Aircraft of the Royal Navy Since 1945 David Hobbs, 1986-01-01 Royal Navy Aircraft Since 1945 Ray Williams, 1989
Here is a complete reference of the development and operational history of each of the 44 aircraft types flown by the Royal Navy Fleet Air Arm since 1945 The British Carrier Strike Fleet after 1945 David Hobbs, 2015-10-30 A comprehensive study of the bittersweet post WWII history of British naval aviation will become a standard reference for its subject Firetrench In 1945 the most powerful fleet in the Royal Navy's history was centered on nine aircraft carriers This book charts the post war fortunes of this potent strike force its decline in the face of diminishing resources its final fall at the hands of uncomprehending politicians and its recent resurrection in the form of the Queen Elizabeth class carriers the largest ships ever built for the Royal Navy After 1945 experts prophesied that nuclear weapons would make conventional forces obsolete but British carrier borne aircraft were almost continuously employed in numerous conflicts as far apart as Korea Egypt the Persian Gulf the South Atlantic East Africa and the Far East often giving successive British Governments options when no others were available In the process the Royal Navy invented many of the techniques and devices crucial to modern carrier operations angled decks steam catapults and deck landing aids while also pioneering novel forms of warfare like helicopter borne assault and tactics for countering such modern plagues as insurgency and terrorism This book combines narratives of these poorly understood operations with a clear analysis of the strategic and political background benefiting from the author's personal experience of both carrier flying and the workings of Whitehall It is an important but largely untold story of renewed significance as Britain once again embraces carrier aviation Makes a timely and welcome appearance will make compelling reading for those with serious concern for our naval affairs St Andrews in Focus Aircraft of the Royal Navy David Hobbs, 2024-11-30 This is a comprehensive study of every aircraft type ordered for the Royal Navy since 1908 It includes fixed and rotary wing aircraft rigid and non rigid airships unmanned aircraft and pilotless target aircraft together with many designs that were ordered but not built so that the importance placed on them by the Naval Staff or their potential technological impact on carrier design and operations can be explained Every type even unsuccessful single prototypes is described the majority are illustrated by photographs many of which come from the author's own collection and the fifty most significant aircraft have detailed drawings The Australian and Canadian Fleet Air Arms operated RN aircraft types for many years after their formation and these are included together with other types they have operated subsequently to give a more complete overview The book describes over 400 different types of aircraft built by over 100 different manufacturers to offer the most detailed coverage of RN aircraft ever produced Research for the book took over forty years and reference material included Admiralty Archives and an array of material in the public domain including manufacturers data individual aircraft pilot's notes and a wealth of published sources David Hobbs is uniquely well placed to write this book having served in the RN for thirty three years and retired with the rank of Commander He flew both fixed and rotary wing aircraft and his log book contains 2300 flying hours with 807 day and night deck landings He served in seven British aircraft carriers and spent four years within RN Director General Aircraft Department where he was closely involved with Sea Harrier carrier trials and introduced new visual landing aids for night recoveries and liaised with the USN on carrier operating techniques This is his eleventh book for Seaforth Publishing The Royal Navy, 1930-2000 Richard Harding,2005 This book explores innovation within the Royal Navy from the financial constraints of the 1930s through to the refocusing of the Royal Navy after 1990

The Royal Navy Since 1945 Arthur Cecil Hampshire,1975 The Royal Navy 1930-1990 Richard Harding,2004-11-25 This new book explores innovation within the Royal Navy from the financial constraints of the 1930s to World War Two the Cold War and the refocusing of the Royal Navy after 1990 Successful adaptation to new conditions has been critical to all navies at all times The Royal Navy in the Cold War Years, 1966-1990 Edward Hampshire,2024-07-30 During the period covered by this new book the Royal Navy faced some of its greatest challenges both at sea confronting the increasingly capable and impressive Soviet Navy and on shore when it faced policy crises that threatened the survival of much of the fleet During this remarkable period the Navy had rarely been so focussed on a single theater of war the Eastern Atlantic but also rarely so politically vulnerable The author sets out to analyze shadowing operations and confrontations at sea with Soviet ships and submarines the Navy's role in the enormous NATO and Warsaw Pact naval exercises that acted out potential war scenarios individual operations from the Falklands and the 1990 91 Gulf War to the Beira and Armilla patrols the development of advanced naval technologies to counter Soviet capabilities policy making controversies as the three services fought for resources including the controversial 1981 Nott defense review and what life was like in the Cold War navy for ratings and officers The book the first to cover this subject in depth for more than thirty years will make use of the full range of archival sources that have been publicly available over the last two decades but of which little use has been made by historians This work is destined to become a definitive naval history of the period and also provide a fascinating and gripping narrative of a navy under threat from many directions but which survived and eventually prospered winning a remarkable victory in the far South Atlantic more than 7 000 miles from its expected battleground in the North Atlantic Elegantly written for a wide audience it will be a very significant volume for professional and enthusiast alike The Royal Navy and Nuclear Weapons Richard Moore,2018-12-07 This work examines British thinking about nuclear weapons in the period up to about 1970 looking at the subject through the eyes of the Royal Navy in the belief that this can offer new insights in this field The author argues that the Navy was always sceptical about nuclear weapons both on practical grounds and because of wartime and pre war experiences He suggests that this scepticism can teach us a good deal about military technological innovation in general The British Pacific Fleet Experience and Legacy, 1944-50 Jon Robb-Webb,2016-03-16 The British Pacific Fleet was formed in October 1944 and dispatched to fight alongside the USN in the Central Pacific under Admiral Nimitz Deploying previously unpublished documents this book reveals how relations between the UK and US forces developed from a starting point of barely repressed suspicion to one where both navies came to understand each other and eventually find a remarkable bond Born out of a shared experience of Kamikaze attacks extended operations against bitterly hostile shores the pooling of knowledge and experience the two navies underpinned the diplomatic moves in both Washington and London The book carries the legacy of this experience through to the next Anglo American participation in war Korea It illustrates and explains how and why certain lessons were incorporated into the composition behaviour and structure of the post war Navy It demonstrates the significance of what was learned from the USN by the RN and by USN from the RN As well as examining the background to the largest fleet the Royal Navy ever put to sea the book also charts its effects on Anglo American relations multinational operations alliance building and the ways naval forces are shaped by and in turn shape politics It addresses a period of rapid technological development that witnessed profound changes in the international system and which raised fundamental questions of what navies were for and how should they operate and organize themselves In so doing the study illustrates how the experience of a few long months at the end of the war in the Pacific would cast a long shadow over these issues in the very different circumstances of the post war world Aircraft

