Agricultural Development In Southern Africa Farm Household Economics And The Food Crisis

F. Caillavet, H. Guyomard, R. Lifran

Agricultural Development In Southern Africa Farm Household Economics And The Food Crisis:

Agricultural Development in Southern Africa Allan Low, 1986 Research report on subsistence farming and obstacles to agricultural development in Southern Africa reviews economic theory on household economics and its application in the region includes a field study of household production and the adoption of new agricultural technologies in Swaziland analyses non market benefits of communal land use rights and cattle labour migration and rural development perspectives discusses agricultural policy implications agricultural research on farming systems etc Graphs references statistical tables

Agricultural Development in Southern Africa Allan Low, 1985      Peasant Economics Frank Ellis, 1993-11-25 This is a revised and expanded edition of a popular textbook on the economics of farm households in developing countries The second edition retains the same building blocks designed to explore household decision making in a social context Key topics are efficiency risk time allocation gender agrarian contracts farm size and technological change For these and other topics household economic behaviour represents the outcome of social interactions within the household and market interactions outside the household A new chapter on the environment combines exposition of economic tools not previously covered in the book with examination of household and community decision making in relation to environmental resources

Transforming Southern African Agriculture Ann Willcox Seidman, 1992      Agricultural Household Modelling and Family Economics F. Caillavet, H. Guyomard, R. Lifrán, 1994-12-07 Agricultural households both in the European Union and world wide have experienced important changes during the last three decades This book covers recent advances both in family economics and in modelling the relationship between the farm household and the farm firm Both theoretical and empirical aspects of Agricultural Household Modelling and Family Economics are also discussed providing a timely contribution to research in this area      Achieving Food Security in Southern Africa Lawrence James Haddad, 1997-01-01

The effects of macroeconomic reforms and regional integration on agriculture and rural development Bringing previously disadvantaged rural people into the economic mainstream The effective development of Southern Africa's water resources Safety nets and protecting the poor The effective development of rural infrastructure      Agriculture and the Environment

Ernst Lutz, 1998-01-01 Agriculture in developing countries has been remarkably productive during the last few decades however the production levels were achieved at the cost of placing more stress on natural resources and the environment This volume brings together state of the art applied practical research related to agriculture development and the environment in the developing world It attempts to distill current knowledge and to summarize it in readable form for development practitioners Where possible authors use specific examples to indicate which approaches have worked and which have not under which conditions and why      Food Security Policy in Africa Between Disaster Relief and

Structural Adjustment Gabriele Geier, 2014-04-08 According to the FAO one person in three in sub Saharan Africa suffers from malnutrition and one in seven is in danger of dying Most African countries no longer seem capable of ensuring that their people have access to sufficient food Given the failure of past efforts the objectives of food security policies and their effectiveness have to be reconsidered This book shows that the debate on food security policies has changed with the passage of time The entitlement debate triggered by A Sen had a major influence on this change but the bearing of socio economic structures on the food security of African households and their individual members are still not fully recognised

The State of Food and Agriculture 1998 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1998-01-01 This annual report provides basic information on the global agricultural situation A review of developments in food security opens this year s report with new estimates on the proportion a chapter on rural non farm income a diskette housing time series data for nearly 150 countries country groups regions in English French Spanish Recommended in ALA s Guide to Reference Books

