Aging With A Disability:

Aging with a Disability Bryan J. Kemp, Laura Mosqueda, 2004-06-15 With advances in medical care technology and rehabilitation people with disabilities are now living longer Many in fact have near average life expectancies Research has shown however that the changes and problems associated with aging often occur 10 20 years earlier in the lives of people with disabilities than in the lives of people without disabilities These changes pose significant challenges for health care professionals Because research in this field is relatively recent few practitioners and students are aware of these findings Aging with a Disability provides clinicians with a complete guide to the care and treatment of persons aging with a disability Divided into five parts this book first addresses the perspective of the person with a disability and his or her family Chapters in the second section address the physiological and functional changes people will face as they grow older and how these changes may affect quality of life and caregiver requirements In the third part contributors discuss treatment considerations such as maintaining employment and managing pain and fatigue The book's fourth section focuses on specific conditions spinal cord injury polio cerebral palsy and developmental disabilities such as mental retardation In the concluding section the authors present research needs and discuss policy issues for future consideration Paying special attention to the feelings attitudes and needs of people with disabilities three chapters are written by authors who have a disability Aging with a Disability gives students and clinicians a reliable and compassionate handbook for the treatment of this growing population

Aging with a Disability Roberta B. Trieschmann, 1987 Aging and Disability, 2018 Many different groups of people are subject to stereotypes Positive stereotypes e g older and wiser may provide a benefit to the relevant groups However negative stereotypes of aging and of disability continue to persist and in some cases remain socially acceptable Research has shown that when exposed to negative images of aging older persons demonstrate poor physical and cognitive performance and function while those who are exposed to positive images of aging or who have positive self perceptions of aging demonstrate better performance and function Furthermore an individual's expectations about and perceptions of aging can predict future health outcomes To better understand how stereotypes affect older adults and individuals with disabilities the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine with support from AARP convened a public workshop on October 10 2017 This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop Publisher's description The Aging-Disability Nexus Katie Aubrecht, Christine Kelly, Carla Rice, 2020-06-01 As the global population ages disability demographics are shifting Societal transformation and global health inequities have changed who is likely to reach old age who is likely to live with disability and the relationship between aging and disability in various socio cultural and geopolitical contexts The Aging Disability Nexus breaks new ground by bringing gerontology and disability studies into dialogue with each other through a variety of empirical conceptual and pedagogical approaches Contributors explore the tensions that shape the way disability and aging are understood experienced and responded to at both individual and systemic levels while avoiding the common tendency to conflate these overlapping elements and map them onto a normative faulty notion of the human life trajectory This perceptive work analyzes the distinction between aging with a disability and aging into disability and reveals how multiple identities socio economic forces culture and community give form to our experiences Handbook on Ageing with Disability Michelle Putnam,Christine Bigby,2021-03-10 Mainstream gerontological scholarship has taken little heed of people ageing with disability and they have also been largely overlooked by both disability and ageing policies and service systems The Handbook on Ageing with Disability is the first to pull together knowledge about the experience of ageing with disability It provides a broad look at scholarship in this developing field and across different groups of people with disability in order to form a better understanding of commonalities across groups and identify unique facets of ageing within specific groups Drawing from academic personal and clinical perspectives the chapters address topics stemming from how the ageing with disability experience is framed the heterogeneity of the population ageing with disability and the disability experience issues of social exclusion health and wellness frailty later life and policy contexts for ageing with disability in various countries Responding to the need to increase access to knowledge in this field the Handbook provides guideposts for researchers practitioners and policy makers about what matters in providing services developing programmes and implementing policies that support persons ageing with long term disabilities and their families Ageing, Disability and Independence William C. Mann,2008 This book includes 15 full length papers submitted for the Fourth International Conference on Aging Disability and Independence ICADI These papers reflect five ICADI tracks Livable Homes and Communities Smart Homes and Robotics Transportation Work Assistive Technology and one ICADI theme Consumer Perspective The major focus of this publication is on aging and disability related services research development and policy bringing together a rich mix of motivated and talented individuals multi disciplinary and engaged in different sectors and types of organizations who ultimately impact these services Further the aim is to provide the opportunity