the Sustainable Use of African Wetlands John Pascal Simaika, Anne Alje Van Dam, Albert Chakona, 2021-05-14 African Pastoralism M. A. Mohamed Salih, Ton Dietz, Abdel Ghaffar Mohamed Ahmed, 2001-07-20 Although many countries in Africa are devastated by poverty and famine and are desperately in need of aid it is generally recognised that programmes of aid and development in Africa are imposed upon local communities with little regard for their traditional values and way of life This book provides a fresh look at these intricate issues and explores the way in which farming and traditional pastoral livelihoods have strengthened rather than weakened in the face of government reforms It reveals how traditional institutions and resource management strategies within local African communities continue to endure in spite of the enormous pressure that development programs assert as pastoralists resolve to confront coercive state policies designed to privilege the interests of the wealthy and powerful elite The book introduces thirteen case studies from Botswana Ethiopia Eritrea Kenya Somalia Sudan and Uganda and various other parts of the African continent IITA Research 4, Biosaline Agriculture and Salinity Tolerance in Plants Münir Öztürk, Yoav Waisel, M. Ajman Khan, Güven Görk, 2007-06-10 This volume focuses on reclamation management and utilization of salt affected soils their sustainable use and evaluation of plants inhabiting naturally occurring saline habitats It is of interest to scientists and students as well as agricultural institutions and farmers to increase the awareness of salinity problems The volume is supported by UNESCO Doha Qatar and has an international authorship Sustainable Development in Africa Walter Leal Filho, Rudi Pretorius, Luiza Olim de Sousa, 2021-07-09 This book serves the purpose of documenting and promoting African experiences on sustainable development which encompasses both formal and non formal education Sustainable development is very important to Africa but there is a paucity of publication which documents and promotes experiences from African countries. Due to their complexity the interrelations between social economic and political factors related to sustainable development especially at universities need to be better understood. There is also a real need to showcase successful examples of how African institutions are handling their sustainability challenges. It is against this background that this book has been produced. It is a truly interdisciplinary publication useful to scholars, social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies and private companies undertaking research and or executing projects focusing on sustainability from across Africa. As African nations strive to pursue the UN Sustainable Development Goals it is imperative to cater for the information needs seen across the continent and foster the dissemination of experiences and case studies which may support both on going and future efforts. The scope of the book is deliberately kept wide and we are looking for contributions across the spectrum of sustainable development from business and economics to arts and fashion administration environment languages and media studies.

Climate Change and Multi-Dimensional Sustainability in African Agriculture Rattan Lal, David Kraybill, David O. Hansen, Bal Ram Singh, Theodosy Mosogoya, Lars Olav Eik, 2016-11-23. This 35 chapter book is based on several oral and poster presentations including both invited and contributory chapters. The book is thematically based on four pillars of sustainability with focus on sub Saharan Africa: SSA Environment, Economic, Social and Institutional. The environmental sustainability which determines economic and social institutional sustainability refers to the rate of use of natural resources: soil, water, landscape, vegetation which can be continued indefinitely without degrading their quality, productivity and ecosystem services for different ecoregions of SSA. This book will help achieve the Sustainable Development Goals of the U N in SSA. Therefore the book is of interest to agriculturalists, economists, social scientists, policy makers, extension agents and development bilateral organizations. Basic principles explained in the book can be pertinent to all development organizations.

Tourism and Climate Change Daniel Scott, C. Michael Hall, Gossling Stefan, 2012-06-14. Climate change is the single most important global environmental and development issue facing the world today and has emerged as a major topic in tourism studies. Climate change is already affecting the tourism industry and is anticipated to have profound implications for tourism in the twenty first century including consumer holiday choices, the geographic patterns of tourism demand, the competitiveness and sustainability of destinations and the contribution of tourism to international development. Tourism and Climate Change: Impacts, Adaptation and Mitigation is the first book to provide a comprehensive overview of the theory and practice of climate change and tourism at the tourist enterprise, destination and global scales. Major themes include the implications of climate change and climate policy for tourism sectors and destinations around the world, tourist perceptions of climate change impacts, tourism's global contribution to climate change, adaptation and mitigation responses by all major tourism stakeholders and the integral links between climate change and sustainable tourism. It combines a thorough scientific assessment of the climate tourism interrelationships with discussion of emerging mitigation and adaptation practice showcasing international examples throughout the tourism sector as well as actions by other sectors that will have important implications for tourism Written by three leading academics in this field this critical contribution highlights the challenges of climate change within the tourism community and provides a foundation for decision making for both reducing the risks and taking advantage of the opportunities associated with climate change This comprehensive discussion of the complexities of climate change and tourism is essential reading for students academics business leaders and government policy makers

