E-Research in Educational Contexts Jocelyn Wishart, Michael Thomas, 2018-10-03. This book explores the impact of e research in education and the opportunities presented by a new generation of research approaches and tools. E research is an umbrella term that encompasses all digital research methods used for data collection and analysis including those involving handheld mobile devices. This is a current concern as the emergence of online tools that enable people to collaborate, create and share information has led to the widespread use of these new digital research methods. Indeed, new tools and technologies are emerging almost daily and are being taken up by researchers for their ease of data collection and analysis. As a result, the book investigates the implications of how we conceptualise educational research in the digital age. In addressing a range of key themes from the ethics of e research to the relationships between researchers and participants, the book presents original studies from a variety of educational contexts where digital tools are being used and should be of value to postgraduate students, academic researchers and policy makers. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Research Method in Education.

Teaching and learning strategies for effective work inside the classroom Hany Gaid, 2018-07-05. Essay from the year 2017 in the subject Didactics. Common Didactics Educational Objectives Methods grade University of South Wales language English abstract. Barbara et al state that learning is for all, all the educational elements for young learners, teachers and even for parents. As the best and effective learning is based on collaboration with young learners, teachers and parents to learn in a typical community of learners, so the effective learning can be achieved by the collaboration with all stakeholders' engagement. From this point, the stakeholders' engagement becomes the philosophy of the educational settings and this creates effective discussions about the educational aspects of the curriculum development and the way by which can be offered. Hence we can find that young learners, teachers and parents have been in joint learning process. Therefore the effective learning is related directly to the relation between learners, teachers and parents as well.
