predominantly West German literature of the past four decades There are two aims of this work one is to illustrate how literature can be an appropriate tool for geographic research the second is to draw attention to the exceptional political geographic and existential situation of the city of West Berlin I will present some of the psycho social mentalities connected to living in West Berlin and expose diverse impressions and creative human responses to the living conditions in that city with its unique circumstances My inquiries center around certain aspects of the human experience I plan to delineate literary examples of these concepts and show how literature is able to illuminate certain experiential factors concerning the sense of place To sense can have several meanings First it can refer to the function and action of the sensory organs Then it may imply a more intuitive usage as in do I sense hostility When outside of common rules or understanding sense becomes nonsense or one is out of one's senses A sense of place is something that goes beyond these usages it is an impression which is influenced by the sensory organs but takes its shape in the mind It is sensing with the help of the imagination thereby actively involving experience environment and emotions This study does not try to conclude with a nomothetic theory or make a definite statement that can be proved or disproved with statistical or empirical data Rather it sets out to show that a sense of a place as reflected in creative writing is not only art but also geography in practice I shall begin this paper with a review of literature about the combination of geography and literature This will be followed by a methodology section and a history section which briefly outlines the developments within Berlin that lead up to the Cold War the city's division and finally the dismantling of the wall Following this the main body of the work will present and discuss appropriate literary examples The literature passages comprise four chapters organized according to types of literary images I have approached the organization of these themes with the help of a geographical structure gradually moving from the outside of the city further inward until we reach deep emotions This is essentially an organizing framework that would tie the various images together Thus the first

The City and the Railway in the World from the Nineteenth Century to the Present Ralf

Roth, Paul Van Heesvelde, 2022-07-18 This volume explores the relationship between cities and railways over three centuries. Despite their nearly 200 year existence, The City and the Railway in the World shows that urban railways are still politically and historically important to the modern world. Since its inception, cities have played a significant role in the railway system; cities were among the main reasons for building such efficient but lavish and costly modes of transport for persons, goods, and information. They also influenced the technological appearance of railways as these have had to meet particular demands for transport in urban areas. In 25 essays, this volume demonstrates that the relationship between the city and the railway is one of the most publicly debated themes in the context of daily lives in growing urban settings as well as in the second urbanisation of the global South with migration from rural to urban landscapes. The volume's broad geographical range includes discussions of railway networks, railway stations, and urban rails in countries such as India, Japan, England, Belgium, Romania, Nigeria, the USA, and Mexico. The City and the Railway in the World will be a useful tool for scholars interested in the history of transport, travel, and urban change.

Arthur Schnitzler 1862-1931 and Hermann Bahr 1863-1934, two of the leading literary personalities in turn of the century Vienna, maintained a friendship that lasted forty years. These letters contribute to an understanding of the life times and writings of both of these important authors and provide another perspective on the Jung Wien group. This edition also includes Daviau's valuable annotations to the text as well as brief biographies of figures mentioned in the letters. The introduction includes useful summaries of related texts not available for publication at the time.