Food Security in Southern Africa, 1974-1994 ,1994 From Crisis to Growth in Africa Mats Lundahl,2005-07-05 This book is concerned with the problem of achieving sustained economic growth in thirteen African countries Structural adjustments designed to remove imperfections have made it difficult for the market system to work optimally Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Africa Kym Anderson,William A. Masters,2009-03-13 The vast majority of the world s poorest households depend on farming for their livelihoods During the 1960s and 1970s most developing countries imposed pro urban and anti agricultural policies while many high income countries restricted agricultural imports and subsidized their farmers Both sets of policies inhibited economic growth and poverty alleviation in developing countries Although progress has been made over the past two decades to reduce those policy biases many trade and welfare reducing price distortions remain between agriculture and other sectors and within the agricultural sector of both rich and poor countries Comprehensive empirical studies of the disarray in world agricultural markets appeared approximately 20 years ago Since then the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development has provided estimates each year of market distortions in high income countries but there have been no comparable estimates for the world s developing countries This volume is the third in a series other volumes cover Asia Europe s transition economies and Latin America and the Caribbean that not only fills that void for recent years but extends the estimates in a consistent and comparable way back in time and provides analytical narratives for scores of countries that shed light on the evolving nature and extent of policy interventions over the past half century Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Africa provides an overview of the evolution of distortions to agricultural incentives caused by price and trade policies in the Arab Republic of Egypt plus 20 countries that account for about of 90 percent of Sub Saharan Africa s population farm households agricultural output and overall GDP Sectoral trade and exchange rate policies in the region have changed greatly since the 1950s and there have been substantial reforms since the 1980s Nonetheless numerous price distortions in this region remain others have been added in recent years and there has also been some backsliding such as in Zimbabwe The new empirical indicators in these country studies provide a strong evidence based foundation for assessing the successes and failures of the past and for evaluating policy options for the years ahead      The Economics of Tropical Farming Systems Martin Upton,1996-12-12 Clear student text on theory and practice of economic decision making in tropical agriculture      The Changing Geography of Africa and the Middle East Graham Chapman,2002-03-11 CROSS REF DEV STUDIES Both Africa and the Middle East have sought alternatives to Western models of development The last twenty five years have seen political independence for the states of Africa and increased economic dependence on external aid The Middle East resource rich and water poor continues economically robust but politically unstable In both regions widespread poverty continues as does the involvement of the West Clearly illustrated with basic maps of the countries discussed The Changing Geography of Africa and the Middle East presents a systematic review of twenty five years of development The book will prove an invaluable guide to the physical economic social and political environments of contemporary Africa and the Middle East      Local Institutional Innovation and Pro-poor Agricultural Growth Marijke D'Haese,N. Vink,2003      Agricultural Technologies and Tropical Deforestation Arild Angelsen,David Kaimowitz,2001-04-20 This book has been developed from a workshop on Technological change in agriculture and tropical deforestation organised by the Center for International Forestry Research and held in Costa Rica in March 1999 It explores how intensification of agriculture affects tropical deforestation using case studies from different geographical regions using different agricultural products and technologies and in differing demographic situations and market conditions Guidance is also given on future agricultural research and extension efforts      How Prices and Macroeconomic Policies Affect Agricultural Supply and the Environment Nlandu Mamingi,1996      New Seeds and Poor People Michael Lipton,Richard Longhurst,2010-11-29 First published in 1989 this book deals with the impact of cereal production upon the Third World specifically Modern Varieties MVs Using evidence from plant breeding economics and nutrition science the authors seek to pinpoint what has been achieved what has gone wrong and what needs to be done in future Although the technical innovations of MVs mean more employment cheaper food and less risk for small farmers the reduction in crop diversity increases the risk of danger from pests and though MVs enlarge cereal stocks many are too poor to afford them The book concludes that technical breakthroughs alone won't solve deep rooted social problems and that only new policies and research priorities will increase the choices assets and power of the rural poor      Inside Poverty and Development in Africa Marcel Rutten,André Leliveld,Dick Foeken,2008-10-15 When discussing development issues in Africa it is not sufficient to simply stress the ubiquity of failure malnutrition disease predatory states and war one also has to recognize that important aspects in the lives of millions of ordinary people have been transformed over the last five decades The contributions in this book are rooted in extensive empirical research at local regional and or national level in different African countries Chad Ethiopia Kenya Lesotho South Africa and Uganda while some take a pan African view All however offer insight from different analytical perspectives into the heterogeneity of poverty and development processes in Sub Saharan Africa and confront the ideas concepts and assumptions that lie behind pro poor policies The volume also encourages policy makers to choose realistic policy prescriptions in an attempt to move people out of poverty      Farm and Community Information Use for Agricultural Programmes and Policies J. M. Dixon, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, M. Hall, J. Brian Hardaker, 1994
