Classical Rhetorics and Rhetoricians Michelle Ballif, Michael G. Moran, 2005-03-30 Alphabetically arranged entries on roughly 60 leading rhetoricians of antiquity detail their lives and writings and cite works for further reading The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies Andrea A. Lunsford, Kirt H. Wilson, Rosa A. Eberly, 2009 The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies surveys the latest advances in rhetorical scholarship synthesizing theories and practices across major areas of study in the field and pointing the way for future studies Edited by Andrea A Lunsford and Associate Editors Kirt H Wilson and Rosa A Eberly the Handbook aims to introduce a new generation of students to rhetorical study and provide a deeply informed and ready resource for scholars currently working in the field The Rhetoric of Sensibility in

Eighteenth-Century Culture Paul Goring, 2004-12-23 The Rhetoric of Sensibility in Eighteenth Century Culture explores the burgeoning eighteenth century fascination with the human body as an eloquent expressive object This wide ranging study examines the role of the body within a number of cultural arenas particularly oratory the theatre and the novel and charts the efforts of projectors and reformers who sought to exploit the textual potential of the body for the public assertion of modern politeness Paul Goring shows how diverse writers and performers including David Garrick James Fordyce Samuel Richardson Sarah Fielding and Laurence Sterne were involved in the construction of new ideals of physical eloquence bourgeois sentimental ideals which stood in contrast to more patrician classical bodily modes Through innovative readings of fiction and contemporary manuals on acting and public speaking Goring reveals the ways in which the human body was treated as an instrument for the display of sensibility and polite values The Oxford Handbook of Rhetorical Studies Michael

John MacDonald, 2017 Featuring roughly sixty specially commissioned essays by an international cast of leading rhetoric experts from North America Europe and Great Britain the Handbook will offer readers a comprehensive topical and historical survey of the theory and practice of rhetoric from ancient Greece and Rome through the Middle Ages and Enlightenment up to the present day Twentieth-Century Rhetorics and Rhetoricians Michael G. Moran, Michelle Ballif, 2000-08-30 Rhetoric and rhetorical theory have been gaining in prominence throughout the 20th century As leaders in all fields give careful attention to issues in communication rhetoric becomes increasingly central to a range of disciplines Many of these leaders have shaped rhetorical theory through their work in other fields and rhetoric becomes more and more difficult to define and delimit This reference is a guide to major trends and developments in rhetoric and rhetorical theory during the last 100 years Included are alphabetically arranged entries for major and minor rhetoricians such as Mikhail Bakhtin Roland Barthes Wayne Booth Paul de Man Jacques Derrida Peter Elbow and Linda Flower Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes a brief biography an analysis of the figure's rhetorical theory and a current bibliography of primary and secondary sources The figures included represent a range of rhetorical schools An extensive introduction discusses these schools and the volume concludes with extensive bibliographical material Rhetoric in Tooth and Claw Debra Hawhee, 2016-11-21 We tend to think of rhetoric as a solely human art After all only humans can use language artfully to make a point the very definition of rhetoric Yet when you look at ancient and early modern treatises on rhetoric what you find is surprising they re crawling with animals With Rhetoric in Tooth and Claw Debra Hawhee explores this unexpected aspect of early thinking about rhetoric going on from there to examine the enduring presence of nonhuman animals in rhetorical theory and education In doing so she not only offers a counter history of rhetoric but also brings rhetorical studies into dialogue with animal studies one of the most vibrant areas of interest in humanities today By removing humanity and human reason from the center of our study of argument Hawhee frees up space to study and emphasize other crucial components of communication like energy bodies and sensation Drawing on thinkers from Aristotle to Erasmus Rhetoric in Tooth and Claw tells a new story of the discipline s history and development one animated by the energy force liveliness and diversity of our relationships with our partners in feeling other animals

Colometric Analysis of Paul's Letters Priscille Marschall,2024-03-13 Priscille Marschall explores some stylistic aspects of Paul s letters in particular their oral oriented logic of structuration employing Chapters 10 13 of Second Corinthians as a case study The method of analysis draws upon the rhetorical treatises of the Greco Roman world

The House of My Sojourn Jane S. Sutton,2010-11-30 Envisions the relationship between women and rhetoric as a house a structure erected in ancient Greece by men that historically has made room for women but has also denied them the authority and agency to speak from within

Style Brian Ray,2014-11-01 Style An Introduction to History Theory Research and Pedagogy conducts an in depth investigation into the long and complex evolution of style in the study of rhetoric and writing The theories research methods and pedagogies covered here offer a conception of style as more than decoration or correctness views that are still prevalent in many college settings as well as in public discourse

The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric Lynée Lewis Gaillet,Winifred Bryan Horner,2010-03-15 Through two previous editions The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has not only introduced new scholars to interdisciplinary research but also become a standard research tool in a number of fields and pointed the way toward future study Adopting research methodologies of revision and recovery this latest edition includes all new material while still following the format of the original and is constructed around bibliographical surveys of both primary and secondary works addressing the Classical Medieval Renaissance and eighteenth through twentieth century periods within the history of rhetoric The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric doesn t simply update but rather recasts study in the history of rhetoric The authors experienced and well known scholars in their respective fields redefine existing strands of rhetorical study within the periods expand the scope of rhetorical engagement and include additional figures and their works The globalization and expansion of rhetoric are demonstrated in each of these parts and seen clearly in the inclusion of more female rhetors discussions of historical and contemporary electronic resources and examinations of rhetorical practices falling outside the academy and the traditional canon New to this edition is a cumulative review of twentieth century rhetoric along with a thematic index designed to facilitate interdisciplinary or specialized study and scholarly research across the traditional historical periods As programs incorporating rhetorical studies continue to expand at the university level students and researchers are in need of up to date bibliographical resources No other work matches the scope and approach of The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric which carries scholarship on rhetoric into the twenty first century

