Classical And Modern Thought On International Relations From Anarchy To Cosmopolis:

Classical and Modern Thought on International Relations R. Jackson, 2005-04-01 In the tradition of the English School of International Relations theory this project from Robert Jackson seeks to show how continuities in international politics outweigh the changes. The author demonstrates how the world is neither one of anarchy as put forward by realists nor is it a fully cosmopolitan order as argued by those on the other side of the theoretical spectrum. Instead it is a world of states who acknowledge a set of moral constraints that exists between them.

Political Thought and International Relations Duncan Bell, 2010-12-02 Political realism dominated the field of International Relations during the Cold War. Since then however its fortunes have been mixed, pushed onto the backfoot during the 1990s it has in recent years returned to the centre of scholarly debate. Despite its prominence in International Relations however realism plays only a marginal role in contemporary international political theory. It is often associated with a form of crude realpolitik that ignores the ethical dimensions of political life. The contributors to this book explore alternative understandings of realism seeing it as a diverse and complex mode of political and ethical theorising rather than simply a value neutral social scientific theory or the unreflective defence of the national interest. A number of the chapters offer critical interpretations of key figures in the canon of twentieth century realism including Hans Morgenthau, E. H. Carr and Reinhold Niebuhr. Others seek to widen the lens through which realism is usually viewed exploring the writings of Martin Heidegger, Hannah Arendt and Leo Strauss. Finally a number of the contributors engage with general issues in international political theory including the meaning and value of pessimism, the relationship between power and ethics, the purpose of normative political theory and what might constitute political reality. Straddling International Relations and political theory this book makes a significant contribution to both fields.

British International Thinkers from Hobbes to Namier I. Hall, 2009-12-07 This book will be the first to examine the variety of British international thought, its continuities and innovations. The editors combine new essays on familiar thinkers such as Thomas Hobbes and John Locke with important but neglected writers and publicists such as Travers Twiss, James Bryce and Lowes Dickinson.

The Australian School of International Relations J. Cotton, 2013-07-10 This book offers the first comprehensive account of the emergence of the IR discipline in Australia. Initially influenced by British ideas the first generation of Australian international relations practitioners demonstrated in their work a strong awareness of the unique local conditions to which their theorizing should respond.

Foundations of Modern International Thought David Armitage, 2013 This insightful and wide ranging volume traces the genesis of international intellectual thought connecting international and global history with intellectual history.

Politics Without Sovereignty Christopher Bickerton, Philip Cunliffe, Alexander Gourevitch, 2006-12-01 Written by leading scholars this volume challenges the recent trend in international relations scholarship, the common antipathy to sovereignty. The classical doctrine of sovereignty is widely seen as totalitarian, producing external aggression and internal repression. Political leaders and opinion makers throughout the world claim that the sovereign state is a barrier to efficient global governance and the protection of human rights Two central claims are advanced in this book First that the sovereign state is being undermined not by the pressures of globalization but by a diminished sense of political possibility Second it demonstrates that those who deny the relevance of sovereignty have failed to offer superior alternatives to the sovereign state Sovereignty remains the best institution to establish clear lines of political authority and accountability preserving the idea that people shape collectively their own destiny The authors claim that this positive idea of sovereignty as self determination remains integral to politics both at the domestic and international levels Politics Without Sovereignty will be of great interest to students and scholars of political science international relations security studies international law development and European studies John Stuart Mill:

