Aint About Silk:

The Bright Side Of My Condition Charlotte Randall, 2014-01-29 When the Captain finds us stowaways and gives us the choice between joining the island or joining the crew, all of us go to a man-of-war island. So he puts us ashore with a few provisions and a trypot and sails away. After escaping from the Norfolk Island penal colony on a sealing ship, Bloodworth and his three fellow convicts are left on a remote southern island by a captain who promises to pick them up in a year's time. It will be many years before they see another ship. During that time, four men with nothing in common but a desire to escape and a need to survive live together in cramped and freezing isolation. Slangam believes hard work will see them through. Toper puts his faith in the Divine. Gargantua leans on his learning, and Bloodworth watches both his fellow felons and the inhospitable environment. Based on the true story of four convicts who spent more than nine years on the Snares Islands in the early nineteenth century, Charlotte Randall's latest novel is a riveting, intelligent, and powerful work of fiction. Also available as an eBook. 2014 New Zealand Post Book Awards Fiction Prize finalist

Stories for Men Charles Grayson, 2011 Can the reading public imagine a less likely but more needed book than Stories for Men, a seventy-five year old anthology edited by Charles Grayson, written in an age when such a title would scarcely raise an eyebrow? Imagine a book about men in which the featured theme is not rapists, child abusers, or men who never weep, feel little sorrow, or prefer dog fighting to baseball. To say the least, this is a counter-cultural collective portrait necessary in today's politically correct world. The original editor, Charles Grayson, hit the nail on the head in his explicit opening remarks: "The only claim we make for this book is that it doesn't pretend to offer the best or the finest in the world's foremost short stories by contemporary masters. Simply, it is just a bundle of yarns by present-day American writers, each dealing with a different phase of the actions and activities of men designed for good reading." The text fulfills its mission. The work features little-known short stories by such major writers as Erskine Caldwell on racial relations, James M. Cain on murder, James T. Farrell on street life, Dashiell Hammett on men and divorce, Ring Lardner on baseball, Damon Runyon on football, William Saroyan on horseracing, Thomas Wolfe on travel, William Faulkner on foreigners, among many others. For readers interested in a slice of America, this will be a book of inestimable value as well as personal pleasure. Stories for Men will prove ideal. Index of
