Reynolds, D. Bradbery, J. Brown, K. Carroll, D. Donnelly, K. Ferguson-Patrick, S. Macqueen, 2015-02-27 This volume addresses the need for an international perspective on global education and provides alternate voices to the theme of global education The editors asked international educators in different contexts to indicate how their own experience of global education addresses the broad and contested concepts associated with this notion Following the lead of the internationally acknowledged authors from North America Europe Africa Australia and Asia perspectives were provided on a wide variety of contexts including tertiary education and teacher education various pedagogies for global education including digital pedagogies and curriculum development at school tertiary and community levels Contesting and Constructing International Perspectives in Global Education explores the tensions inherent in discussions of global education from a number of facets including spatial pedagogical temporal social and cultural and provides critical descriptive and values laden interpretations The book is divided into five sections Temporal and Spatial Views of Global Education Telling National Stories of Global Education Empowering Citizens for Global Education Deconstructing Global Education and Transforming Curricula for Global Education It is envisaged as a starting point for a stronger international conception of global education and a way to build a conversation for the future of global education in a neo liberal and less internationally confident time      Re-visioning Historical Fiction for Young Readers Kim Wilson, 2011-06-15 This study is concerned with how readers are positioned to interpret the past in historical fiction for children and young adults Looking at literature published within the last thirty to forty years Wilson identifies and explores a prevalent trend for re-visioning and rewriting the past according to modern social and political ideological assumptions Fiction within this genre while concerned with the past at the level of content is additionally concerned with present views of that historical past because of the future to which it is moving Specific areas of discussion include the identification of a new sub-genre Living history fiction stories of Joan of Arc historical fiction featuring agentic females the very popular Scholastic Press historical journal series fictions of war and historical fiction featuring multicultural discourses Wilson observes specific traits in historical fiction written for children most notably how the notion of positive progress into the future is nuanced differently in this literature in which the concept of progress from the past is inextricably linked to the protagonist's potential for agency and the realization of subjectivity The genre consistently manifests a concern with identity construction that in turn informs and influences how a metanarrative of positive progress is played out This book engages in a discussion of the functionality of the past within the genre and offers an interpretative frame for the sifting out of the present from the past in historical fiction for young readers     The Little Refugee Anh Do, Suzanne Do, 2011-11-01 Anh Do s inspirational story about his family s incredible escape from war torn Vietnam and his childhood in Australia told especially for children
