Aids Immunity And Chinese Medicine:

AIDS and Chinese Medicine Qingcai Zhang, Hongyuan Xu, 1990 Mit dem Untertitel Anwendung der Itesten Medizin auf die neuste Krankheit stellt sich gleich eine Frage Braucht es f r eine neue Krankheit nicht auch eine neue Medizin Die Autoren ein Arzt und ein Apotheker verneinen das denn sie haben auch keine Medizin gegen Aids an und f r sich Die traditionelle chinesische Medizin kennt aber viele Heilmittel die erfolgreich gegen Krankheiten wirken welche letztlich das Bild von Aids bestimmen z B Pilzinfektionen Hepatitis oder Lungenentz ndung Die traditionelle chinesische Medizin gr ndet auf Prinzipien die kaum etwas mit unserer Schulmedizin gemeinsam haben Der Mensch gilt bei den Chinesen als geschlossenes System das durch den Fluss von S ften und Kr ften gesteuert wird Es werden deshalb nicht einzelne Organe betrachtet sondern die Gesamtheit des Menschen Das bedeutet z B auch dass man nicht nur ein Virus bek mpfen will sondern gleichzeitig auch das Immunsystem st rken Als Hilfsmittel steht ein reicher Schatz von chinesischen Kr utermixturen zur Verf gung Sie werden von den Autoren ausf hrlich beschrieben Das Buch ist aber trotzdem keine Do it yourself Anleitung Es braucht n mlich Spezialisten um die richtige Diagnose zu stellen und eine chinesische Apotheke um das entsprechende Pr parat herzustellen Wenn das alles stimmt k nnen die chinesischen rzte Resultate vorweisen die sich durchaus mit unserer Medizin messen k nnen

HIV/AIDS, Health and the Media in China Johanna Hood, 2011-01-25 HIV AIDS is an increasingly serious problem in China with an increasing number of new cases every year As a result HIV organizations have boomed with both state and non governmental organisations responding to the threat with campaigns to increase public awareness of the disease utilising the media as the primary tool to reshape citizens understandings and views of HIV AIDS This book explores how HIV AIDS is portrayed in China s media It argues that despite increasing education campaigns media coverage and social and academic openness towards HIV AIDS many Chinese of the majority Han ethnic group regard infection as a distant possibility believing themselves to be immune and infection a problem only for certain non Han ethnic groups with perceived lower moral standards in particular black Africans The book explores how HIV AIDS is reported analysing the language used in constructing and encoding the health narrative its subjects and ideas about the disease It demonstrates how China s media frequently employs negative events to present the most extreme possibilities of poverty danger disasters and disease with black Africa portrayed as an antiquated distant and socioculturally and politically backward place uniquely unsuitable for the containment of disease in contrast with the progressive scientifically sophisticated and morally upstanding Chinese It argues that this discourse has had the effect of distancing many Chinese from the perceived possibility of infection thus compromising the effectiveness of public health campaigns on HIV AIDs It suggests that the key to combating the spread of the disease lies in challenging the racialised narratives through which the disease is portrayed in China s media rather than simply by aiming to educate greater numbers of people