to learn more about the successes challenges and different approaches to the independence related needs of elders in different countries This book is of interest to research and development personnel practitioners service providers policymakers business representatives consumers professional and graduate students Ageing, Disability, and Spirituality Elizabeth MacKinlay,2008 This collection examines theological and ethical issues of ageing disability and spirituality with an emphasis on how ageing affects people who have mental health and developmental disabilities The book presents ways of moving towards more effective relationships between carers and older people with disabilities ways in which to connect compassionately and beneficially with the person s spiritual dimension The contributors highlight the importance of recognizing the personhood of all people regardless of age and of disability whatever form it takes They identify factors inherent in personhood and provide ways of affirming and promoting spiritual well being for older people with disabilities Valuable reading for practitioners in aged care healthcare chaplaincy social and pastoral care and diversional therapists this book will also be of interest to older people their families and friends Public Health Perspectives on Disability Donald J. Lollar, Elena M. Andresen, 2010-11-08 Traditionally the public health viewpoint on disability was geared toward primary prevention of disabling conditions or events More recently with the movement for disability rights and the emergence of disability studies the challenge to the field has been to promote positive health outcomes in this underserved community Such a change in public health culture must start at the educational level yet training programs have generally been slow in integrating this perspective with its potential for enriching the field into their curricula Public Health Perspectives on Disability meets this challenge with an educational framework for rethinking disability in public health study and practice and for attaining the competencies that should accompany this knowledge This reference balances history and epidemiology scientific advances advocacy and policy issues real world insights and progressive recommendations suiting it especially to disability focused courses or to add disability related content to existing public health programs Each chapter applies awareness and understanding of disabled persons experience to one of the core curriculum areas including Health services administration Environmental health science and occupational health Health law and ethics The school as physical setting Maternal child and family health Disasters and disability In Public Health Perspectives on Disability faculty researchers administrators and students in graduate schools of public health throughout the U S will find a worthy classroom text and a robust source of welcome and much needed change The Engineering Handbook of Smart Technology for Aging, Disability, and Independence Abdelsalam Helal, Mounir Mokhtari, Bessam Abdulrazak, 2008-08-20 An advanced look at smart technology to promote the independence of the elderly and disabled Ongoing research and advancements in technology are essential for the continuing independence of elderly and disabled persons The Engineering Handbook of Smart Technology for Aging Disability and Independence provides a thorough analysis of these technologies and the needs of the elderly and disabled including a breakdown of demographics government spending growth rate and much more Each chapter is written by an expert in his or her respective field and gives readers unparalleled insight into the research and developments in a multitude of important areas including User need analyses classifications and policies Assistive devices and systems for people with motor disabilities Assistive devices and systems for people with visual and hearing impairments Human machine interaction and virtual reality Assistive robotics Technology for user mobility and object manipulation Smart homes as assistant environments A discussion of emerging standards and guidelines to build accessible devices tools and environments This book is an indispensable resource for researchers and professionals in computer science rehabilitation science and clinical engineering It also serves as a valuable textbook for graduate students in the aforementioned fields Aging Among Women with Disabilities Faith Kamau, 2013-12-04 Document from the year 2009 in the subject Nursing Science Miscellaneous grade B The University of Texas at Austin language English abstract No matter how much I was admired by others or by myself there was still much more I had to face My Polio and My Accident were not just my past they were part of my present and my future Zola 1982 p 84 There are 53.9 million Americans with a disability 28.6 million are women and their numbers are increasing Gerschick 2000 The increase is partly due to a longer lifespan for persons with disabilities which is most pronounced among those aging with a disability since childhood Campbell Campbell Sheets Harrison Stuijbergen 2001 Women with disabilities experience high rates of poverty negative stereotypes high rates of institutionalization G Frank 2000 and increased secondary conditions and co morbidities with aging Harrison Stuijbergen 2001 These problems are costly to the individual the family and society The health risks associated with aging with a disability have prompted the U S Department of Health and Human Services to include the removal of health disparities amongst people with disabilities as one of its 2010 goals which follows the goal to remove the disparities associated with gender U S DHHS 2000 The research available on aging and disability in women has focused primarily upon aging as a process of biological decline There is little understanding of the
