As A Tale That Is Told The Autobiography:

Autobiographies of Others Lucia Boldrini, 2012-08-21 In this volume Boldrini examines heterobiography the first person fictional account of a historic life Boldrini shows that this mode is widely employed to reflect critically on the historical and philosophical understanding of the human on individual identity and on the power relationships that define the subject In such texts the grammatical first person becomes the site of an encounter a stage where the relationships between historical fictional and authorial subjectivities are played out and explored in the double I of author and narrating historical character of fictional narrator and historical person Boldrini considers the ethical implications of assuming another's first person voice and the fraught issue of authorial responsibility Constructions of the body are examined in relation to the material evidence of the subject's existence Texts studied include Malouf's An Imaginary Life Carey's True History of the Kelly Gang Ondaatje's The Collected Works of Billy the Kid Adair's The Death of the Author Banti's Artemisia Viquez Montalbán's Autobiografía del general Franco Also discussed among others Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian Tabucchi's The Last Three Days of Fernando Pessoa Giménez Bartlett's Una habitación ajena A Room of Someone Else's The Future of Southern Letters Jefferson Humphries, John W. Lowe, John Lowe, 1996-08-08 The New South replete with shopping malls hub airports educated African Americans and immigrants from Vietnam Cambodia and Haiti is still haunted by the Gothic ghosts of its past Does the collision between past and present account for the continued preeminence of Southern writers in America's literary culture Bobbie Ann Mason Ernest Gaines Rita Mae Brown Robert Olen Butler Cormac McCarthy Dorothy Allison and Allan Gurganus are just a few of the writers who draw on a new kind of Southern background while reaching out to a broad American readership Yet many of these writers have been accused of catering to the stereotypes they think a national audience requires It would seem that questions of Southern identity continue to be bound up with rage against attacks on Southern culture Jefferson Humphries and John Lowe have assembled a remarkable team of scholars and writers to examine aspects of the contemporary literature of the South From Pulitzer Prize winning writer Fred Hobson to esteemed scholar James Olney to poets Kate Daniels and Brenda Marie Osbey the contributors try to define Southern culture today and ask who will be writing Southern literature tomorrow Addressing topics such as humor the past black autobiography ethnicity and female oral traditions the essays form a volume that is of interest to readers of Southern literature and history creative writers and scholars and students of Southern culture Persons, Things, and What Not Saikat Guha, Feminism & Autobiography Tess Coslett, Celia Lury, Penny Summerfield, 2002-01-04 Featuring essays by leading feminist scholars from a variety of disciplines this key text explores the latest developments in autobiographical studies The collection is structured around the inter linked concepts of genre inter subjectivity and memory Whilst exemplifying the very different levels of autobiographical activity going on in feminist studies the contributions chart a movement from autobiography as genre to autobiography as cultural practice and from the analysis of autobiographical texts to a preoccupation with autobiography as method The

Hester Lynch Piozzi, 1861

An Autobiography and Other Writings

Anthony Trollope, 2014 This classic study of the working life of a professional writer is one of the best and also one of the strangest autobiographies ever written

After a miserable childhood and misspent youth Trollope turned his life around at the age of twenty-six

By 1860 the hobbledehoy had become both a senior civil servant and a best-selling novelist

He worked for the Post Office for many years and stood unsuccessfully for Parliament

Best known for the two series of novels grouped loosely around the clerical and political professions, the Barsetshire and Palliser series, in his Autobiography Trollope frankly describes his writing habits

His apparent preoccupation with contracts, deadlines, and earnings, and his account of the remorseless regularity with which he produced his daily quota of words, has divided opinion ever since

As the Introduction to this edition shows, Trollope selected and exaggerated to create his compelling narrative of initial failure and eventual success, and the inspiration that fuelled his creative imagination has too easily been overlooked

The only autobiography by a major Victorian novelist, Trollope's record offers a fascinating insight into his literary life and opinions

This edition also includes a selection of his critical writings to show how subtle and complex his approach to literature really was
