Bernard Lovell Dudley Saward,1984 A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins,American Historical Association,Royal Historical Society (Great Britain),1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index A History of the University of Manchester, 1951-73 Brian Pullan,Michele Abendstern,2000 This history of the University of Manchester takes the story from the centenary of Owens College in 1951 to the introduction of the new Charter in 1973 It provides a frank and entertaining account of the University s attempts to meet the government s demands for the rapid expansion of higher education in the 1950s and 1960s looking at the University s ambitious building program controversial attempts to reform its constitution and its accommodation to students and younger academics questioning of hierarchical principles and paternalistic attitudes Distributed by Palgrave Pullan taught modern history at the University of Manchester from 1973 to 1998 c Book News Inc Laboratory Scientific Glassblowing: Advanced Techniques And Glassblowing's Place In History Paul Le Pinnet,2022-03-14 Related Title Laboratory Scientific Glassblowing A Practical Training Method This book pushes back the boundaries of Scientific Glassblowing emphasizing the possibilities of the material In addition to the author s own chapters he has invited Scientific Glassblowers from around the world to describe advanced glassblowing techniques in addition to the historical background of its development Churchill's American Arsenal Larrie D. Ferreiro,2022-09-14 Churchill s American Arsenal describes in depth how WWII became the War of Factories telling the heroic narratives of the Anglo American inventions and their inventors who helped decide the outcome of the conflict The Development of Radar Equipments for the Royal Navy, 1935-45 F.A. Kingsley,2016-07-27 This book presents authoritative accounts of the evolution development and application of Royal Naval radar from its inception in 1935 until the end of World War 2 The accounts are based on the individual authors contemporary experiences extensive archival research and discussions with surviving wartime colleagues An overview is presented of the pioneering work at HM Signal School later the Admiralty Signal Establishment followed by descriptions of the main programmes of radar development associated research and the problems of installation of the equipment in ships as well as its operation and maintenance at sea Tabulations of the characteristics and installations of all wartime Royal Naval radars are provided in the Appendices A Single Sky David P.D. Munns,2012-10-26 How radio astronomers challenged national borders disciplinary boundaries and the constraints of vision to create an international scientific community For more than three thousand years the science of astronomy depended on visible light In just the last sixty years radio technology has fundamentally altered how astronomers see the universe Combining the wartime innovation of radar and the established standards of traditional optical telescopes the radio telescope offered humanity a new vision of the universe In A Single Sky the historian David Munns explains how the idea of the radio telescope emerged from a new scientific community uniting the power of radio with the international aspirations of the discipline of astronomy The radio astronomers challenged Cold War era rivalries by forging a united scientific community looking at a single sky Munns tells the interconnecting stories of Australian British Dutch and American radio astronomers all seeking to learn how to see the universe by means of radio Jointly this international array of radio astronomers built a new community style of science opposing the glamour of nuclear physics A Single Sky describes a communitarian style of science a culture of interdisciplinary and international integration and cooperation and counters the notion that recent science has been driven by competition Collaboration or what a prominent radio astronomer called a blending of radio invention and astronomical insight produced a science as revolutionary as Galileo s first observations with a telescope Working together the community of radio astronomers revealed the structure of the galaxy

Echoes of War Sir Bernard Lovell ,1991-01-01 August 1939 was a time of great flux The fear of impending war fueled by the aggression of Nazi Germany forced many changes Young people pursuing academic research were plunged into an entirely different kind of research and development For Bernard Lovell the war meant involvement in one of the most vital research projects of the war radar Echoes of War The Story of H2S Radar presents a passionate first hand account of the development of the Home Sweet Home H2S radar systems during World War II The book provides numerous personal insights into the scientific culture of wartime Britain and details the many personal sacrifices setbacks and eventual triumphs made by those actively involved Bernard Lovell began his work on airborne interception radar in Taffy Bowen s airborne radar group He was involved in the initial development of the application of the 10 centimeter cavity magnetron to airborne radar that revolutionized radar systems In the autumn of 1941 the failure of Bomber Command to locate its target over the cloudy skies of Europe prompted the formation of a new group to develop a blind bombing system Led by Lovell this group developed the H2S radar system to identify towns and other targets at night or during heavy cloud cover H2S first saw operational use with the Pathfinder Squadrons in the attack on Hamburg during the night of January 30 31 1943 Two months later modified H2S units installed in Coastal Command aircraft operating over the Bay of Biscay had a dramatic tactical effect on the air war against U boats The tide had begun to turn In this fascinating chronicle of the H2S radar project Sir Bernard Lovell recreates the feel and mood of the wartime years

Echoes of War Bernard Lovell,1991-01-01 This book presents a passionate first hand account of the development of the Home Sweet Home H2S radar systems during World War II It provides numerous personal insights into the scientific culture of wartime Britain and details the many personal sacrifices setbacks and eventual triumphs made by those actively involved Sir Bernard Lovell led the group that developed the H2S radar system to identify towns and other targets at night or during heavy cloud cover H2S was successful during the attack on Hamburg in January 1943 as well as the air war against U boats in the Bay of Biscay

To See the Unseen Andrew J. Butrica,1996 A comprehensive illuminating history of this little understood but surprisingly significant scientific activity Quite rigorous systematic in its methodology the book explores the development of the radar astronomy specialty in the larger community of scientists More than just discussing the development of this field however the author uses planetary radar astronomy as a vehicle for understanding larger issues relative to the planning execution of big science by the Fed government Sources interviews technical essay abbreviations index

Science and Spectacle John Agar,2014-02-04 Science and Spectacle relates the construction of the telescope to the politics and culture of post war Britain From radar and atomic weapons to the Festival of Britain and later Harold Wilson s rhetoric of scientific revolution science formed a cultural resource from which post war careers and a national identity could be built The Jodrell Bank Radio Telescope was once a symbol of British science and a much needed prestigious project for the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research but it also raised questions regarding the proper role of universities as sites for scientific research
