Aging The Social Context:

Aging, 1989 Aging Leslie A. Morgan, Suzanne Kunkle, 1998-04-29 This introductory text on social gerontology written from a sociological perspective presents a very broad range of material Biological health and psychological viewpoints are considered in order to provide a truly multidisciplinary approach The Social Context of Ageing Christina

Victor, 2004-12-20 This comprehensive text focuses on the social contexts of ageing looking at the diversity of ageing and older people and at different factors that are important to experiences of old age and ageing It includes key chapters on theoretical and methodological bases for the study of ageing demographic context of the ageing population health and illness family and social networks formal and informal care and other services for older people Providing an invaluable introduction to the major issues involved in the study of ageing this book is essential reading for students of sociology gerontology social policy health and social care and professionals working with older people Ageing Leslie Morgan, Suzanne Kunkel, 1998

Aging Leslie Morgan, Suzanne Kunkel, 2001 NEW edition More than any other social gerontology texts available addresses issues of diversity in aging by race ethnicity social class and gender throughout The Environment for Aging Russell A. Ward, Mark La Gory, Susan R. Sherman, 1988 The nature and consequences of aging depend on its environmental context and the literature does not treat the various environmental dimensions in an integrated fashion The authors introduce a general approach to the human ecosystem highlighting theoretical and empirical issues necessary to an understanding of person environment interaction related to aging They then investigate in detail three aspects of the environment of older persons residential and neighborhood interpersonal support networks and age related attitudes They give specific attention to the impact of the age composition of neighborhoods and interpersonal networks The authors present findings from their interview survey of 1 185 community residents aged 60 and over Major findings from the interviews include Despite objective neighborhood problems older persons express high neighborhood satisfaction This partly reflects limited residential options as well as a passive and vicarious spatial experience The environment is experienced in diverse ways however urbanism and personal competence shape the nature and outcomes of person environment interaction Older persons have relatively robust interpersonal support networks Perceived sufficiency of contact and support are more salient to morale than are more objective measures of interpersonal support Although attitudes toward other older people are generally favorable patterns of age identity reflect a detrimental view of aging There is little evidence that socialization for aging or age group solidarity make aging easier in this regard Older persons exhibit moderate age homogeneity within their interpersonal networks partly reflecting neighborhood age concentration Contrary to the apparent benefits of planned age segregated housing age homogeneity in neighborhoods and networks does not contribute to well being The authors examine three major themes in their concluding chapter age itself does not loom large in the lives of these community residents though age becomes salient under certain conditions there is diversity in the implications of the environmental context for aging in particular reflecting an environmental docility hypothesis and aging must be viewed in interactional or transactional terms older people construct the environment as a subjective entity      Aging, Society and the Life Course Leslie A. Morgan, 2007 As our aging population grows ever larger it is increasingly important to understand how adults age and what we can do to provide up to date care to ensure their well being as an integral part of society Leslie Morgan and Suzanne Kunkel understand that this phenomenon is about much more than just the physical or biological aspects of growing older and have put together a comprehensive text on the impact of society and sociology on the aging process Use this text to explore the diversity of the aging population and dispel the major stereotypes surrounding the elderly Learn about aging through all the layers of social context from family life to politics and economics And through this approach come to see how aging is more than just an individual process it is a process that effects the direction of our society as a whole For the Student Web sites of interest and key terms defined at the end of each chapter Real life stories and essays on love sex music medicine and crime For the Professor Assignment ready reading in a One Chapter a Week format Questions for discussion and review at each chapter end Applying Theory sections place the lesson of each chapter in a clear real world setting Instructor s Guide Now Available An Instructor s Manual for this textbook is available for those professors who have adopted Aging Society and the Life Course Third Edition and can verify a bookstore order of 7 or more copies Please email our Marketing Department at marketing.springerpub.com if you have adopted this text as you will need a password to download the guide Please provide the name and telephone number of the bookstore that ordered the textbooks A print version of the Instructor s Manual is also available      Social Structures and Aging Individuals K. Warner Schaie, Ronald P. Abeles, 2008-07-02 A useful reference book Readers will find themselves returning to chapters again and again PsycCritiques This is the 20th and final volume in the Societal Impact on Aging series It focuses on what has been learned over the span of the previous volumes regarding the continuing challenges for older persons in a rapidly changing society and tries to forecast what may be the next set of issues to lie at the intersection of social structures and the individual aging process The editors therefore invited major organizers of and contributors to the 19 earlier volumes to review both the accomplishments and omissions of their efforts discuss some timely new topics and provide guidelines for future research and theoretical explanations The book is divided into five broad topics health and wellbeing including the role of religion personality and cognition the impact of changes in technology and the work place issues of socio cultural change and historical context and the familial and societal contexts of aging      Handbook of Cognitive Aging Scott M. Hofer, Duane F Alwin, 2008-03-20 Provides a unique perspective I am particularly impressed with the sections on innovative design and methods to investigate cognitive aging and the integrative perspectives None of the existing texts covers this material to the same level Donna J La Voie Saint Louis University The emphasis on integrating the literature with theoretical and methodological innovations could have a far reaching impact on the field Deb McGinnis Oakland University The Handbook of Cognitive Aging Interdisciplinary

