Agricultural Resources Of China:

Agricultural Resources of China T. H. Shen, 1951 Agricultural Resources of China Zonghan Shen, 1951 China in the Global Economy Agriculture in China and OECD Countries Past Policies and Future Challenges (OECD Proceedings) OECD, 1999-08-26 The pace of growth in China's agricultural sector is remarkable Determining how this demand for food will be met requires a complex analytical framework whose parameters are the subject of an intense discussion These workshop proceedings provide a rich repository of material addressing the issue China in the Global Economy Environment, Water Resources and Agricultural Policies Lessons from China and OECD Countries OECD, 2006-10-25 China has the world's largest population but very limited supplies of water This conference proceedings examines how China can best use its limited water resources in agriculture Agricultural Resources of China (first Draft) Zonghan Shen, 1946 CHINA: FOOD SECURITY AND AGRICULTURAL GOING GLOBAL Han Jun, 2022-11-21 Through decades of efforts China has overall achieved self sufficiency in food supply which is the result of effective policies and measures adopted by the Chinese government This book focuses on China's food security strategy and agricultural going global strategy and goes into details on policies and measures for achieving domestic food security It specially analyzes status and development trend of China's corn industry since corn is the most sensitive grain variety that plays an important role as food feed and raw material for bioenergy It also studies overseas agricultural development potential for agricultural investment and cooperation globally It finally elaborates China's agricultural going global strategy with specific cases to evaluate policy effect in order to promote international cooperation in agriculture The conclusions are that as the world's most populated country China should rely on its domestic production to ensure food supply However with intensified constraints on resources and environment China should appropriately adjust its food security goals to ensure the basic self sufficiency of cereals and rely more on global markets for non cereal grain varieties Looking to the future China should establish a food security system that is efficient open and sustainable through profound reform to increase its domestic food productivity promote sustainable development of agriculture and expand international cooperation in agriculture

key resources of energy food and water which are closely connected and interdependent on each other are coming under increasing pressure as a result of increasing population development and climate change In the case of China following its recent economic surge energy food and water are already nearing the point of shortage This book considers how China is working to avoid shortages of energy food and water and the effect this is having internationally Subjects covered include domestic policy debates on China s resource strategies challenges for managing transboundary waters related to China responses from various regions and countries to China s Go Out strategy and China s increasing energy links with Russia and declining agricultural trade with the United States The book concludes by discussing in comparative perspective China s outward resource acquisition activities and the consequent policy implications How Mobile are Resources in Chinese Agriculture? - Implications for China's Agricultural Trade Policy Funing Zhong, Jing Zhu, Zhengqin Xie, 2015

Agricultural trade policy in China has been the subject of heated discussion since China s accession to the WTO Studies have been carried out and propositions put forth regarding comparative advantage food security development of the industry and farmers income In this paper we attempt to provide an analysis from another important perspective resource mobility which is an essential assumption in free trade theory By examining the mobility of different production resources in Chinese agriculture namely natural resources capital inputs human resources and institutional arrangements we found that for most production resources in Chinese agriculture mobility is low The results have significant policy implications in two respects first protective measures in the transitional period for certain crops in certain areas in China are legitimate and necessary to ensure social stability and second policy instruments to improve resource mobility in Chinese agricultural should be explored and implemented to realize more trade benefit in the future
