D. Bergsgaard,2012-05 It s true what many say Time and age have a way of rounding off the edges and making jagged pieces of the past seem clear and smooth and bright But for those of us growing up in the small prairie town of Mandan North Dakota in the 1950s those truly were times when every day was an adventure every neighbor was a story and everyone belonged somewhere because we were all connected and trusted others to know that Young Moose knows it s going to be an unusual year when his new teacher looks like a goat and is even ornerier a neighborhood posse is hot on the trail of a felon and the ancient ghosts are dancing in the light of a full moon His days are full of trials including the cancelling of Christmas tittering on the brink of flunking a grade and losing his position as catcher on the baseball team It s also a time of runaway horses and bucking pigs a quest for the truth of the birds and the bees and of taking a giant step towards manhood Come follow Moose and his friends an Indian Shaman a Gypsy King and a mystical boy named Mickey as they travel through the adventures Page 4 of cover Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary United States. and predictable life the Tucker household balance is upset And Ian Finch s curious and continued involvement in Sonny s life creates a new and troubling set of hurdles for Paul to overcome Somehow though his father has been saved he continues to slip through Paul s fingers Secrets lies and changing alliances threaten Paul s relationship with his father and his mother and his understanding of what holds a family and a town together The Broken Places is a brilliant meditation on the psychology of heroism the definition of family and the true meaning of honor With pitch perfect dialogue subtle but stunning insights and a dazzling ability to uncork the quiet power of each character Susan Perabo s The Broken Places uncovers and celebrates the unsettling truths of human nature

The Wrong Answer Faster Michael Goodkin,2012-01-18 The fascinating story behind the machines that trade trillions of dollars every day A Bildungsroman one jacket blurb calls this book and sure it s a traditional coming of age tale But the story itself is anything but conventional The pleasures of the book lie in the story of their bumpy path to success Canadian Business In 1968 Michael Goodkin is about to graduate from Columbia University While his classmates interview for jobs he daydreams of seeing the world as a man of independent means Noticing that there are no computers on Wall Street and drawing on his experiences as a failed teenage investor and successful gambler he has an epiphany since no one knows the right price for anything the only way to beat the market is to make a computer that comes up with the wrong answer faster than the professionals And thus begins a journey that takes this provincial Midwesterner from nearly broke to opulent Park Avenue The Wrong Answer Faster is the story of unintended consequences how a technique originally created to minimize market risk spiraled into a multi trillion dollar game with unparalleled risks Having founded and sold a firm that changed the world Goodkin left New York to travel and play backgammon only to return to found another groundbreaking firm Numerix a software company that substituted computational physics for econometrics to better manage derivative risk The story of the computerization of Wall Street by the man at the helm Packed with keen insights based almost entirely on poker backgammon and game theory Goodkin s unique insight to the markets is that everyone has the wrong answers The solution is not to try to beat the market but to come up with the wrong answers faster The epic tale of the untold story how one man with a great idea decided not to play the market but to revolutionize the financial world for generations to come by creating the most ground breaking tool for market players since the ticker tape

Brabazon,2016-02-17 Looking at schools and universities it is difficult to pinpoint when education teaching and learning started to haemorrhage purpose aspiration and function Libraries and librarians have been starved of funding Teachers cram their curriculum with skill development and generic competencies because knowledge creativity and originality are too expensive to provide to unmotivated students and parents obsessed with league tables not learning Meanwhile the internet offers a glut of information on everything under the sun a mere mouse click away Bored surfers fill their cursors and minds with irrelevancies We lose the capacity to sift discard and judge Information is no longer for social good but for sale Tara Brabazon argues that this information fetish has been profoundly damaging to our learning institutions and to the ambitions of our students and educators In The University of Google she projects a defiant and passionate vision of education as a pathway to renewal where research is based on searching and students are on a journey through knowledge rather than consumers in the shopping centre of cheap ideas Angry humorous and practical in equal measure The University of Google is based on real teaching experience and on years of engaged and sometimes exasperated reflection on it It is far from a luddite critique of the information age Tara Brabazon celebrates the possibilities of digital platforms in education but deplores the consequences of placing funding on technology and not teachers In doing so she opens a new debate on how to make our educational system both productive and provocative in the post information age