Thought and Influence Georgios Varouxakis, Paul Kelly, 2010-02-25 This book combines an assessment of the philosophical legacy of Mill s arguments with an assessment of Mill s complex and fecund version of liberalism and his account of the relationship between character and ethical and political commitment Multidisciplinary Representations of Home and Sustainable History and Human Dignity Nayef R.F. Al-Rodhan, 2022-01-27 Sustainable History and the Dignity of Man is a new philosophy of history This volume outlines how sustainable history is propelled by good governance which balances the tension between the attributes of human nature emotionality amorality and egoisms and human dignity needs such as reason security human rights accountability transparency justice opportunity innovation and inclusiveness The author proposes minimum criteria for good governance that are sensitive to local cultures and histories but meet certain common global values to ensure maximum and sustainable moral and political cooperation Using an ocean model of a single collective human civilisation the author argues that we should think in terms of a common human story that is comprised of multiple geo cultural domains and sub cultures with a history of mutual borrowing and synergies The author argues that today all geo cultural domains must succeed if humanity as a whole is to triumph This collective triumph will also depend on reason and a recognition that a great deal of knowledge is indeterminate and may be temporally spatially and perhaps culturally constrained as is outlined in the author's new theory of knowledge Neuro rational Physicalism Dr Nayef R F Al Rodhan is Senior Scholar in Geostrategy and Director of the Programme on the Geopolitical Implications of Globalisation and Transnational Security at the Geneva Centre for Security Policy Geneva Switzerland This book is an exceptionally wide ranging examination of past and present approaches to the securing of a qualitatively adequate social life on the planet The need for intercultural dialogue is pressing and stated as a matter of urgency in the text That argument is well presented and it is helpfully accompanied by a large amount of empirical evidence The book is also a strong and ethically attractive humanist statement about the value of human interaction that incorporates a vision of mutual respect based on a mixture of scientific arguments and normative aspirations Those features are very impressive Professor Michael Freeden Professor of Politics Director of the Centre for Political Ideologies Professorial Fellow Mansfield College University of Oxford United Kingdom

Contender States and Modern Chinese International Thought Ferran Perez Mena, 2024-05-17 This book contends that the development of modern Chinese international thought has been profoundly shaped by the distinctive nature of the Chinese state as a contender state and its global positioning since 1912 The argument posited demonstrates that notwithstanding the varied perspectives on the international held by Chinese intellectuals throughout the 20th century there exist commonalities across the periods analyzed in this book In essence the book emphasizes that the shared elements influencing the production of modern Chinese international thought do not derive from a unified cultural Chinese identity but rather stem from China's evolving geopolitical position in the modern world

Internal Security and Statebuilding B. K. Greener,W. J. Fish,2014-11-27 This book examines international efforts to provide security in post conflict sites and explains why internal security should be given precedence in statebuilding endeavours The work begins by exploring the evolution of security sectors in mature liberal democratic states before examining the attempts of such states to accelerate that evolutionary process in post conflict sites through statebuilding and security sector reform These discussions suggest interestingly different answers to the question of who should provide for internal security in international operations When considering mature states there are both practical and normative reasons as to why internal security has become the sole domain of police with military forces being excluded from internal affairs In peace and stability operations on the other hand difficulties with utilising police personnel have led to military forces being required to play internal security roles This tension is investigated further through detailed case studies of three recent missions Afghanistan Timor Leste and Solomon Islands These case studies both reinforce and augment the practical and normative reasons for ensuring that internal security remains the domain of police This then impacts upon peace and stability operations in two important ways If we are to provide enduring security in post conflict sites we should both i prioritise internal security agencies in security sector reform efforts and ii prioritise ways of enabling police to play internal security roles in the contributing mission This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding peace and conflict studies military studies police studies historical sociology security studies and IR in general

The Highest of All Mountains Samuel K. Sarpiya, 2021-03-18 This book is for people who believe that the gospel is a message of peace and this gospel of peace is relevant for our time Peacemaking is a core part of our Christian discipleship just as we learn how to pray just as we learn how to love our neighbors just as we learn how to feed the hungry We can also learn how to be peacemakers Sarpiya believes that peacemaking is central to the Christian faith and practice This book will serve as a guide that will offer a scriptural guide with practical stories and applications Readers will be challenged by Scripture to take the call to peacemaking into their communities The fact that numerous peace treaties have collapsed serves to show how difficult it is to transcend cycles of violence and foster a sustained durable peace The one place that one could look to for answers about how to move toward peace is within faith communities and sometimes not just one faith acting alone but working alongside other faiths in concert with other faiths taking an interreligious approach The Highest of All Mountains shows how Sarpiya's Christian peacemaking backed by the interreligious approach brings the monotheistic faiths together as they all agreed on one denominator to their faith's origin Abraham
