

Agriculture Industry Feeling The Economic Instability :The Impact of COVID-19

This template covers the impact of coronavirus causing economic instability in agricultural sector such as The affected labour force in agricultural farms, raw material supply and Demand supply volatility

- Globally, the food and beverage industry is expected to experience the differential effect of this rapid spread of COVID-19 on each part of the value chain across the mediums of the affected industrial workforce, the availability of raw materials (agricultural goods, food ingredients, intermediate food items), trade & logistics, uncertainty in demand and volatile customer demand for food services.
- Production, distribution and inventory levels across the food & beverage spectrum should be affected.

Raw Material Supply: Agriculture & Livestock Industries

- Agricultural products, which form the main raw material for subsequent stages in the food supply chain, may become a possible source of food and beverage industry bottlenecks.
- Australia, which imports the necessary agrochemicals and crop defence products from China on a wide scale. China is home to a significant number of large-scale manufacturers representing around 35-50% of global agrochemical production.

Demand supply Volatility: Food Manufacturers, Processors, Food Retail & Service Outlets

- While food and beverage manufacturers and processors are more likely to be affected by the labour and raw material shortage required in the production process.
- For food stores, the challenge would be to address the possibility of consumers having an irregular buying and, in contrast, also to assess the possibility of stockpiling food & beverage products to ensure continuity of consumer access to the products they intend to buy.

Workforce

- The affected labour force in agricultural farms, food & beverage production & processing plants, and supply chain are analysed to face the risk of supporting the COVID-19 outbreak, the communication of which may occur during various coordination activities.

Moss, Gordon C. Rausser, Andrew Schmitz, Timothy G. Taylor, David Zilberman, 2012-12-06 The relative prosperity in U S agriculture that attended the passage of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 was followed by a general decline in U S agricultural prices from 1998 to 2000 This trend in declining prices continues through the year 2001 despite the movement toward more liberalized agricultural trade Trade liberalization has been the result of a variety of factors including the implementation of the Uruguay Round Agreement and the establishment of a variety of regional trade agreements such as the North America Free Trade Agreement Needless to say in the face of falling agricultural prices and increasingly liberalized agricultural trade the agricultural policy scene is an extremely complex one both locally and globally The chapters in this volume look to understand this complexity by addressing the interaction between trade the economic well being of the farm sector and the possibilities for future policy reform The chapters collected here explore a number of different issues including the operation of the tariff rate quotas established under the Uruguay Round Agreement the implications of sanitary and phytosanitary restrictions on trade and the growing controversy over genetically modified organisms In addition several chapters analyze the interaction between agricultural trade and environmental concerns
