Androgynous Objects String Bags And Gender In Central New Guinea:

Androgynous Objects Maureen A. MacKenzie,1998 Androgynous Objects explores the way meaning is encoded in material culture by focusing on the androgynous symbolism of the looped string bag or bilum of the Telefol people of Central New Guinea The web of meanings woven into the bag is shown to extend beyond women s lives and bodies It is open to manipulation and reformation in a variety of contexts and is used by both Telefol women and men to explore and so explain the complexities and ambiguities inherent in their social life

Androgynous Objects Maureen Anne MacKenzie,1991 This book explores the way meaning is encoded in material culture by focusing on the androgynous symbolism of the looped string bag or bilum of the Telefol people of Central New Guinea The web of meanings woven into the bag is shown to extend beyond women s lives and bodies It is open to manipulation and reformation in a variety of contexts and is used by both Telefol women and men to explore and so explain the complexities and ambiguities inherent in their social life

Savage Money C.A. Gregory,2005-08-02 This volume is not simply another general theory of world system It is a theoretically and ethnographically informed collection of essays which opens up new questions through an examination of concrete cases covering global and local questions of political economy

The Magical Body Richard Eves,2014-01-09 An intriguing exploration of the role and significance of the body in the world of a Pacific Islands People the Lelet of New Ireland Papua New Guinea In vivid ethnographic detail the monograph captures the fluidity and complexity of Lelet conceptions of corporeality and their significance to identity as they encounter the influences of modernity in the form of colonialism Christianity and cash cropping The author examines the importance of the body to constructions of identity and difference and its role in the constitution of place and space The book provides a richly detailed ethnographic study of magical belief and the body whilst paying particular attention to the polyvalent meanings of bodily images and metaphors as they are used in numerous contexts of magic

The Hard People Patrick Heady,2013-12-19 Heady draws on both participant observation and interviews with older informants to trace the effects of recent exogenous technological and institutional changes and the way local people have responded to them His findings relate to such themes of recent history as nationalism regionalism and anti clericalism and contribute to the theoretical debate on the relevance of structuralist anthropology to European societies

Dresden Elizabeth A. Ten Dyke,2014-05-22 The collapse of the German Democratic Republic prompted the East Germans to confront their personal cultural and international past This study of the Wende the turn of events in 1989 is based on ethnographic and anthropological research conducted in the early 1990s Liz Ten Dyke has developed a finely nuanced portrait of the city and its residents as they were caught up in the economic political and social turmoil that characterized the immediate post socialist period By weaving together scholarly research oral history and ethnographic excursions or narratives of salient experiences this book makes an important contribution to the study of social aspects of the past Moving beyond paradigms presently shaping the study of memory it details the paradoxes and contradictions inherent in remembering making manifest the link between such contradictions and larger symbolic and political economic contexts In this way the author situates the study of memory in history and shows that it is the mutability of memory in conjunction with the uncertainty of history that render the past a dynamic and powerful force in human society     Pattern and Process in Cultural Evolution Stephen Shennan,2009-03-31 This volume offers an integrative approach to the application of evolutionary theory in studies of cultural transmission and social evolution and reveals the enormous range of ways in which Darwinian ideas can lead to productive empirical research the touchstone of any worthwhile theoretical perspective While many recent works on cultural evolution adopt a specific theoretical framework such as dual inheritance theory or human behavioral ecology Pattern and Process in Cultural Evolution emphasizes empirical analysis and includes authors who employ a range of backgrounds and methods to address aspects of culture from an evolutionary perspective Editor Stephen Shennan has assembled archaeologists evolutionary theorists and ethnographers whose essays cover a broad range of time periods localities cultural groups and artifacts     Companion Encyclopedia of Anthropology Tim Ingold,2002-09-11 Provides a comprehensive survey of contemporary thinking in biological social and cultural anthropology and establishes the interconnections between these three fields Useful cross references within the text with full biographical references and suggestions for further reading Carefully illustrated with line drawings and photographs The Companion Encyclopedia of Anthropology is a welcome addition to the reference literature Bringing together authoritative incisive and scrupulously edited contributions from some three dozen authors The book achieves an impressive breadth of coverage of specialist areas Times Higher Educational Supplement Recommended for all anthropology collections especially those in academic libraries Library Journal This is a marvellous book and I am very happy to recommend it Reference Reviews     Continuum Encyclopedia of Native Art Hope B. Werness,2003-01-01 This lavishly produced volume is the first reference work to focus on the symbols meaning and significance of art in native or indigenous cultures     Archaeology of Identity Margarita Diaz-Andreu,Sam Lucy,2007-05-07 Bringing together a wealth of scholarship which provides a unique integrated approach to identity The Archaeology of Identity presents an overview of the five key areas which have recently emerged in archaeological social theory gender age ethnicity religion status This excellent book reviews the research history of each areas the different ways in which each has been investigated and offers new avenues for research and exploring the connections between them Emphasis is placed on exploring the ways in which material culture structures and is structured by these aspects of individual and communal identity with a particular examination of social practice Useful for social scientists in sociology anthropology and history under and postgraduates will find this an excellent addition to their course studies     Designing Experimental Research in Archaeology Jeffrey R. Ferguson,2010-05-15 Designing Experimental Research in Archaeology is a guide for the design of archaeological experiments for both students and scholars Experimental archaeology provides a unique opportunity to corroborate conclusions with multiple trials of repeatable experiments and can provide data otherwise unavailable to archaeologists without damaging sites remains or artifacts Each chapter addresses a particular classification of material culture ceramics stone tools perishable materials composite hunting technology butchering practices and bone tools and experimental zooarchaeology detailing issues that must be considered in the development of experimental archaeology projects and discussing potential pitfalls The experiments follow coherent and consistent research designs and procedures and are placed in a theoretical context and contributors outline methods that will serve as a guide in future experiments This degree of standardization is uncommon in traditional archaeological research but is essential to experimental archaeology The field has long been in need of a guide that focuses on methodology and design This book fills that need not only for undergraduate and graduate students but for any archaeologist looking to begin an experimental research project

