Classifying By Race:

Racial and ethnic classifications used by public schools , Racial and Ethnic Classifications Used in U.S. Public Schools ,1998 Racializing Class, Classifying Race P. Alexander,R. Halpern,1999-12-14 The ten essays in this book explore the intersection of race and class in the study of labour on three continents Leading scholars examine the way in which working class identities took shape and changed over time in a variety of settings from the sea ports of southern Africa to the copper mining region of the American Southwest Classifying Applicants for Fair Lending Analyses Jason Lynn Dietrich,2009

Race and Intelligence Jefferson M. Fish,2013-05-13 In recent years reported racial disparities in IQ scores have been the subject of raging debates in the behavioral and social sciences and education What can be made of these test results in the context of current scientific knowledge about human evolution and cognition Unfortunately discussion of these issues has tended to generate more heat than light Now the distinguished authors of this book offer powerful new illumination Representing a range of disciplines psychology anthropology biology economics history philosophy sociology and statistics the authors review the concept of race and then the concept of intelligence Presenting a wide range of findings they put the experience of the United States so frequently the only focus of attention in global perspective They also show that the human species has no races in the biological sense though cultures have a variety of folk concepts of race that there is no single form of intelligence and that formal education helps individuals to develop a variety of cognitive abilities Race and Intelligence offers the most comprehensive and definitive response thus far to claims of innate differences in intelligence among races The Race Illusion Adam Hochman,2025-05-29 In The Race Illusion Adam Hochman argues that there are no human races only racialized groups groups mistakenly believed to be races He meticulously critiques all of the major defenses of the view that races exist beginning with biological accounts While there is some human biological diversity it is not distributed in a way that would justify racial classification Hochman shows how modern attempts to revive race as a biological category either trivialize the category or change the topic entirely Many now believe race to be a social construct a phrase Hochman criticizes for its ambiguity The idea of race is a social invention racial classification is determined by social factors and racism is a social phenomenon However that does not mean that race itself is social Hochman argues that for social races to exist they would need to be definable in terms of social properties yet scholars have been unable to identify the social properties that plausibly make a group a race After examining ten biological and seven social accounts of race Hochman develops and defends the view in The Race Illusion that there are no races only racialized groups He argues that rejecting race as a category of analysis and replacing it with racialized group is not only the most theoretically sound approach but also the one best suited to fighting racism The Palgrave International Handbook of Mixed Racial and Ethnic Classification Zarine L. Rocha,Peter J. Aspinall,2020-01-03 This handbook provides a global study of the classification of mixed race and ethnicity at the state level bringing together a diverse range of country case studies from around the world

The classification of race and ethnicity by the state is a common way to organize and make sense of populations in many countries from the national census and birth and death records to identity cards and household surveys As populations have grown diversified and become increasingly transnational and mobile single and mutually exclusive categories struggle to adequately capture the complexity of identities and heritages in multicultural societies State motivations for classification vary widely and have shifted over time ranging from subjugation and exclusion to remediation and addressing inequalities The chapters in this handbook illustrate how differing histories and contemporary realities have led states to count and classify mixedness in different ways for different reasons This collection will serve as a key reference point on the international classification of mixed race and ethnicity for students and scholars across sociology ethnic and racial studies and public policy as well as policy makers and practitioners

Intersectionality and "Race" in Education Kalwant Bhopal, John Preston, 2012-01-25 Education is a controversial subject in which difficult and contested discourses are the norm Individuals in education experience multiple inequalities and have diverse identifications that cannot necessarily be captured by one theoretical perspective alone This edited collection draws on empirical and theoretical research to examine the intersections of race gender and class alongside other aspects of personhood within education Contributors from the fields of education and sociology seek to locate the dimensions of difference and identity within recent theoretical discourses such as Critical Race Theory Judith Butler and queer theory post structural approaches and multicultural models as they analyze whiteness and the education experience of minority ethnic groups By combining a mix of intellectually rigorous accessible and controversial chapters this book presents a distinctive and engaging voice one that seeks to broaden the understanding of education research beyond the confines of the education sphere into an arena of sociological and cultural discourse The Nature of Race Ann Morning, 2011-06-24 What do Americans think race means What determines one's race appearance ancestry genes or culture How do education government and business influence our views on race To unravel these complex questions Ann Morning takes a close look at how scientists are influencing ideas about race through teaching and textbooks Drawing from in depth interviews with biologists anthropologists and undergraduates Morning explores different conceptions of race finding for example that while many sociologists now assume that race is a social invention or construct anthropologists and biologists are far from such a consensus She discusses powerful new genetic accounts of race and considers how corporations and the government use scientific research for example in designing DNA ancestry tests or census questionnaires in ways that often reinforce the idea that race is biologically determined Widening the debate about race beyond the pages of scholarly journals The Nature of Race dissects competing definitions in straightforward language to reveal the logic and assumptions underpinning today's claims about human difference
