by the early twentieth century Germany's economic expansion and position as a world power began to fracture and growing internal economic social and political contradictions led it with disastrous results into the First World War and the subsequent Weimar Republic Hitler and the Nazi movement proposed a revolution and the creation of a German style and the Second World War Holocaust is arguably the defining event of the twentieth century The Americanization of the German economy and society the economic miracle and euphoria of reunification have in recent years rapidly given way to disillusionment as the major political parties have failed to master outstanding social and environmental problems The German question Germany's place within the European Union continues to be unanswered even within an EU where it is the dominant economic power A Companion to the Works of Alfred Döblin Roberta L.
