Aging And Mental Disorders International Perspectives:

Aging and Mental Disorders Manfred Bergener, 1992      International Perspectives on Elder Abuse Amanda Phelan, 2013 Elder abuse has been increasingly recognised over the past ten years in many countries and progress has been made in both understanding and addressing the issue This volume provides a much needed international overview of the topic Opening with an examination of what elder abuse is Amanda Phelan sets it in a theoretical context and looks at assessment and approaches to the issue in residential and community care environments The book then presents a range of country studies which provide an overview of the context of elder abuse in the country and a discussion of related policy legislation research and practice Countries covered include Ireland United Kingdom Spain China Australia Kenya Israel Canada and the United States whilst a regional chapter looks at South America A concluding chapter draws together cross cultural comparisons and provides some guidance as to best practice The only comprehensive book in this area International Perspectives on Elder Abuse is an invaluable reference for practitioners academics and researchers from a range of disciplines including nursing social work sociology public health and social policy      International Perspectives on Older Adult Social Isolation and Loneliness Ted K. S. Ng, Roger O'Sullivan, Lenard Kaye, James Lubben, Mercedes Bern-Klug, Matthew Lee Smith, 2025-05-06 Frontiers in Public Health is excited to announce a Research Topic with the theme International Perspectives on Older Adult Social Isolation and Loneliness This collection aims to address the urgent public health challenge posed by the escalating levels of isolation loneliness and disconnection experienced by older adults The influence of physical environmental social psychological cultural and economic forces on late life relationships and connectedness will be explored by an international roster of researchers and practice scholars The perspectives of theorists educators administrators public health officials clinicians and program planners will all be included to ensure arriving at a more nuanced appreciation of what has been proclaimed as one of the greatest public health challenges of our day Arriving at a greater understanding of the conditions that put elders at risk of becoming socially isolated and lonely the extent to which it should be considered both a personal community and societal threat the impact of COVID 19 those at greatest risk its negative consequences and steps that can be taken to prevent reduce and reverse its occurrence Ultimately this Research Topic intends to help readers more thoroughly understand the underlying causes as well as effective programmatic strategies for bolstering older adult social and emotional health and community engagement across diverse cultures social systems and cohorts This Research Topic will represent some of the most current theoretical programmatic and clinical research from around the world inquiring into the growing fragility of late life relationships and the accompanying feelings of disengagement From multiple disciplinary and professional perspectives this Research Topic will serve to document our current understanding of the complexities surrounding the negative impacts of weakened relational ties on older adult safety health and well being Additionally it will showcase some of the most promising programs and interventive techniques that show the greatest promise in helping to repair and maintain the integrity of an older adult's social and community network and support system. Submission topics may include but are not limited to: theoretical frameworks and conceptual models of social isolation and loneliness in older adults; epidemiological and prevalence analyses of social isolation and loneliness among diverse populations of older adults; the emotional, behavioural, physical, environmental, and social determinants that contribute to the risk for and prevalence of elder isolation and or loneliness; impacts of social isolation and loneliness on older adult health, safety, cognition, life satisfaction, and well-being; innovative programs and interventions aimed at preventing and or reducing social isolation and loneliness; multidisciplinary approaches to addressing social isolation and loneliness in older adult populations; policy and community based initiatives to promote social connectedness and engagement; the influence of the COVID-19 pandemic on elder isolation and loneliness; technological advancements and their role in potentially increasing and conversely mitigating social isolation and loneliness among older adults.

Mental Health in Older People Across Cultures Nhi-Ha Trinh, Iqbal Ahmed, Dinesh Bhugra, 2024-12-27 As people across all nations around the world are beginning to live longer the World Health Organization estimates the number of older adults will double to 1.5 billion by 2050. This presents visible increases in older adult mental health issues and it is therefore vital that we understand the cross cultural impact of social determinants of health in psychiatric illness and care in aging adults. As part of the Oxford Cultural Psychiatry series Mental Health in Older People Across Cultures provides a detailed overview of the diverse factors including socioeconomic and systemic factors within and across countries that impact the process of ageing, mental health and illnesses of older adults and their care. This unique resource provides a necessary clinical understanding of factors on ageing and the varied roles that families and caregivers have on the ageing process with an emphasis on highlighting similarities and differences across cultures. The second half of the book then focuses on specific disorders in older adults across the globe affected by these factors, the nuances impacting diagnosis and treatment of these disorders as well as research and development of healthcare policy. Written by experts in the field from across the world, this comprehensive book will be of great interest to a diversity of readers from psychiatrists to trainees, general practitioners to social workers and many other mental health providers. From epidemiology to economics and substance use disorders and from East Asia to Africa and the Americas, this valuable addition to the field of mental health in older adults provides a world of fascinating insight.