Carriers Norman Polmar, 2008-01-31 In the post 1945 era the aircraft carrier has remained a valued weapon despite the development of nuclear weapons cruise and ballistic missiles and highly capable submarines At times as in the early days of the Korean and Vietnam Wars and in the Falklands conflict carriers alone could deploy high performance aircraft to the battlefield In other operations such as enforcing the no fly zones and the U S invasions of Afghanistan and Iraq only carriers could provide the bases needed for sustained combat and support operations This second volume of Norman Polmar's landmark study details the role of carriers in the unification of the U S armed forces and strategic deterrence fiscally constrained Great Britain the development of British Commonwealth and ex colonial navies and the efforts of France and the Netherlands to rebuild their fleets The role of the modern carrier nine nations currently possess them is discussed as are the issues confronting nations that might acquire them Chapters on the Soviet Union's effort to produce carriers are included for the first time The development of both carrier planes and the many oddball aircraft that have flown from carriers such as the U 2 spy plane are also examined Appendixes include comprehensive data on all carriers built and converted through 2006 This volume is a valuable companion to the critically acclaimed Volume I which covers aircraft carrier development and operations from 1909 to 1945 Land Based Air Power or Aircraft Carriers? Gjert Lage Dyndal, 2016-04-22 During the 1960s in the midst of its retreat from empire the British government had to grapple with complex political and military problems in order to find a strategic defence policy that was both credible and affordable Addressing what was perhaps the most contentious issue within those debates this book charts the arguments that raged between supporters of a land based air power strategy and those who favoured aircraft carriers Drawing upon a wealth of previously classified documents the book reveals how the Admiralty and Air Ministry became interlocked in a bitter political struggle over which of their military strategies could best meet Britain's future foreign policy challenges. Whilst the broad story of this inter-service rivalry is well known, the Air Force's proposal for a series of island-based airfields and the Navy championing of a small number of expensive but mobile aircraft carriers, the complexity and previous lack of archival sources means that it has until now only ever been partially researched and understood. Former studies have largely focused on the cancellation of the CVA 01 carrier programme and offered little depth as regards the Royal Air Force perspectives. Given that this was a two-Service rivalry which greatly influenced many aspects of British foreign and defence policy decisions of the period, this book presents an important and balanced overview of the complex issues involved. Through this historical study of the British debate about maritime air power and strategic alternatives in the 1960s, the detailed arguments used for and against both alternatives demonstrate clear relevance to both historical and contemporary conceptual debates on carrier forces and land-based air power. Both from military strategy and inter-service relationship perspectives, contemporary Britain and many other nations with maritime forces may learn much from this historical case.

Air & Space Power Journal win 04, British Aircraft Carriers Robert Brown, 2024-04-18. Several pages of plan drawings are provided, and there is also a very nice section on the varied camouflage schemes carried by these ships. ModelingMadness.Com: The ShipCraft series provides in-depth information about building and modifying model kits of popular warship types. Lavishly illustrated, each book takes the modeller through a brief history of the subject, highlighting differences between ships and changes in their appearance over their careers. This includes paint schemes and camouflage featuring color profiles and highly detailed line drawings and scale plans. The modelling section reviews the strengths and weaknesses of available kits, lists commercial accessory sets for super-detailing of the subjects, and provides hints on modifying and improving the basic kit. This is followed by an extensive photographic gallery of selected high-quality models in a variety of scales, and the book concludes with a section on research references: books, monographs, large-scale plans, and relevant websites. The subject of this volume is the evolution of the Royal Navy's fleet carriers, as exemplified by those designed from the keel up for the role. Hermes was the world's first purpose-built carrier, laid down in 1918, but she was followed by a series of conversions from other types, and it was not until the mid-1930s that another was designed and built from scratch. This was the famous Ark Royal, a far larger and more capable ship, but destined to be a one-off, as the Navy switched its focus to a ship capable of surviving in the most hostile environments. This requirement produced the radically different armored carriers of the Illustrious class, arguably the toughest aviation ships of the Second World War. With its unparalleled level of visual information—paint schemes, models, line drawings, and photographs—this book is simply the best reference for any modelmaker setting out to build one of these challenging subjects.
