Air War Over North Vietnam:

Gradual Failure: The Air War Over North Vietnam, 1965-1966 Jacob Van Staaveren, 2011-07-18 The air war against North Vietnam was launched with the nickname Rolling Thunder This book covers the first phase from March 1965 to late 1966 It begins with the planning and execution of two initial limited air strikes nicknamed Flaming Dart I and II As the air campaign gradually expanded and the permissible targeting area moved northward many in Washington believed air power could never win the war in the north The United States Air Force reached its nadir during the opening two years of the Rolling Thunder air campaign in North Vietnam Never had the Air Force operated with so many restraints and to so little effect These pages are painful but necessary reading for all who care about the nation's military power The author served as a historian for over twenty years with the Air Force history program Originally published by the Air Force History and Museums Program

Gradual failure : the air war over North Vietnam 1965-1966 Jacob Van Staaveren, 2002 Of the many facets of the American war in Southeast Asia debated by U S authorities in Washington by the military services and the public none has proved more controversial than the air war against North Vietnam The air war's inauguration with the nickname Rolling Thunder followed an eleven year American effort to induce communist North Vietnam to sign a peace treaty without openly attacking its territory Thus Rolling Thunder was a new military program in what had been a relatively low key attempt by the United States to win the war within South Vietnam against insurgent communist Viet Cong forces aided and abetted by the north The present volume covers the first phase of the Rolling Thunder campaign from March 1965 to late 1966 It begins with a description of the planning and execution of two initial limited air strikes nicknamed Flaming Dart I and II The Flaming Dart strikes were carried out against North Vietnam in February 1965 as the precursors to a regular albeit limited Rolling Thunder air program launched the following month Before proceeding with an account of Rolling Thunder its roots are traced in the events that compelled the United States to adopt an anti communist containment policy in Southeast Asia after the defeat of French forces by the communist Vietnamese in May 1954 Gradual Failure Jacob Van Staaveren, 2002

Nalty, 2000 Clashes Marshall L. Michel (III), 1997 A retired U S Air Force fighter pilot and Vietnam veteran makes full use of recently declassified U S documents in this first comprehensive study of fighter combat over North Vietnam His balanced exhaustive coverage describes and analyzes both Air Force and Navy engagements with North Vietnamese MiGs while simultaneously discussing the SAM threat and U S countermeasures laser guided bombs and U S attempts to counter the MiG threat with a variety of technologies Accessible yet professional Clashes is filled with valuable lessons that are as valid today as they were in the 1960s and 1970s Some sixty five photographs tables pie charts maps and diagrams of American and North Vietnamese formations and tactics are included Beginning with the first air to air engagements of Operation Rolling Thunder in 1965 Marshall Michel describes the initial American successes against the MiGs and the stunning turn of events in late 1967 when the North Vietnamese began shooting down more U S aircraft than they lost He explains how in 1968 at the end of Rolling Thunder the U S Air Force ignored problems with their tactics formations and missiles while the U S Navy undertook a complete reassessment of its air to air operations and formed its famous Topgun course The second part of the book covering Operation Linebacker in 1972 examines the results of these two approaches and how the Navy scored heavily against the MiGs while the Air Force continued to suffer losses to MiG 21s Michel offers extraordinary insights into events that led to this situation and the Air Force's efforts to reverse the trend This combination of descriptions of actual dogfights with authoritative analysis of the tactics pilot skills high level decision making and shortcomings more than 57 percent of U S air to air missiles malfunctioned and less than 13 percent scored a kill will prove indispensable to everyone with Problems of War Victims in Indochina United States. that anti aircraft artillery could muster to try and reclaim pole position It is that story of the tug of war between the aircraft and artillery that forms the narrative of this book as it traces the history of combat employment of anti aircraft artillery from the Korean War in effect the first Jet Age war to the War of Attrition between Arab states and Israel when the missiles came of age sending the aircraft scurrying for cover Mandeep Singh s book is the first attempt to look at the performance of anti aircraft artillery incorporating the views analyses and experiences of Soviet Arab and South Asian Armies through the major wars between 1950 and 1972      The Myth of Inevitable US Defeat in Vietnam Dale Walton,2013-01-11 This book offers a dispassionate strategic examination of the Vietnam conflict that challenges the conventional wisdom that South Vietnam could not survive as an independent non communist entity over the long term regardless of how the United States conducted its military political effort in Indochina      The American Culture of War Adrian R.