Perspectives clarifies the differences in patterns and processes of cognitive aging Along with a comprehensive review of current research editors Scott M Hofer and Duane F Alwin provide a solid foundation for building a multidisciplinary agenda that will stimulate further rigorous research into these complex factors Key Features Gathers the widest possible range of perspectives by including cognitive aging experts in various disciplines while maintaining a degree of unity across chapters Examines the limitations of the extant literature particularly in research design and measurement and offers new suggestions to guide future research Highlights the broad scope of the field with topics ranging from demography to development to neuroscience offering the most complete coverage available on cognitive aging

Cognitive and Social Neuroscience of Aging Angela Gutchess, 2019-01-03 Integrates a neuroscience approach to study aging In addition to covering standard cognitive functions it incorporates socioemotional abilities

Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Linda George, 2010-11-26 Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Seventh Edition provides extensive reviews and critical evaluations of research on the social aspects of aging It also makes available major references and identifies high priority topics for future research The book is organized into four parts Part 1 reviews developments in the field of age and the life course ALC studies and presents guidelines on conducting cohort analysis Part 2 covers the demographic aspects of aging longevity trends disability and aging and stratification and inequality research Part 3 includes chapters that examine socioeconomic position and racial ethnic disparities in health at older ages the role of social factors in the distribution antecedents and consequences of depression and aspects of private wealth transfers and the changing nature of family gift giving Part 4 deals with pension reform in Europe the political activities of older Americans the future of retirement security and gender differences in old age The Handbook is intended for researchers professional practitioners and students in the field of aging It can also serve as a basic reference tool for scholars professionals and others who are not presently engaged in research and practice directly focused on aging and the aged Contains all the main areas of social science gerontological research in one volume Begins with a section on theory and methods Edited by one of the fathers of gerontology Binstock and contributors represent top scholars in gerontology

Social Structures, Aging, and Self-Regulation in the Elderly K. Warner Schaie, PhD, Laura L. Carstensen, PhD, 2006-07-06 This collection considers ways in which societal contexts influence aging by influencing self regulatory processes No one doubts that the social contexts in which individuals develop exert strong influence on life trajectories Those born into environments that provide high quality education supportive social relations and economic assets do better in old age than those born into environments bereft of such resources The extent of this influence however is only beginning to be revealed Recent research shows that life experiences influence basic brain structures e g the effect of musical training on neural organization and functions e g inflammatory processes and that social embeddedness may even protect against Alzheimer's disease Similarly education increasingly appears to have a real effect on neural integrity Thus societal contexts may not simply open or close doors for individuals but may influence self regulatory processes at the most basic levels of functioning Although social structures are generally seen as the independent variables that affect individual aging it is also possible to think of a lifetime development of self regulatory processes leading to behaviors in old age that can have impact on and modify societal structures Two parts of this book consider self regulation as the dependent variable asking how social contexts influence cognitive emotional and self regulatory processes The third part reverses the question treating self regulation as the independent variable and retirement and physical health as dependent variables In this part consideration is given to how the effectiveness of self regulation influences physical and economic outcomes in old age

The Ethics of Social Research Joan E. Sieber, 2012-12-06 Social scientists are unprepared for many of the ethical problems that arise in their research and for criticisms of their ethics that seem to ignore such cherished scientific values as objectivity and freedom of inquiry Yet they possess method ological talent and insight into human nature that can be used to understand and resolve these problems The contributors to this book demonstrate that criticism of the ethics of social research can stimulate constructive development of meth odology Both volumes of The Ethics of Social Research were written for and by social scientists to show how ethical dilemmas arise in the day to day conduct of social research and how they can be resolved The topics discussed in this book include ethical problems that arise in experiments and sample surveys the companion volume deals with the ethical issues involved in fieldwork and in the regulation and publication of research With candor and humor many of the contributors describe lessons they have learned about themselves their methods and their research participants Collectively they illustrate that both humanists and detenninists are likely to encounter ethical dilemmas in their research albeit different ones and that a blending of detenninistic and humanistic approaches may be needed to solve these dilemmas The aim of this book is to assist irvestigators in preparing to meet some of the ethical problems that await the unwary It offers perspectives values and guidelines for anticipating problems and devising solutions

Aging, Society, and the Life Course, Fourth Edition Leslie A. Morgan, Suzanne Kunkel, 2011-03-15 Doody s Score 91 4 Stars This book s unfading preoccupation with social context social processes and social structures distinguishes itself and greatly contributes to the discourse in gerontology The Gerontologist This is a comprehensive textbook for both undergraduate and graduate level courses detailing the impact of societal forces on the aging process The book focuses on the diversity of the older population examining it from micro macro perspectives in order to understand aging and the life course as social phenomena This latest edition examines significant changes in the field of social gerontology such as the paradigms of aging and the life course the baby boomer cohorts as they approach retirement and later life the growing interest in global aging and civic engagement This text encourages students to examine aging from personal familial community societal and global perspectives including both the positive and negative realities of aging Key Features Provides websites of interest at the end of each chapter Presents provocative essays on love sex music medicine and crime to further expand on chapter contents Provides review questions and key terms as study guides at the end of each

