At Home And At School:

The Home-School Connection Flora V. Rodriguez-Brown, 2009-06-02 In this unique contribution to the literature on parental involvement in culturally and linguistically diverse communities Flora Rodriguez Brown offers a critique of family literacy programs that lack a clear design for literacy activities relevant to community goals offering an alternative model that is grounded within an abiding respect for the parents role as the child's first and ultimately most important teacher Robert D Milk University of Texas San Antonio The Project FLAME program used as context for this book is a comprehensive family literacy model supported by a strong sociocultural framework based on current research on cultural ways of learning and theories of multiliteracies and discourse The model highlights the relevance of parents knowledge cultural ways and discourses in sharing literacy knowledge with their children A pressing need exists for models and programs that effectively serve the educational needs of the steadily increasing numbers of culturally and linguistically diverse students in U S public schools today Addressing issues related to development implementation and effectiveness of a program model that fulfills this need this book is an essential resource for educators community workers and researchers interested in the relevance of the home school connection in relation to children's school success Home-School Connections in a Multicultural Society Maria Luiza Dantas, Patrick C. Manyak, 2011-02-09 Educators everywhere confront critical issues related to families schooling and teaching in diverse settings Directly addressing this reality Home School Connections in a Multicultural Society shows pre service and practicing teachers how to recognize and build on the rich resources for enhancing school learning that exist within culturally and linguistically diverse families Combining engaging cases and relevant key concepts with thought provoking pedagogical features this valuable resource for educators at all levels Provides detailed portraits of diverse families that highlight their unique cultural practices related to schooling and the challenges that their children face in school settings Introduces key sociocultural and ethnographic concepts in ways that are both accessible and challenging and applies these concepts as lenses through which to examine the portraits Shows how teachers and researchers have worked with diverse families to build positive relationships and develop learning activities that incorporate children's unique experiences and resources Disrupting deficit assumptions about the experiences and knowledge that culturally and linguistically diverse children acquire in their homes and communities this book engages readers in grappling deeply and personally with the chapters meanings and implications and in envisioning their own practical ways to learn from and with families and children Developing Engaged Readers in School and Home Communities Linda Baker, Peter Afflerbach, David Reinking, 1996 First Published in 1995 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Home, School and Work M. P. Carter, 2013-10-22 Home School and Work A Study of the Education and Employment of Young People in Britain describes the events during the period of transition from school to work This book is divided into 16 chapters that consider the influences of home and school in young people's behavior and attitude The opening chapters survey the attitudes towards school leaving school and starting work including views about the school leaving age in Britain The next chapters discuss the extent of knowledge about work in general and about particular occupations as well as methods of finding work These topics are followed by descriptions of formal and informal reception and initiation into the world of work along with the attitudes towards employers and other workers This text also looks into the number and frequency of job changes and the reasons for the changes A chapter examines the attitudes towards Trade Unions and the link between education and employment The closing chapters deal with the changes in leisure activities and in pocket money The relative importance of school work and leisure is also discussed Transitions and Learning Through the Lifecourse
