The Custody of Children Richard A. Marafiotte,2012-12-06 Separation and divorce have become an inevitable factor in American society Even those of us who have not experienced these events directly have been touched by them through association with parents friends neighbors or co workers Frequently we have observed these individuals express a variety of negative emotions including insecurity anxiety depression fear and anger If children are involved their parents decisions and often dysfunctional maneuvers in this matter will most likely have a profound affect on them One such decision will be with whom they will live Although the great majority of children will live with their mothers following a divorce this arrangement is no longer accepted as inevitable Changes such as an ever increasing number of mothers with full time out of home employment and research supporting the significance and competence of fathers in child rearing have led many observers to challenge the assumption of maternal superiority These changes as well as those related to the law and child custody for example the increased acceptability of a joint custody arrangement have complicated the process of deciding where a child should live after his or her parents divorce Consequently others are frequently called upon to assist in the decision making and render an opinion concerning custody and visitation By and large these individuals will be members of the mental health profession