Introduction to New Caledonia Gilad James, PhD, New Caledonia is a French territory located in the South Pacific Ocean It consists of a main island known as Grande Terre and several smaller islands The population of New Caledonia is around 280 000 with the majority of the population living in the capital city of Noumea on Grande Terre The official language is French but the indigenous Kanak people also speak several indigenous languages The economy of New Caledonia is largely dependent on the mining industry specifically nickel production which accounts for around 80% of the country s export revenue Tourism is also important with visitors attracted to the country s beautiful beaches coral reefs and unique cultural heritage New Caledonia has a complex cultural and political history It was originally inhabited by the Kanak people who had their own distinct cultures and languages The territory was then colonized by the French in the 19th century and used as a penal colony In the 20th century the decolonization movement led to a rise in Kanak nationalism and demands for independence This resulted in a period of violence and conflict known as the Events of the 1980s which eventually led to the signing of the Noumea Accord in 1998 The accord provided for a gradual transfer of power from France to New Caledonia with a referendum on independence planned for 2021 The political situation in New Caledonia remains contentious with sharp divisions between those who support independence and those who wish to maintain ties with France

The Biology of Mosquitoes Alan N. Clements, 2011-01-01 The Biology of Mosquitoes Volume 3 Viral Arboviral and Bacterial Pathogens Alan N Clements Professor Emeritus London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine Mosquitoes are of significant interest both as transmitters of major diseases and as nuisance insects and as such are one of the most intensively studied and well known groups of insects Following the widely acclaimed first two volumes of The Biology of Mosquitoes this authoritative review covers viral arboviral and bacterial pathogens of mosquitoes with a further volume on malarial filarial and other parasites to follow While originally intended as a chapter in the projected third volume Dormancy Survival Speciation and Evolution the important and extensive subjects of parasites and pathogens have instead been devoted two volumes of their own providing the appropriate breadth and detail of coverage for factors so significant in the survival of adult mosquitoes and therefore the epidemiology of mosquito borne diseases Covering host parasite interactions mosquito immune responses and characteristics and transmission of viruses and prokaryotes this essential reference book is a must read for entomologists particularly those involved with mosquitoes as disease vectors or pests both in the laboratory and the field Third volume in definitive series on Population Biology of Tropical Insects Allen M. Young, 2012-12-06 In this book I have tried to bring together the major developments in the study of insect populations in tropical environments In some ways this task has been a difficult one because conceptually it is virtually impossible to limit a discussion of insect ecology to the tropics since the same concepts theories and hypotheses concerning the mechanisms by which habitats support insect populations often apply both to temperate and to tropical regions Thus one might argue effectively that a book such as Peter Price s Insect Ecology represents a more comprehensive treatment of insect ecology including the tropical aspects Yet because there has been a tremendous amount of new study on insects in the tropics in recent years and because there has also been a strong historical interest in tropical insects judging from early museum expeditions and medically and agriculturally oriented studies of insects in the New and Old World tropics I believe there is a place for a book dealing almost exclusively with tropical insects But logically so such a book by necessity incorporates data and information from Temperate Zone studies if for no other reason than because insights into the properties of tropical environments often emerge from comparisons of species communities or faunas between temperate and tropical regions. An understanding of insect populations in the tropics cannot be divorced from a consideration of Temperate Zone populations.

Water Conservation Manoj Jha, 2011-12-09. Water is an essential and basic human need for urban, industrial, and agricultural use. While an abundance of fresh water resources is available, its uneven distribution around the globe creates challenges for sustainable use of this resource. Water conservation refers to an efficient and optimal use as well as protection of valuable water resources, and this book focuses on some commonly used tools and techniques such as rainwater harvesting, water reuse and recycling, cooling water recycling, irrigation techniques such as drip irrigation, agricultural management practices, groundwater management, and water conservation incentives.
