Catholic Pentecostalism and the Paradoxes of Africanization Ludovic Lado,2009-04-07 The anthropological literature on religious innovation and resistance in African Christianity tended to focus almost exclusively on what have come to be known as African Independent Churches Very few anthropological studies have looked at similar processes within mission churches Through an ethnographic study of localizing processes in a Charismatic movement in Cameroon and Paris the book critically explores the dialectics between Pentecostalization and Africanization within contemporary African Catholicism It appears that both processes pursue although for different purposes the missionary policy of dismantling local cultures and religions practices and discourses of Africanization dissect them in search of authentic African values Charismatic ritual on the other hand features the dramatization of the defeat of local deities and spirits by Christianity *The Christian Course, Or Helps to ... Science & Spirituality: Two Sides of the Same Coin Gary Schnell M.D., 2025-04-16 The day to day struggles with life are ego driven in the desperate search for security and comfort resulting in a life of perpetual grasping for things that can never be satisfying Life becomes filled with dread in the ignorance of the sacred spiritual dimension where true security and comfort can be found free of dread and fear The ego driven life is a product of the dominance of the left hemisphere of the brain over the right functioning in accord with the science of classical physics In contrast the potential for living a life of courage with an attitude of curiosity and ready for any adventure life might offer is as simple as taking a mindful meditative step away from the left towards the right hemisphere of the brain The right hemisphere of the brain functions more holistically in accord with the science of quantum physics Once a meditative lifestyle can be pursued and maintained with intention and attention the two brain hemispheres can be brought into harmony permitting a spiritual life of
