terms of location due to the importance of retaining the suitable condition of the environment and biodiversity in the region. This concept is necessary and useful for coping with environmental issues and related food safety issues. From this view point, several integrated surveys in both rural and urban areas of China were conducted by the food risk research group at the Research Institute for East Asia Environments (RIEAE), Kyushu University, to reveal the current status of the environment, food, and agriculture in this country. The results of the surveys are introduced in this book along with implications and recommendations. We hope this book be referential for policy makers, researchers, and industry personnel relating to food, agriculture, and environment.