International Perspectives and Strategies for Managing an Aging Workforce Ince, Fatma, 2022-03-11 Older employees are often seen as an obstacle and not as an opportunity for companies, especially regarding the transfer of knowledge and experience. Effective development and utilization of older professional and managerial employees is an important issue as most organizations are not prepared to tailor their training methods to the needs and preferences of these employees due to negative stereotypes. Managing a rapidly aging workforce and sustaining economic dynamism calls for systematic research to prevent age discrimination due to an incomplete knowledge of older workers and politically challenging policy choices that require strong political commitments robust management leadership and social consensus International Perspectives and Strategies for Managing an Aging Workforce examines the differences in stereotypes of older employees compared to younger employees in companies analyzes the impact of the aging workforce on retention productivity and well being and investigates organizational systems processes and practices for managing older workers Covering a range of topics such as retention and retirement this reference work is ideal for researchers academicians practitioners business owners managers human resource workers instructors and students

Psychological Treatment of Older Adults Michel Hersen, Vincent B. Van Hasselt, 2013-06-29 This multiauthored introductory textbook could not have been conceived or brought to fruition 10 or 15 years ago Indeed at that time relatively little attention was accorded to the psychological needs of older adults The general tenor of the field then was that older adults would not benefit from psychological intervention As we now know this was a faulty assumption that has been discredited with empirical data. Indeed, clinical research data adduced primarily in the last decade clearly documents that older adults do benefit from specific psychotherapies that are tailored to their unique presentation of symptoms. Given the explosion of interest in this area as evinced by increased investigatory activity, national funding, and media attention, and the increased number of masters and doctoral level courses devoted to this topic, we felt that the time was right for a textbook in the area. Such flurry of activity also has been fueled by statistics showing how our population by the year 2030 will consist of 30% who are senior citizens. Moreover, since 12% of older adults in the community are estimated to have diagnosable psychiatric disorders and 40% to 50% of older adult medical inpatients have a concomitant psychiatric disorder, the task for clinicians in the next century will be overwhelming.

Diverse Perspectives on Aging in a Changing World Gillian Joseph, 2016-10-04. Focusing on under researched aspects of social, economic, and political change, this volume offers fresh insights into aging older people and their families. It combines an international and interdisciplinary approach. Chapters explore the contexts in which family roles, institutional practices, public policies, and social and cultural discourses evolve, connecting analyses of aging issues and policy development with sound research practices as well as previously ignored gaps in professional practice. Topics covered include politics and policy, health and social care, culture and migration, urban and rural sociology, gender studies, technology, and economics. The book will be of particular interest to students and researchers in gerontology, community development, geography, and population studies, along with researchers and professionals in physiotherapy, nursing, and social work.

Primary Care Mental Health in Older People Carlos Augusto de Mendonça Lima, Gabriel Ivbijaro, 2019-08-07. This book is a practical resource that will support the delivery of holistic mental health interventions in the primary and community care setting for older people. Primary care delivery is discussed in relation to both functional mental health problems such as anxiety, depression, and psychotic and personality disorders, and acquired organic mental disorders of old age such as dementia, cognitive impairments, and delirium. Careful consideration is paid to the complex relationship between mental and somatic health problems as well as the impacts of multimorbidity and polypharmacy. Further topics include, for example, epidemiology, wider determinants of health, different care models, history taking, neurocognitive and capacity assessment, and pharmacological, psychological, and physical interventions. The wider goals of the book are to support the development of community resilience and self care in older people, to promote universal access and equity for older people in order to enable them to achieve or recover the highest attainable standard of health, regardless of age, gender, or social position, and to promote pathways to care for older people with mental health problems, respecting their autonomy, independence, human rights, and the importance of the life course approach. This book will be an invaluable resource for all professionals who work with older adults with mental health problems, and those training in these fields, including physicians, psychiatrists, family doctors, geriatricians, general practitioners, nurses, psychologists, neurologists, occupational therapists, social workers, support workers, and community
