Arts And Architecture:

Architecture as a Performing Art Marcia Feuerstein, Gray Read, 2016-04-15 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design

Architecture of the Arts and Crafts Movement Peter Davey, 1980

The Art-Architecture Complex Hal Foster, 2013-07-02 Hal Foster author of the acclaimed Design and Crime argues that a fusion of architecture and art is a defining feature of contemporary culture He identifies a global style of architecture as practiced by Norman Foster Richard Rogers and Renzo Piano analogous to the international style of Le Corbusier Gropius and Mies More than any art today's global style conveys both the dreams and delusions of modernity Foster demonstrates that a study of the art architecture complex provides invaluable insight into broader social and economic trajectories in urgent need of analysis

Chinese Architecture and the Beaux-Arts Jeffrey W. Cody, Nancy Shatzman Steinhardt, Tony Atkin, 2011-01-31 In the early twentieth century Chinese traditional architecture and the French derived methods of the cole des Beaux Arts converged in the United States when Chinese students were given scholarships to train as architects at American universities whose design curricula were dominated by Beaux Arts methods Upon their return home in the 1920s and 1930s these graduates began to practice architecture and create China's first architectural schools often transferring a version of what they had learned in the U S to Chinese situations The resulting complex series of design related transplantations had major implications for China between 1911 and 1949 as it simultaneously underwent cataclysmic social economic and political changes After 1949 and the founding of the People's Republic China experienced a radically different wave of influence from the Beaux Arts through advisors from the Soviet Union who first under Stalin and later Khrushchev brought Beaux Arts ideals in the guise of socialist progress In the early twenty first century China is still feeling the effects of these events Chinese Architecture and the Beaux Arts examines the coalescing of the two major architectural systems placing significant shifts in architectural theory and practice in China within relevant contemporary cultural and educational contexts Fifteen major scholars from around the world analyze and synthesize these crucial events to shed light on the dramatic architectural and urban changes occurring in China today many of which have global ramifications This stimulating and generously illustrated work is divided into three sections framed by an introduction and a postscript The first focuses on the convergence of Chinese architecture and the cole des Beaux Arts outlining the salient aspects of each and suggesting how and why the two met in the U S The second section centers on the question of how Chinese architects were influenced by the Beaux Arts and how Chinese architecture was changed as a result The third takes an even closer look at the Beaux Arts influence addressing how innovative practices new schools of architecture and buildings whose designs were linked to Beaux Arts assumptions led to distinctive new paradigms that were rooted in a changing China By virtue of its scope scale and scholarship this volume promises to become a classic in the fields of Chinese and Western architectural history Contributors Tony Atkin Peter J Carroll Yung Ho Chang Jeffrey W Cody Kerry Sizheng Fan Fu Chao Ching Gu Daqing Seng Kuan Delin Lai Xing Ruan Joseph Rykwert Nancy S Steinhardt David VanZanten Rudolf Wagner Zhang Jie Zhao Chen Architecturally Speaking Alan Read, 2002-03-11 Architecturally Speaking is an international collection of essays by leading architects artists and theorists of locality and space Together these essays build to reflect not only what it might mean to speak architecturally but also the innate relations between the artist's and architect's work how they are distinct and in inspiring ways how they might relate through questions of built form This book will appeal to urbanists geographers artists architects cultural historians and theorists Warped Space Anthony Vidler, 2002-02-22 How psychological ideas of space have profoundly affected architectural and artistic expression in the twentieth century Beginning with agoraphobia and claustrophobia in the late nineteenth century followed by shell shock and panic fear after World War I phobias and anxiety came to be seen as the mental condition of modern life They became incorporated into the media and arts in particular the spatial arts of architecture urbanism and film This spatial warping is now being reshaped by digitalization and virtual reality Anthony Vidler is concerned with two forms of warped space The first a psychological space is the repository of neuroses and phobias This space is not empty but full of disturbing forms including those of architecture and the city The second kind of warping is produced when artists break the boundaries of genre to depict space in new ways Vidler traces the emergence of a psychological idea of space from Pascal and Freud to the identification of agoraphobia and claustrophobia in the nineteenth century to twentieth century theories of spatial alienation and estrangement in the writings of Georg Simmel Siegfried Kracauer and Walter Benjamin Focusing on current conditions of displacement and placelessness he examines ways in which contemporary artists and architects have produced new forms of spatial warping The discussion ranges from theorists such as Jacques Lacan and Gilles Deleuze to artists such as Vito Acconci Mike Kelley Martha Rosler and Rachel Whiteread Finally Vidler looks at the architectural experiments of Frank Gehry Coop Himmelblau Daniel Libeskind Greg Lynn Morphosis and Eric Owen Moss in the light of new digital techniques that while relying on traditional perspective have radically transformed the composition production and experience perhaps even the subject itself of architecture

Art Nouveau Charlotte Ashby, 2021-10-21 Art Nouveau presents a new overview of the international Art Nouveau movement Art Nouveau represented the search for a new style for a new age a sense that the conditions of modernity called for fundamentally new means of expression Art Nouveau emerged in a world transformed by industrialisation urbanisation and increasingly rapid means of transnational exchange bringing about new ways of living working and creating This book is structured around key themes for understanding the contexts behind Art Nouveau including new materials and technologies colonialism and imperialism the rise of the modern woman the rise of the professional designer and the role of the patron collector It also explores the new ideas that inspired Art Nouveau nature and the natural sciences world arts and world religions psychology and new visions for the modern self Ashby explores the movement through 41 case studies of artists and designers buildings interiors paintings graphic arts glass ceramics and jewellery drawn from a wide range of countries

Edward Prior Martin Godfrey Cook, 2015-08-31 Edward Schroder Prior designed the cathedral of the Arts and Crafts Movement St Andrew s Church Roker perfected the popular butterfly plan in his houses and published what is still the seminal work on medieval gothic art in England in 1900 Highly regarded by critics such as Ian Nairn Prior is sometimes considered to have narrowly missed out on a place in the architectural pantheon of his age alongside contemporaries such as Charles Voysey and William Lethaby The result of extensive archival and field research Edward Prior Arts and Crafts Architect sheds new light on Prior s architecture life and scholarship Extensively illustrated it showcases Prior s work in colour including many of his architectural drawings and photographs of most of his extant buildings Prior is the missing link of the Arts and Crafts Movement in both a theoretical and a practical sense as he was possibly the only practitioner who genuinely translated the artistic theories of Ruskin and Morris into architectural reality He went on to found the School of Architecture at the University of Cambridge in 1912 Extensively illustrated with 200 colour illustrations including many of his architectural drawings and photographs of most of his extant buildings
