Failed Imagination? Andrew J. Williams,1998 Francisco Gomez de Sandoval Duke of Lerma 1553 1625 is the last major unknown statesman in modern European history Patrick Williams brings him dramatically to life and challenges the assumptions that historians have made about him and about Spanish history at a time of profound crisis inviting a re evaluation of the phenomenon of government by favourites in this seminal period of European history Lerma served Philip III as his favourite and first minister between 1598 and 1618 His power dazzled contemporaries one petitioner telling Philip that he had come to see him because I could not get an appointment with the Duke of Lerma Within a decade of assuming office Lerma had raised his family from humiliating poverty to great riches and was the greatest patron of the arts in Europe His use of power provoked intense debate about the nature of corruption in government Yet Lerma remained deeply ambivalent about his position Determined to follow family tradition and retire into religious life to secure the salvation of his soul he secured a cardinalate in 1617 ending his life as a prince of the Church

Watchdogs of Empire Reuben Garner,1970 Philosemitism W. Rubinstein,1999-06-23 This fascinating book has two aims The first is to draw attention to the existence of a persisting and virtually unrecognised tradition of philosemitism which manifested itself in Britain and elsewhere in the English speaking world during every significant international outbreak of antisemitism during the century after 1840 The second is to offer a typology of philosemitism distinguishing between varieties of support for the Jewish people

Failed Imagination? Andrew Williams,2013-01-18 The main purpose of this book is to explain how mainly American but also British and other Western policy makers have planned and largely managed to create an international order in their own image the so called New World Order It shows how this seismic shift in international relations has developed through the major global wars of the twentieth and twenty first centuries It uses a wide variety of historical archival material to give the background to the current and historical American obsession with creating the world order one that both reflects the American national interest but also can be said to have established the major security economic organisational and normative pillars of our epoch In addition it provides excellent background reading for the current debate about American foreign policy and the origins of neo conservatism in international relations This edition updates a very successful first edition of the title with additional material to take into account changes in the global order since 2001 and the beginning of the War on Terror

Between September 1955 and November 1957 Russell published some sixty-one articles, reviews, statements, contributions to books and letters, over fifty of which are contained in this volume. The texts, several of them hitherto unpublished, reveal the deepening of Russell's commitment to the anti-nuclear struggle upon which he embarked in the previous volume of Collected Papers. Man's Peril 1954-55, continuing with the theme of nuclear peril, this volume contains discussion of nuclear weapons, world peace, prospects for disarmament and British-Soviet friendship against the backdrop of the Cold War. One of the key papers in this volume is Russell's message to the inaugural conference of the Pugwash movement which Russell was instrumental in launching and which became an influential independent forum of East-West scientific cooperation and counsel on issues as an internationally agreed nuclear test ban. In addition to the issues of war and peace, Russell now in his eighties continued to take an interest in a wide variety of themes. Russell not only addresses older controversies over nationalism and empire, religious belief and American civil liberties, he also confronts head-on the new and pressing matters of armed intervention in Hungary and Suez and of the manufacture and testing of the British hydrogen bomb This volume includes seven interviews ranging from East West Relations after the Geneva conference to a Meeting with Russell Bertrand Russell's America Barry Feinberg, 1896
