Aging as a process not only influences medical and economic dimensions at an individual level but also at societal and national levels. Aging is a natural process; however, its standard definition in a healthcare context is yet unclear. To delay the aging process and to maintain quality of life until the end of life are two goals of prime importance. Various healthcare approaches are being developed and experimented on to best manage aging as if it is a disease. Nutraceuticals are value-added dietary supplement products and have an immense potential in altering key structures and functions of aging. Nutraceuticals can be a keystone in altering sub-normal performing physiological and metabolic systems due to aging. Nutraceuticals for Aging and Anti-Aging: Basic Understanding and Clinical Evidence addresses aging and anti-aging nutraceuticals based on 10 major challenges such as cognitive health, malnutrition, substance abuse, bladder control, and oral health, among others. It examines how these challenges can be complemented with nutraceuticals and connects the applications with the traditional wisdom of the aging process. Key Features: Examines the aging process then recommends nutraceuticals for aging and anti-aging processes. Describes the aging process from the western perspective and Ayurvedic medicine, Indian traditional system, and traditional Chinese medicine perspectives. Provides, whenever possible, the clinical evidence of the applications of nutraceuticals for aging and anti-aging. This book is a valuable resource for physicians, clinical experts, pharmaceutical companies, and their experts, nutrition specialists, entrepreneurs, chemists, pharmacists, food chemists, technologists, as well as researchers and postgraduate students involved in these specialties. Health and Disease in Old Age, John Wallis Rowe, Richard W. Besdine, 1982. Molecular Basis and Emerging Strategies for Anti-aging Interventions, Syed Ibrahim Rizvi, Ufuk Çakatay, 2018-11-02. This book describes the nature of aging, age-related disorders, and the molecular principles of emerging strategies for anti-aging interventions while also discussing the discovery of targets for geroprotective drugs. Although significant medical advances in the treatment and eradication of life-threatening conditions such as cardiovascular and infectious disease have been made over the past five decades, the prevalence of age-related disorders still remains high in older populations. Intervening into aging is the next frontier in contemporary medicine and will be of increasing importance over time as other sources of poor health are combated more and more successfully. Given the universal interest in anti-aging strategies, the book will appeal to a very broad audience. It addresses a diverse range of anti-aging interventions including stem cells, autophagy, senolytics, anti-inflammatory methods, and telomerase induction that will be of interest to scientists and researchers from various disciplines.
