Some Letters of Saint Bernard Saint Bernard of Clairvaux, Aeterna Press, This selection of S Bernard's letters has been made in the hope that it may find its way into the hands of many to whom the volumes of the greater collection are unknown or are for one reason or another inaccessible The letters of great and good men give us information about them which can be derived from no other source As the eyes are to the other bodily senses says the editor of S Augustine's correspondence so are the letters of illustrious men in numberless ways more wonderful than all their other works In them as in the mirror of the human eyes appear the personal qualities passions virtues and vices of the individual Just as no one can better show himself to the life than in his letters so nowhere can he be better known than in them This is true of the letters of every saint as well as of every man of affairs and the peculiar value and charm of such collections of letters is almost universally acknowledged Aeterna Press