Ecosystems theory Small Group theory Family Systems theory Organizational theory     Social Cognition and Aging Thomas M. Hess, Fredda Blanchard-Fields, 1999-06-18 Most of the research done in social cognition has been conducted with younger adults and may not be applicable to a much older population Social Cognition and Aging provides a snapshot view of research that has been done with older adults or is directly applicable to this population Focusing on issues of self identity social interactions and social perceptions this book provides a broad overview of how aging affects one's own perceptions and actions as well as how others perceive and interact with the aged Coverage includes such topics as self control memory resilience age stereotypes moral development and the art of living With contributions from top researchers in both gerontology and psychology this book is an important reference for academics and professionals alike in personality cognition social psychology adult development sociology and gerontology     Time Use Research in the Social Sciences

Wendy E. Pentland, M. Powell Lawton, Andrew S. Harvey, Mary Ann McColl, 2007-05-08 Despite the fact that for most of us time is a central focus of our lives the examination of what we do with our time and why has received limited attention as a method for understanding human behavior in the social sciences Humans view and use of time shows tremendous variation including across cultures and with age lifestyle and gender For many of us a sense of time is ever present We speak of time as a commodity a resource an ally an enemy and a gift It maybe on our side on our hands with us or against us We perceive it to change speeds dragging vs flying vs standing still and lest it get away on us we attempt to harness and control it with clocks schedules and deadlines We describe our use of time in a myriad of ways we spend it save it waste it kill it give it take it and grab it The impetus for this book grew from a three day research symposium where established time use researchers from a variety of disciplines from Canada the United States Finland Australia and New Zealand gathered together to merge their knowledge and resources to collaborate in examining the relationship between human time utilization and health and well-being We gratefully acknowledge the financial support for the symposium received from the Government of Canada's Program for International Research Linkages and M Powell Lawton without whose support and encouragement this book would likely not exist

Handbook of Theories of Aging Merrill Silverstein, Vern L. Bengtson, Vern L. Bengtson, PhD, Norella Putney, Daphna Gans, 2008-10-27 The field of gerontology has often been criticized for being data rich but theory poor The editors of this book address this issue by stressing the importance of theory in gerontology While the previous edition focused on multidisciplinary approaches to aging theory this new edition provides cross disciplinary integrative explanations of aging theory The contributors of this text have reached beyond traditional disciplinary boundaries to partner with researchers in adjacent fields in studying aging and age related phenomena This edition of the Handbook consists of 39 chapters written by 67 internationally recognized experts in the field of aging It is organized in seven sections reflecting the major theoretical developments in gerontology over the past 10 years Special Features Comprehensive coverage of aging theory focusing on the biological psychological and social aspects of aging A section dedicated to discussing how aging theory informs public policy A concluding chapter summarizing the major themes of aging and offering predictions about the future of theory development Required reading for graduate students and post doctoral fellows this textbook represents the current status of theoretical development in the study of aging

Psychology of Aging Aimee Spector, 2017-03-02 The psychology of aging is an exciting and rapidly developing field This volume provides a collection of classic original and often widely cited papers including some older papers which may be hard to find through conventional searches Taken together they help to address some key questions what are the cognitive changes related to aging Is mental exercise useful To what extent might intelligence education or stimulating mental activities delay or even reduce cognitive symptoms of dementia However the book goes well beyond cognition and addresses social and emotional changes in aging as well as looking at how lifestyle factors may be influential in psychological functioning The section on the psychology of dementia covers the evolving psychological models plus innovative types of psychological interventions As more people live to an age where they are dependent on others the book also considers the stresses on carers and how carers can be supported Lastly other aspects of mental health problems in old age are addressed including depression PTSD and personality disorder This collection of intriguing and inspiring papers will liven up the shelves of students researchers and academics in the field as well as being a very useful resource for research teaching and study

Social Policy and Aging Carroll L. Estes, 2001-03-30 This groundbreaking book provides a comprehensive treatment of the political economy of aging From the founder and key thinker in the field comes a work that aims to contribute to the understanding of old age and aging in the context of problems and issues of the larger social order in America Since Carroll Estes first writing on the political economy of aging in 1979 there has been growing recognition and incorporation of her critical perspective as one of the major paradigms in the field of aging The only comprehensive book length treatment of the subject Social Policy and Aging addresses the globalization of capital and developments in health care restructuring Combining social gerontological theory and major theoretical advances in work on the welfare state this text keeps readers abreast of the new development within the discipline Students and researchers alike will appreciate this critical perspective widely acknowledged as one of the major paradigms in the field of aging Ed