Managing Emotion in Byzantium Margaret Mullett, Susan Ashbrook

Harvey, 2022-09-30 Byzantinists entered the study of emotion with Henry Maguire's ground breaking article on sorrow published in 1977 Since then classicists and western medievalists have developed new ways of understanding how emotional communities work and where the ancients concepts of emotion differ from our own and Byzantinists have begun to consider emotions other than sorrow It is time to look at what is distinctive about Byzantine emotion This volume is the first to look at the constellation of Byzantine emotions Originating at an international colloquium at Dumbarton Oaks these papers address issues such as power gender rhetoric or asceticism in Byzantine society through the lens of a single emotion or cluster of emotions Contributors focus not only on the construction of emotions with respect to perception and cognition but also explore how emotions were communicated and exchanged across broad multi linguistic political and social boundaries Priorities are twofold to arrive at an understanding of what the Byzantines thought of as emotions and to comprehend how theory shaped their appraisal of reality Managing Emotion in Byzantium will appeal to researchers and students alike interested in Byzantine perceptions of emotion Byzantine Culture and medieval perceptions of emotion

Architects of Memory Nathan R. Johnson, 2020-05-26 Probes the development of information management after World War II and its consequences for public memory and human agency We are now living in the richest age of public memory From museums and memorials to the vast digital infrastructure of the internet access to the past is only a click away Even so the methods and technologies created by scientists espionage agencies and information management coders and programmers have drastically delimited the ways that communities across the globe remember and forget our wealth of retrievable knowledge In Architects of Memory Information and Rhetoric in a Networked Archival Age Nathan R Johnson charts turning points where concepts of memory became durable in new computational technologies and modern memory infrastructures took hold. He works through both familiar and esoteric memory technologies from the card catalog to the book cart to Zetocoding and keyword indexing as he delineates histories of librarianship and information science and provides a working vocabulary for understanding rhetoric's role in contemporary memory practices. This volume draws upon the twin concepts of memory infrastructure and mnemonic techné to illuminate the seemingly opaque wall of mundane algorithmic techniques that determine what is worth remembering and what should be forgotten. Each chapter highlights a conflict in the development of twentieth-century librarianship and its rapidly evolving competitor, the discipline of information science. As these two disciplines progressed, they contributed practical techniques and technologies for making sense of explosive scientific advancement in the wake of World War II. Taming postwar science became part and parcel of practices and information technologies that undergird uncountable modern communication systems including search engines, algorithms, and databases for nearly every national clearinghouse of the twenty-first century.

The Enlightenment of Joseph Priestley Robert E. Schofield, 1997-01-01 Joseph Priestley 1733-1804 is one of the major figures of the English Enlightenment. A contemporary and friend of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, he exceeded even these polymaths in the breadth of his curiosity and learning. Yet no one has attempted an all-inclusive biography of Priestley, probably because he was simply too many persons for anyone easily to comprehend in a single study. Robert Schofield has devoted a lifetime of scholarship to this task. The result is a magisterial book covering the life and works of Priestley during the critical first forty years of his life. Although Priestley is best known as a chemist, this book is considerably more than a study in the history of science. As any good biographer must, Schofield has thoroughly studied the many activities in which Priestley was engaged. Among them are theology, electricity, chemistry, politics, English grammar, rhetoric, and educational philosophy. Schofield situates Priestley, the provincial dissenter, within the social, political, and intellectual contexts of his day and examines all the works Priestley wrote and published during this period. Schofield singles out the first forty years of Priestley's life because these were the years of preparation and trial during which Priestley qualified for the achievements that were to make him famous. The discovery of oxygen, the defenses of Unitarianism, and the political liberalism that characterize the mature Priestley all are foreshadowed in the young Priestley. A brief epilogue looks ahead to the next thirty years when Priestley was forced out of England and settled in Pennsylvania, the subject of Schofield's next book. But this volume stands alone as the definitive study of the making of Joseph Priestley.

Vico and the Transformation of Rhetoric in Early Modern Europe David L. Marshall, 2010-03-31 This book examines the entirety of Giambattista Vico's oeuvre and demonstrates his significance as a theorist who adapted the discipline of rhetoric to modern conditions.

Ancient Rhetorics for Contemporary Students Sharon Crowley, Debra Hawhee, 2009 Revives the classical strategies of ancient Greek and Roman rhetoricians and adapts them to the needs of contemporary writers and speakers.

Imitation, Knowledge, and the Task of Christology in Maximus the Confessor Luke Steven, 2021-01-01 Maximus the Confessor's combative historical era committed doctrinal reflection and loud and influential voice took him on a turbulent career of traveling and writing around the Mediterranean. Maximus was a spiritual teacher, an ascetic and a contemplative, but he was also a polemicist, a crafter of dogma, an embattled Christologist, a premeditating rhetorician. In this study, Luke Steven binds together these two disparate sides of the man and his writings by showing that throughout his oeuvre, the Confessor positions imitation as the key to knowledge. This lasting epistemology characterizes his earlier ascetic and spiritual works, and in his later works, it prominently defines his dogmatic Christological method, that is, the means by which he communicates and persuades and brings people to understand and encounter Jesus Christ, the one with two natures, divine and human. This multifaceted study offers a deep assessment of Maximus's forebears, new insight on the animating assumptions of his thought, and an unprecedented focus on the rhetoric and method of his Christological writings.