The Perception of the Environment Tim Ingold, 2021-11-29 In this work Tim Ingold offers a persuasive new approach to understanding how human beings perceive their surroundings He argues that what we are used to calling cultural variation consists in the first place of variations in skill Neither innate nor acquired skills are grown incorporated into the human organism through practice and training in an environment They are thus as much biological as cultural To account for the generation of skills we have therefore to understand the dynamics of development And this in turn calls for an ecological approach that situates practitioners in the context of an active engagement with the constituents of their surroundings The twenty three essays comprising this book focus in turn on the procurement of livelihood on what it means to dwell and on the nature of skill weaving together approaches from social anthropology ecological psychology developmental biology and phenomenology in a way that has never been attempted before The book is set to revolutionise the way we think about what is biological and cultural in humans about evolution and history and indeed about what it means for human beings at once organisms and persons to inhabit an environment The Perception of the Environment will be essential reading not only for anthropologists but also for biologists psychologists archaeologists geographers and philosophers This edition includes a new Preface by the author

Memory and Agency in Ancient China Francis Allard, Yan Sun, Kathryn M. Linduff, 2018-12-20 Applies the life history of objects approach to China's prehistoric early dynastic and more recent material culture

Anthropological Perspectives on Technology Michael B. Schiffer, 2001 These fourteen original essays accept a dual premise technology pervades and is embedded in all human activities By taking that approach studies of technology address two questions central in anthropological and archaeological research today accounting for variability and change These diverse yet interrelated chapters show that to understand human lives researchers must deal with the material world that all peoples create and inhabit Therefore an anthropology of technology is not a separate discrete inquiry instead it is a way to connect how people make and use things to any activity studied ranging from religion to enculturation to communication to art Each contributor discusses theories and methods and also offers a substantial case study These detailed inquiries span human societies from the Paleolithic to the computer age By moving beyond the usual approach of examining ancient technologies particularly chipped stone and low fired ceramics this volume probes for the construction of meaning in the material world across millennia The authors of these essays find technology to be an inclusive and flexible topic that merges with studies of everything else in human activity A provocative and powerful discussion of the role of technology in human cultures At a time when archaeology has become less focused on theory and archaeology and social anthropology seem to fracture farther and farther apart the book is a breath of fresh air Professor John Douglas University of Montana

