Contemporary Reconfigurations of American Literary Classics Betina Entzminger, 2013 The number and popularity of novels that have overtly reconfigured aspects of classic American texts suggests a curious trend for both readers and writers an impulse to retell and reread books that have come to define American culture This book argues that by revising canonical American literature contemporary American writers are re writing an American myth of origins creating one that corresponds to the contemporary writer's understanding of self and society Informed by cognitive psychology evolutionary literary criticism and poststructuralism Entzminger reads texts by canonical authors Poe Hawthorne Melville Alcott Twain Chopin and Faulkner and by the contemporary writers that respond to them In highlighting the construction and cognitive function of narrative in their own and in their antecedent texts contemporary writers highlight the fact that such use of narrative is universal and essential to human beings This book suggests that by revising the classic texts that compose our cultural narrative contemporary writers mirror the way human individuals consistently revisit and refigure the past through language via self narration in order to manage and understand experience French Art: Classic and Contemporary

Painting and Sculpture William Crary Brownell, 1900-01-01 More than that of any other modern people French art is a national expression It epitomizes very definitely the national sthetic judgment and feeling and if its manifestations are even more varied than are elsewhere to be met with they share a certain character that is very salient Of almost any French picture or statue of any modern epoch one's first thought is that it is French The national quite overshadows the personal quality In the field of the fine arts as in nearly every other in which the French genius shows itself the results are evident of an intellectual co operation which insures the development of a common standard and tends to subordinate idiosyncrasy The fine arts as well as every other department of mental activity reveal the effect of that social instinct which is so much more powerful in France than it is anywhere else or has ever been elsewhere except possibly in the case of the Athenian republic Add to this influence that of the intellectual as distinguished from the sensuous instinct and one has I think the key to this salient characteristic of French art which strikes one so sharply and always as so plainly French As one walks through the French rooms at the Louvre through the galleries of the Luxembourg through the unending rooms of the Salon he is impressed by the splendid competence everywhere displayed the high standard of culture universally attested by the overwhelming evidence that France stands at the head of the modern world sthetically but not less I think does one feel the absence of imagination opportunity of spirituality of poetry in a word The French themselves feel something of this At the great Exposition of 1889 no pictures were so much admired by them as the English in which appeared even to an excessive degree just the qualities in which French art is lacking and which less than those of any other school showed traces of the now all but universal influence of French art The most distinct and durable impression left by any exhibition of French pictures is that the French sthetic genius is at once admirably artistic and extremely little poetic The Blackwell Companion to Major Contemporary Social Theorists George Ritzer,2008-04-15 The Blackwell Companion to Major Contemporary Social Theorists is a survey of contemporary social theory that focuses on the thinkers themselves In original essays especially commissioned for this volume leading experts and practitioners examine the life and work of 13 major theorists such as Elias Baudrillard Giddens and Butler Includes 13 original essays by leading scholars on major contemporary social theorists Covers key figures such as Elias Goffman Foucault Habermas Giddens Bourdieu and Butler Essays include biographical sketches the social and intellectual context and the impact of the thinker s work on social theory generally Includes bibliographies of the theorist s most important works as well as key secondary works Can be used in conjunction with The Blackwell Companion to Major Classical Social Theorists edited by George Ritzer for a complete reference source in social theory Literary Explorations: An Inclusive Journey Through Classic and Contemporary Works Pasquale De Marco,2025-05-19 Embark on a literary journey like no other with Literary Explorations An Inclusive Journey Through Classic and Contemporary Works Immerse yourself in the captivating world of literature where words ignite imagination and transport you to realms beyond your wildest dreams This comprehensive guide to literature takes you on an exploration of classic and contemporary masterpieces revealing the enduring power of storytelling and its profound impact on our lives Delve into the depths of diverse genres from the timeless tales of classic literature to the innovative expressions of contemporary writing Discover the nuances of poetry the drama of theater the immersive worlds of fiction and the introspective reflections of essays and memoirs With Literary Explorations you ll uncover the secrets of storytelling unraveling the power of symbolism imagery foreshadowing and other devices that bring stories to life Learn to appreciate the artistry of language the beauty of figurative expressions and the significance of tone and mood in shaping the reader s experience More than just a collection of stories literature is a mirror reflecting society capturing the essence of human nature and the complexities of the human condition Through the lens of literary works gain insights into your own life your relationships and your place in the universe Confront universal themes of love loss hope and despair finding solace and inspiration in the shared experiences of humanity Literary Explorations is an invitation to embark on a transformative journey where you ll challenge assumptions examine biases and develop a deeper understanding of yourself and the world around you Cultivate empathy and compassion as you traverse the landscapes of literary masterpieces encountering iconic characters thought provoking themes and intricate plots that will stay with you long after you finish reading Join us on this literary odyssey and discover the transformative power of words Literary Explorations is your guide to unlocking the secrets of storytelling appreciating the beauty of language and embarking on a journey of self discovery through the world of literature If you like this book write a review on google books Studies on Contemporary Chinese Philosophy (1949-2009)

Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Pastoral Tradition Donna L. Potts, 2012-01-01 In Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Pastoral Tradition Donna L Potts closely examines the pastoral genre in the work of six Irish poets writing today Through the exploration of the poets and their works she reveals the wide range of purposes that pastoral has served in both Northern Ireland and the Republic a postcolonial critique of British imperialism a response to modernity industrialization and globalization a way of uncovering political and social repercussions of gendered representations of Ireland and more recently a means for conveying environmentalism s more complex understanding of the value of nature Potts traces the pastoral back to its origins in the work of Theocritus of Syracuse in the third century and plots its evolution due to cultural changes While all pastoral poems share certain generic traits Potts makes clear that pastorals are shaped by social and historical contexts and Irish pastorals in particular were influenced by Ireland s unique relationship with the land language and industrialization due to England s colonization For her discussion Potts has chosen six poets who have written significant collections of pastoral poetry and whose work is in dialogue with both the pastoral tradition and other contemporary pastoral poets Three poets are men John Montague Seamus Heaney Michael Longley while three are women Eavan Boland Medbh McGuckian Nuala N Dhomhnaill Five are English language authors while the sixth N Dhomhnaill writes in Irish Additionally some of the poets hail from the Republic while others originate from Northern Ireland Potts contends that while both Irish Republic and Northern Irish poets respond to a shared history of British colonization in their pastorals the 1921 partition of the country caused the pastoral tradition to evolve differently on either side of the border primarily because of the North s more rapid industrialization its more heavily Protestant population whose response to environmentalism was somewhat different than that of the Republic s predominantly Catholic population as well the greater impact of the world wars and the Irish Troubles In an important distinction from other studies of Irish poetry Potts moves beyond the influence of history and politics on contemporary Irish pastoral poetry to consider the relatively recent influence of ecology Contemporary Irish poets often rely on the motif of the pastoral retreat to highlight various environmental threats to those retreats whether they be high rises motorways global warming or acid rain Potts concludes by speculating on the future of pastoral in contemporary Irish poetry through her examination of more recent poets including Moya Cannon and Paula Meehan as well as other genres such as film drama and fiction
