The Oxford Handbook of Reciprocal Adult Development and Learning Carol Hoare, 2011-09-06 One of the Best Books of 2011 from the Center for Optimal Adult Development The fields of adult development and the study of learning have traditionally been considered separate with development falling under psychology and learning under education. However, recent ideas, research, and practices that have emerged in these fields of study effectively emphasize the inherent reciprocal relationship that exists between them: advances in development frequently lead to learning, and conversely, learning almost necessarily fuels development. In this second edition of The Oxford Handbook of Reciprocal Adult Learning and Development, the synchronicity between development and learning is explored further as expert authors advance the latest theories to provide a rich foundation for this new area of study and practice for this interrelated field of study. At the border of two disciplines, this handbook focuses on the capacities of intelligence, meta-cognition, insight, self-efficacy, spirituality, interpersonal competence, wisdom, and other key adult attributes as they relate to positive changes and personal growth in adults. Contexts for development and learning, e.g., the work role and environment, are also addressed and mixed in throughout the volume, with emanating implications for research, practice, and policy. What emerges is a thoughtful handbook for all who promote optimal aging and is a must-read for academics, psychologists, and practitioners in adult development.

The Handbook of Adult Clinical Psychology Alan Carr, Muireann McNulty, 2016-03-31. The second edition of the Handbook of Adult Clinical Psychology: An Evidence-Based Practice Approach like its predecessor provides clinical psychologists in training with a comprehensive practice handbook to help build the skills necessary to complete a clinical placement in the field of adult mental health. While practical in orientation, the book is based solidly on empirical evidence. Building on the success of the previous edition, this handbook has been extensively revised in a number of ways. Throughout the book, the text, references, and website addresses have been updated to reflect important developments since the publication of the first edition. Recent research findings on the epidemiology, aetiology, course, outcome, assessment, and treatment of all psychological problems considered in this volume have been incorporated into the text. Account has been taken of changes in the diagnosis and classification of psychological problems reflected in the DSM-5. Chapters on ADHD in adults, emotion-focused therapy, radically open dialectical behaviour therapy, and schema therapy have been added. The book is divided into 6 sections. Section 1 covers conceptual frameworks for practice, lifespan development, classification, and epidemiology; CBT, psychodynamic, emotion-focused, systemic, and bio-medical models; and general assessment procedures. Section 2 deals with mood problems: depression, bipolar disorder, suicide risk, and anger management. Section 3 focuses on anxiety problems: social phobia, generalized anxiety disorder, panic disorder, obsessive-compulsive disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder, and depersonalization disorder. Section 4 deals with psychological problems linked to physical health: health anxiety, somatization, chronic pain, adjustment to cancer, and eating disorders. Section 5 focuses on other significant psychological problems that come to the attention of clinical psychologists in adult mental health services: ADHD in adults, alcohol and other drug problems, psychosis, and psychological problems in older adults. Section 6 contains chapters on therapeutic approaches to psychological distress related to complex childhood trauma, dialectical behaviour therapy for borderline personality disorder, racially open dialectical behaviour for over controlled presentations and schema therapy Each of the chapters on clinical problems explains how to assess and treat the condition in an evidence based way with reference to case material Interventions from cognitive behavioural psychodynamic interpersonal systemic and biomedical approaches are described where there is evidence that they are effective for the problem in question Skill building exercises and further reading for psychologists and patients are included at the end of each chapter This book is one of a set of three volumes which cover the lion s share of the curriculum for clinical psychologists in training in the UK and Ireland The other two volumes are the Handbook of Child and Adolescent Clinical Psychology Third Edition by Alan Carr and the Handbook of Intellectual Disability and Clinical Psychology Practice Second Edition edited by Alan Carr Christine Linehan Gary O Reilly Patricia Noonan Walsh John McEvoy Gerontological Nursing Kristen Mauk,2010-10-25 Gerontological Nursing Competencies for Care Second Edition is a comprehensive and student accessible text that offers a holistic and inter disciplinary approach to caring for the elderly The framework for the text is built around the Core Competencies set forth by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing AACN and the John A Hartford Foundation Institute for Geriatric Nursing Building upon their knowledge in prior medical surgical courses this text gives students the skills and theory needed to provide outstanding care for the growing elderly population It is the first of its kind to have more than 40 contributing authors from many different disciplines Some of the key features include chapter outlines learning objectives discussion questions personal reflection boxes and case studies The Oxford Handbook of Cognitive Psychology Daniel Reisberg,2013-04-04 This handbook is an essential comprehensive resource for students and academics interested in topics in cognitive psychology including perceptual issues attention memory knowledge representation language emotional influences judgment problem solving and the study of individual differences in cognition The Oxford Handbook of Positive Psychology C.
