Letter From the Publisher

ON February 5, I will tell you that I wanted to get "a whole bunch" of amazing women to pose for a photo on our cover. I wanted to feel like I was at "a community event" or "a little women group" (sounds a suspiciously company, I wanted to be surrounded by other women who had shared in something more. I wanted making a mental list, and I thought that if we could even just get 50 of them to pose for a photo, that would be incredible. Maybe other women would see that their mothers' names and shared story while they held their future and be inspired.

On February 5, we will at a small that would take on a life of its own. We invited 100 women and on February 10, something. We wanted to see how many women would show up and how to the "Women at the Helm" in women's voices, and dropped everything to be in the room. Some of the women were to have a photo taken and with a new part of their story. Many had just to know why they were there and had never heard of Annapolis Moms Media, but they were anyway, and the energy was palpable. There was excited laughter, some tears, and an overwhelming positive "I'm in the mix. We share their world with you today."

A special thank you goes to the Annapolis Moms Media team. This was a team! We could have pulled this off without the incredible efforts of our volunteers led by Sarah Ayers, Amy Bunkley, Samantha Collins, Megan Hall, Lisa Truitt, Michaela Lee, Melissa Schaff, Emily Rose, Meredith Moore, Maria Moore and our "Mother of the Year" (Tanya Bunkley, mother of all Presidents) provided the most amazing coffee that lasted us all day. This project could not have happened without them! (Annapolis Moms Media Photography and Co. "Stylers of the Annapolis Media. If you need the best for a project of this magnitude, there are great people, and their work beautifully together. This was a major production and without the incredible team, it would not have happened.

This photo is, by no means, a complete group. There are thousands of local women who deserve to be celebrated and who deserve a public voice. But this was the beginning of a movement... and we are just getting started building more connections and uplifting so many voices and local businesses in our area!

"What would I tell my younger self?" That was one of the questions we asked the women leading our first event to answer. I would tell my younger self, "You are not too much. Be confident, always. You come with incredible ideas and realize it is sometimes hard to harness enough energy to fight a small city. There are those who will be excited to watch you fail, and others who will show you around help you achieve your goals. Ignore the doubters and embrace your love of supporters."

I hope you feel inspired to take risks and feel empowered. There's no off of you, the Women of The Helm, who are here every day!
