Agricultural Extension A Step Beyond The Next Step:

Agricultural Extension Charles Ameer, Banco Mundial, 1994 Agricultural Extension Charles Ameer, 1994-01-01
Recommends the adoption of multiple strategies for agricultural extension and a flexible attitude by governments in addressing the issue Agriculture contributes significantly to the growth of many developing countries Its development is closely linked to several key interrelated factors such as infrastructure research extension farm inputs rural credit price policies and marketing This paper examines agricultural extension within this context drawing on a variety of ongoing cases throughout the world The author stresses the need for governments to define a specific strategy for extension and to re examine the role of the public sector Agricultural Extension Systems B.S. Hansra (ed.), 2008 Papers presented at the National Seminar on Alternative Extension Approaches in Technology Transfer held at Trivandrum during 21 22 February 2004 Agricultural Extension Raj Saravanan, R. Saravanan, 2008 Agricultural extension is in a great transition worldwide The demand for public extension reform is greater than ever before The agriculture knowledge infrastructure is evolving in a big way with the emergence of pluralistic extension actors and innovations to cater the needs of the farmer This book is an attempt to document the past experiences and recent developments in the agriculture knowledge information systems The compilation of 14 country s such as Afghanistan Benin Cote d Ivoire Ghana India Iran Mozambique Nepal Peru Philippines Trinidad and Tobago and Zimbabwe is intended to document the experience of extension systems The fourteen country s highlight the worldwide agricultural extension reform measures Decentralization Privatization Demand driven and Cost recovery approaches Institutional Pluralism Public Private and NGOs and Innovations Farmer to Farmer extension Participatory and Self Help Group SHG approaches and ICT initiatives The agricultural extension students academicians scientist practitioners administrators and policy makers will find this compilation of extension experiences from the fourteen countries relevant for designing future reforms advancing pluralistic extension system and also to integrating innovations in their extension approaches Agricultural extension in Central Asia: existing strategies and future needs Kazbekov, Jusipbek, Qureshi, Asad Sarwar, 2011-12-19 Agriculture is at the forefront of the development objectives of the republics of Central Asia CA Since independence in 1991 these countries have undergone transitions from being centrally planned economies to market oriented systems which did not include the creation of agricultural extension systems This paper provides information on the current status of the agricultural extension systems in CA with special reference to Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan and Uzbekistan We reviewed the existing extension strategies donor and state driven initiatives to revitalize the agricultural extension systems informal linkages that nongovernmental organizations play in helping a limited number of farmers and provided recommendations on ways to further improve the agricultural extension services in CA The information related to each country was analyzed separately This is because after independence each republic in CA had initiated their agricultural reforms with specific objectives and has now established their unique agricultural systems that differ contextually However due to having the same history and agricultural system that existed during the Soviet times we tried to give a historical perspective to the unified agricultural extension system that existed before independence Concepts and Practices in Agricultural Extension in Developing Countries ,2008-01-01 Agricultural Extension Gershon Feder,Anthony Willett,Willem Zijp,1999 The Cost and Performance of Paid Agricultural Extension Services Ariel Dinar,Gabriel Keynan,1998 Knowledge Generation and Technical Change Steven Wolf,David Zilberman,2012-12-06 Knowledge generation and transfer mechanisms are being transformed in important and controversial ways Investment in research and development has increased in response to recognition that scientific productivity is tightly connected to economic dynamism Patent protection has been expanded in order to stimulate higher levels of private investment Intellectual property rights held by public organizations and researchers are now increasingly transferred to private organizations to accelerate the diffusion and enhance the value of knowledge produced by public agencies and universities Additionally new institutions such as university offices of technology transfer venture capital markets and a variety of consortia in knowledge intensive industries are being established throughout the United States and in other parts of the world These changes have led to a repositioning of the state in systems of innovation and an increase in the proprietary character of technical information The purpose of this book is to review and analyze i contemporary transitions in agricultural knowledge generation and extension arrangements from an empirical perspective and ii emerging and contradictory perspectives as to how knowledge systems can be assessed effectively The authors aim to provide the reader with a better understanding of the implications of new biotechnologies and new intellectual property rights regimes on public private relations in science the extent to which benefits from scientific knowledge are being appropriated by private sector actors the diversity and possible outcomes of privatization initiatives in extension and prospects for public goods production and ecological sustainability given contemporary trends The book presents contrasting views on the degree of complementarity and substitution between private and public sector investments in research and extension Recognizing that the labels public and private are incomplete and at times misleading descriptions of the structure and function of coordinating bodies in social systems the analyses highlight ways in which public and private spaces and modes of functioning combine In addition to illustrating a broad range of analytic methodologies useful for studying organizational questions in knowledge systems the authors identify the implications of a range of past and potential institutional innovations

Public and Private Agricultural Extension Dina Umali-Deininger,Lisa A. Schwartz,1994-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper 236 Agricultural support services play an important role in increasing agricultural productivity Given the importance of agriculture to developing countries governments have taken the lead in providing such services Cotton Production Prospects for the Next Decade ,1995-01-01 Studies of Economies in Transformation No 19 Provides comprehensive data for evaluating market reforms in the states of the former Soviet Union This is the fourth annual compilation of statistical data on the rapidly evolving economies of the former Soviet Union FSU It is an indispensable reference providing even more comprehensive data than the 1994 handbook for evaluating market reforms in the FSU It converts economic data used by socialist systems to the market based system of national accounts and incorporates new national currencies in the data The volume contains both English and Russian versions of the text Decisionmakers have easy access to key statistics on the 15 independent states through the handbook s comparative tables which provide cross country data arranged by subject Topics include production rates human resources and external trade Country tables give detailed information on essential statistical indicators such as public finance monetary statistics employment and labor Technical notes and a detailed annex give helpful background information on the statistics A complete bibliography is provided

Technologies for Rainfed Agriculture in Mediterranean Climates Peter Oram,C. de Haan,1995-01-01 This report describes the results of a survey of 1 000 multinational corporations undertaken in 1992 which asked about the importance of environmental issues in investment decisions The survey shows that most large corporations look systematically at environmental questions when they decide where to invest Environmental problems appear to have discouraged a number of investments across different industries and the question of liability for past pollution problems at industrial sites was the greatest concern for investors
