Destination Image - Do Berlin's tourist authorities have to consider cultural segmentation when developing marketing strategies relating to the place's image in an era that refers to the global tourist? Wassim El Kadhi, 2008-10-13 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Destination image is considered as the key in attracting tourists This thesis purported to scrutinise whether Berlin's tourist authorities have to consider cultural segmentation when developing marketing strategies relating to the place's image As an exploratory study it examined Berlin's image among youths from Arab Islamic and Protestant European countries and confronted them In an era that is subjected to globalisation and refers to the global tourist it is vindicated to pose this question Various scholars are convinced that the world tourism market may be treated as a homogenous one due to globalisation However the literature also provides some opposing bearings and discusses them It further gives some background information on Berlin as a tourist destination addresses destination image concerning influential cultural factors and the implications of globalisation on consumer behaviour Finally it studies the Arab Islamic and Protestant European youth cultures in the light of globalisation and possible modifying effects In response to the objectives of this study primary research was conducted It involved both quantitative and qualitative data collection methods Field and online surveys enabled the researcher to collect 239 completed questionnaires 103 Arab Islamic and 136 Protestant European youths Besides semi structured interviews and focus group discussions were carried out at EF Language School Bournemouth Following the completion of the survey obtained data was entered into SPSS Frequencies and means were calculated for each variable and several ANOVA tests and cross tabulations conducted in order to stress destination image's specificity in terms of cultural background Research findings revealed significant differences between the groups regarding their perception of Berlin Arab Islamic youths had a more negative stance towards Berlin than their counterparts Not only did divergences occur between the groups but also within the groups Thus destination image is culture specific and may also vary across countries sharing similar cultural backgrounds Overall despite the effects of globalisation cultural market segmentation still remains a vital element for a tourist place such as Berlin where the image management is concerned The thesis provides recommendations for Berlin congruent with the outcomes and concludes with the provision of recommendations for further

Buruma, 2022-06-06 This overdue investigation of George Grosz's 1893-1959 most compelling paintings, drawings, prints, and collages offers a reassessment of the celebrated German Expressionist during his years in Berlin from his earliest artistic endeavors to the trenchant satirical images and searing depictions of moral decay between the World Wars for which he is known today. Menacing street scenes, rowdy cabarets, corrupt politicians, wounded soldiers, greedy war profiteers, and other symbols of Berlin's interwar decline all met with the artist's relentless gaze which exposed the core social issues that eventually led to Germany's extreme nationalist politics. Featuring masterpieces as well as rarely published works, this book provides further insight into the artist's creative pinnacle reached during this critical and ominous period in German history.

Cross-Cultural Destination Image Assessment: Cultural Segmentation Versus the Global Tourist Wassim El Kadhi, 2009-03 Various scholars consider destination image a vital part in tourism marketing as the key in attracting tourists. It is often regarded as the most important element in a destination's management and may induce success or failure. Within this research project, destination image is being assessed in cross-cultural terms. It scrutinises the extent to which destination image is culture specific. In other words, does a destination's image vary across people from different cultural backgrounds? This question evolves and is vindicated in an era that is subjected to globalisation and increasingly refers to the global tourist. Many academics are convinced that the world tourism market may be treated as a homogenous one due to globalisation. However, the literature also provides some opposing bearings and discusses them. Hence, the author of this book intended to investigate this issue in more depth in order to find a probable answer to the contradicting sources by conducting an exploratory study of Arab, Islamic, and Protestant European youth's pre-visitation image on Berlin. In response to the objectives of this study, primary research was carried out. It involved both quantitative and qualitative data collection methods. Field and online surveys enabled the researcher to collect 239 completed questionnaires. Besides semi-structured interviews and focus group discussions, were carried out. Obtained data was entered into SPSS and frequencies and means were calculated and several ANOVA tests and cross-tabulations conducted in order to stress destination image's specificity in terms of cultural background. This book further gives information on Berlin as a tourist destination, addresses destination image concerning influential cultural factors and the implications of globalisation on consumer behaviour. Finally, it studies the Arab, Islamic, and Protestant European youth cultures in the light of globalisation and potential modifying effects. It also provides recommendations.