Hunter-Gatherers

Catherine Panter-Brick, Robert H. Layton, P. Rowley-Conwy, Peter Rowley-Conwy, 2001-03-29

This 2001 volume is an interdisciplinary text on hunter gatherer populations world wide Maguey Journey Kathryn Rousso, 2010-12-15 The name maguey refers to various forms of the agave and furcraea genus also sometimes called the century plant The fibers extracted from the leaves of these plants are spun into fine cordage and worked with a variety of tools and techniques to create textiles from net bags and hammocks to equestrian gear In this fascinating book Kathryn Rousso an accomplished textile artist takes a detailed look at the state of maguey culture use and trade in Guatemala She has spent years traveling in Guatemala highlighting maguey workers interactions in many locations and blending historical and current facts to describe their environments Along the way Rousso has learned the process of turning a raw leaf into beautiful and useful textile products and how globalization and modernization are transforming the maguey trade in Guatemala Featuring a section of full color illustrations that follow the process from plant to weaving to product Maguey Journey presents the story of this fiber over recent decades through the travels of an impassioned artist Useful to cultural anthropologists ethnobotanists fiber artists and interested travelers alike this book offers a snapshot of how the industry stands now and seeks to honor those who keep the art alive in Guatemala

By Weapons Made Worthy

Jos Bazelmans, 1999 In this book Jos Bazelmans offers a new perspective on the relationship between lord and retainer in early medieval society This perspective goes beyond established politico economic interpretations and aims for an interpretation of this relationship in ritual cosmological terms Drawing on recent developments within French structuralist anthropology and the anthropology of gift exchange Bazelmans develops a new model of early medieval socio political structure as represented in Old English Beowulf which explicitly deals with exchange relations between the living and the supernatural the commensurability of subject and object in gift exchange and the whole set of interdependent life cycle rituals of lords and their warrior followers The value of gifts is considered to be determined not only by their function within a competitive game about prestige status and power but also by its equivalence with a constituent The value of the gift is fundamental to the noble person and develops through a man's life time It is ultimately of a supernatural origin The model enables us to understand certain acts at Beowulf's funeral pyre which at first sight appear to be no more than an ethnographic curiosity Beowulf 3111b 3114a The warrior's contributions to his pyre form the concluding part of a grand ritual undertaking in which society as a whole is involved and in which the constitution of the noble person and the disarticulation of that person at his death is realized This ritual undertaking goes beyond the politico economic concerns of the participants which are central to established power based models of early medieval societal structure The volume includes an extensive overview of the anthropology of gift exchange

World Textiles Mary Schoeser, 2022-10-06 The history of textiles more than that of any other artefact is a history of human ingenuity From the very earliest needles of 50 000 years ago to the smart textiles of today textiles have been fundamental to human existence and enjoyed prized and valued by every culture Silks from China cottons from India tapestries from Flanders dyes from South America the appeal of different weaves colours and patterns was long a motivation for trade the exchange of ideas and sometimes even war Mary Schoesers groundbreaking book now revised and updated to incorporate new research presents a chronological survey of textiles around the world from prehistory to the present It explores how they are made what they are made from how they function in society and the ways in which they are valued and given meaning as well as reflecting on the environmental challenges they present today World Textiles offers an invaluable introduction to this vast and fascinating subject for makers designers textile and fashion professionals collectors and students alike

Tradition and Christianity Ben Burt, 2021-09-01 Burt studies the effects of the 19th century labour trade colonial subjugation and the subsequent Christian conversion He examines the anti colonial Maasina Rule movement of the 1940s and finally illustrates the subsequent efforts of Kwara ae leaders to regain their self determination and to reaffirm the values of tradition under Christianity The Kwara ae example of colonialism and Christianity is part of the broader experience of Melanesia and of other peoples in the Third World who once lived a tribal life The detailed local focus based on a year of fieldwork provides valuable evidence essential to a wider comparative analysis of colonial history and the continuing development of indigenous Christianity from an anthropological and a historical perspective Tradition and Christianity explores how and why a Pacific Islands people fiercely attached to the tradition of their ancestors have transformed their society by changing their religion
