Defining Moments Robert L. Brown, 2010-11-01 Defining Moments explores how all Arkansas governors since Sid McMath a group that has produced a president two U S senators and two presidential contenders acted in times of crisis These ten exceptional leaders stand out in Arkansas history and politics for having had their personal and political mettle tested by issues concerning education the environment social justice the conduct of politics race and more of the nation s defining debates The governors and situations covered include Sid McMath s bout with the Dixiecrats Francis Cherry s ploy to label his opponent a Communist Orval Faubus s decision to block integration at Little Rock Central High Winthrop Rockefeller s tribute to Martin Luther King Jr on the State Capitol steps Dale Bumpers s battle against political corruption David Pryor s veto of the U S Corps of Engineers s Bell Folley Dam Frank White s endorsement of Creationism Bill Clinton s decision to test public school teachers Jim Guy Tucker s bold solution for the Medicaid program and his resignation and Mike Huckabee s quest to consolidate the state s high school districts Robert Brown who knew nine of the ten governors personally and worked as an aide for Dale Bumpers and Jim Guy Tucker tells these stories with an unusual combination of historical research and personal familiarity He crystallizes the difficult choices faced by these memorable leaders showing how their decisions at crucial points shaped their tenures molded their legacies for good or bad and shaped history

The Army Lawyer, 1988 With All Deliberate Speed Brian J. Daugherty, Charles C. Bolton, 2011-05 This is the first effort to provide a broad assessment of how well the Brown v Board of Education decision that declared an end to segregated schools in the United States was implemented Written by a distinguished group of historians the twelve essays in this collection examine how African Americans and their supporters in twelve states Arkansas

North Carolina Virginia South Carolina Georgia Mississippi Florida Delaware Missouri Indiana Nevada and Wisconsin dealt with the Court's mandate to desegregate with all deliberate speed. The process followed many diverse paths. Some of the common themes in these efforts were the importance of black activism, especially the crucial role played by the NAACP, entrenched white opposition to school integration which wasn't just a southern state issue as is shown in Delaware, Wisconsin and Indiana, and the role of the federal government, a sometimes inconstant and sometimes reluctant source of support for implementing Brown.

Booster Shots Adam Ratner, MD, MPH, 2025-02-11 A pediatrician and infectious disease specialist warns of the resurgence of measles, the antivaccine movement, and how we can prepare for the next pandemic. Every single child diagnosed with measles represents a system failure, an inexcusable, unforced error. The technology to prevent essentially 100 percent of measles cases has been in our hands since before the moon landing. But this serious airborne disease, once seemingly defeated, is resurgent around the globe. Why, at a time when biomedical science is so advanced, do parents turn away from vaccination, endangering their own children and the health of the wider population? Using a combination of patient narrative, historical analysis, and scientific research, Dr. Adam Ratner, pediatrician and infectious disease specialist, argues that the reawakening of measles and the subsequent coronavirus pandemic are bellwethers of forgotten knowledge, indicators of decaying trust in science, and an underfunded public health infrastructure. Our collective amnesia is starkly revealed in the growth of the antivaccine movement and the missteps in our responses to the beginning of the coronavirus outbreak, leading to preventable tragedies in both cases. Trust in medicine and public health is at a nadir. Declining vaccine confidence threatens a global reemergence of other vaccine-preventable diseases in the coming years. Ratner details how solving these problems requires the use of literal and figurative booster shots to gather new knowledge and retain the crucial lessons of the past. Learning and remembering these lessons is our best hope for preparing for the next pandemic. With attention and care, and the tools we already have, we can make the world much safer for children tomorrow than it is today.

The Good Lawyer Douglas O. Linder, Nancy Levit, 2014 Every lawyer wants to be a good lawyer. They want to do right by their clients, contribute to the professional community, become good colleagues, interact effectively with people of all persuasions, and choose the right cases. All of these skills and behaviors are important, but they spring from hard-to-identify foundational qualities necessary for good lawyering. After focusing for three years on getting high grades and sharpening analytical skills, far too many lawyers leave law school without a real sense of what it takes to be a good lawyer. In The Good Lawyer, Douglas O. Linder and Nancy Levit combine evidence from the latest social science research with numerous engaging accounts of top-notch attorneys at work to explain just what makes a good lawyer. They outline and analyze several crucial qualities: courage, empathy, integrity, diligence, realism, a strong sense of justice, clarity of purpose, and an ability to transcend emotionalism. Many qualities require apportionment in the right measure, and achieving the right balance is difficult. Lawyers need to know when to empathize and also when to detach; courage without an appreciation of consequences becomes recklessness; working too hard leads to exhaustion and mistakes And what do you do in tricky situations where the urge to deceive is high How can you maintain focus through a mind taxing or mind numbing project Every lawyer faces these problems at some point but if properly recognized and approached they can be overcome It s not easy being good but this engaging guide will serve as a handbook for any lawyer trying not only to figure out how to become a better and almost always more fulfilled lawyer
